Annual Field Days at Newton Playgrounds Start Next Week

Special Programs Are Scheduled for All Play Areas From Tuesday Through August 21

—o—

The annual field days of the Newton Recreation Department will begin Tuesday at various play areas throughout the city and will run through August 21, the department announced this week.

The Hawthorn Playground, Newton, will hold its field day Tuesday at 2 p.m. for children from its area and for children from the Horace Mann, Carr School, Victory Field, Stearns School, Boyd Park and Albemarle playgrounds.

On Wednesday at 2 p.m., a field day will be held at the Angier School playground, Waban. This will include children from the Richardson playground.

The Newton Centre playground will be headquarters for the field day of the Cold Spring, Newton Highlands, Thompsonville and Weeks Junior High School playgrounds next Thursday at 2 p.m.

The final field day of next week will be on Friday at 2 p.m. at the Franklin School, West Newton.

Separate field days are scheduled for the Upper Falls and Lower Falls playgrounds at 2 p.m. on Monday, August 18. The Upper Falls celebration will include the Emerson School area.

The first morning field day will be held Tuesday, August 19, at 10 a.m. at the Cabot playground. That afternoon at 2 p.m., field day events at the Auburndale playground will cover the Levi Warren, West Newton, Williams, Wellington and Eden avenue playgrounds.

The Memorial School, Oak Hill, playground will have its field day on Wednesday, August 20, at 10 a.m. That afternoon at 2 p.m. the River street, West Newton, play area will celebrate its day.

The concluding field day exercises are scheduled for Thursday, August 21, at 2 p.m. at Burr Park, Newton, when the annual Read Fund picnic will be held. The picnic will include children from Farlow Park.

In case of rain, the field days affected will be postponed to the following day. Other field days will be run as scheduled. Programs for the various playgrounds have been arranged by the leaders of the respective areas.

According to the program announced by Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson for the

Calls Dever Act A New Low in Government

Lee Blasts Governor for "Hiding Embarrassing Bills at the End"

—o—

State Senator Richard H. Lee (R) Newton, in a public statement, blasted the Dever administration with "hiding certain embarrassing bills at the close of the legislative session and sending the General Court home without permitting action on them."

He called the action a "new low in our state government" and claimed that "the Massachusetts keynoter who charges the Republicans know all about corruption, has himself perpetrated an outrage on the people of Massachusetts.

"This is done through the connivance of the Speaker of the House, who refused to put several bills before the House for action in the closing all-night session," Lee said.

"When the members were sufficiently weary and exhausted so that careful checking became difficult, it was proposed that the House inform the Governor that the Legislature had disposed of

Gas Station Hearing Set For Monday

—o—

A hearing on a petition for permission to conduct a gas station at the intersection of Chestnut and Boylston streets, Newton Upper Falls, is one of six hearings scheduled before Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

The petition, filed by Antonio Cifaldo, asks for a license to use land at the northeasterly corner of the intersection, at number 928, as the site of the station.

According to the petition, plans call for a pair of 2000 gallon steel gasoline tanks placed underground, a 1000 gallon underground steel tank for fuel oil, a 50 gallon steel tank for waste oil above ground, and cast iron drums above ground holding 108 gallons of alcohol. The petition also seeks a license "for the keeping and selling of 312 gallons of motor oil in quart tins and cast iron drums above ground, 100 pounds of lubricating grease in a cast iron drum above ground, and approximately 30 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of two automobiles accommodated by the proposed building."

City's First Polio Victim In Auburndale

—o—

Striking earlier than during Newton's worst year for polio, the first case of poliomyelitis in the city was reported last week to Dr. Ernest M. Morris, head of the Newton Health Department.

The first victim of the disease locally is a five-year-old Auburndale boy. According to Health Department reports, there were no cases in Newton by the end of July last year. During 1949, when Newton was hit the hardest by polio, there were also no cases reported by the end of July.

However, there were no indications that an epidemic of the disease was brewing since only 19 cases were reported in the entire state from July 1 through July 25. Last year, over a similar period, the number reported was 35.

So far this year 35 cases of polio have appeared in Massachusetts, less than half of the 74 reported last year through July 25.

Alderman Rich, Angevine Say City Should Keep Big Surplus

Stating that he did not wish "to cast implications of any nature upon this wonderful city in which we all choose to live," Atty. Paul S. Rich, alderman from Ward 7, amplified a statement he made last week terming Newton's tax rate as "false."

"It is my understanding," Atty. Rich said, "that there are but two types of tax rates; namely, a true rate or a false rate. Neither term indicates godliness or fraud."

He cited the town of Brookline as having a "true tax rate" while maintaining a large amount of surplus funds. Brookline was able to use $1,100,000 of the surplus to reduce the rate, Atty. Rich stated, holding the tax rate increase to $1.25 over the year before. Without the surplus, the rate would have risen $8.25.

ERNEST G. ANGEVINE

Last week, Atty. Rich took exception to the mayor's action in recommending the transfer of $350,000 from surplus to reduce the tax rate jump. Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood has defended the action as an ordinary and necessary step. The transfer was approved by the aldermen in June, but the action has since been ruled illegal.

Alderman Ernest G. Angevine, the oldest member of the Board of Aldermen in terms of service, agreed with the mayor that surplus should be used in an interview with the Graphic this week. However, he disagreed as to the extent that the surplus should be spent.

Record Enrollment at Newton YMCA's 3 Camping Programs

—o—

Enrolled in the three camping programs of the Newton Y.M.C.A. is a record breaking number of 410 boys from Newton and nearby communities. Total enrollment for the 1952 season will probably pass the 700 mark according to Hugh Harwood, chairman of the Y.M.C.A.'s public information committee.

Founded in 1916, Camp Frank A. Day, the residence camp, was first of the Newton Y.M.C.A.'s camping projects. The camp is located on the shores of Lake Quacumquassett at Brookfield. One hundred sixty-one boys are currently enrolled in the camp's second four-week period. The camp has been filled to over capacity all summer, the camp's 37th season.

Boys at Camp Day are divided into three units: midget, headed by John E. Danielson; junior, headed by Harold F. Fisher; and senior unit, with Edward Poskitt as leader. Frank M. Simmons is director of the camp. Department heads are Paul Wilber, trips; Vincent Marotto, sailing and music; and Reginald Smith, water-front. Mrs. Marcia Gillespie is the camp nurse.

First of the two day camps, Camp Massasoit was founded in 1944. Camp activities are held on the playfield and on the grounds of the Y.M.C.A. at 276 Church Street, in Newton. Richard B. Simmons is director of the camp, now in its ninth season. A total of 159 boys are enrolled in the camp's final three week period, which opened July 28.

Experiment Working Well To Date, Nurses Say; To Run Through Oct.

An experiment in liberalization of visiting hours at Newton-Wellesley Hospital seems to be proving successful, Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, director, reported today.

For a trial period extending from August through October, visiting hours for patients in private and semi-private rooms will be from noon to 8:30 p.m. and for ward patients from 2:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Visiting hours in the obstetrics division are still limited by state regulation, but they, too, have been liberalized as much as seems advisable. Three Newton Men Delegates to N. E. Banking Meeting

—o—

Three Newton residents are among a group of 34 delegates from the Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking who will leave tomorrow (Friday) for the New England Regional Conference of the American Institute of Banking, which will be held in New Haven, Conn., this weekend.

The local delegates are Ulmont S. Jones of 37 Ware road, Auburndale; Bennett R. Kennan of 52 Berwick road, Newton Centre, and Robert L. Clinton of 511 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls.

Mr. Jones is vice-president of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company and is also chief consul of the Boston Chapter, AIB. Mr. Keenan is with the New England Trust Company and Mr. Clinton is with the Newton National Bank.

Playoffs in Twi League Open Sun.

—o—

With 7-inning doubleheaders scheduled in each of the three leagues, the Newton Twi League playoffs will get under way Sunday.

The playoff semi-finals will be best of three affairs between the first and third and second and fourth teams in each of the three leagues. The contests in the finals will be on a best of five basis.

Whatever third games are necessary in the semi-finals will be played Monday and Tuesday, with the action continuing from the first to the second night until a full game is completed. The finals will start Thursday, and doubleheaders will be played in the finals on Sunday, August 17.

—o—

Two Newton teachers at Boston University's College of Liberal Arts were assigned to new positions at the school, with the change in assignments effective July 1, President Harold C. Case and Dean of the College Ralph W. Taylor announced this week.

Dr. George M. Sneath of 78 Plainfield street, Waban, chairman of the English Department for five years and a member of the College of Liberal Arts faculty for 30 years, voluntarily resigned his chairmanship and will hold a full-time teaching position with the status of professor.

Dr. Donald J. Winslow of 136 Woodland road, Auburndale, who was appointed to the faculty in September of 1936 and is currently an associate professor, will become acting chairman of the English Department for one year in addition to his teaching duties. He earned his Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts degrees at Tufts College and was awarded a Doctor of Philosophy degree at Boston University in 1942.

Watertown Couple Escape Death As Car Is Submerged

—o—

New Auto Plunges Through Reservoir Guard Rail at Chestnut Hill

—o—

A Watertown couple narrowly escaped drowning in the Chestnut Hill Reservoir Sunday afternoon when their car smashed through a guard rail on Reservoir road and plunged into the 15-foot deep water during a driving lesson.

Thomas W. Mullen, 54, of 29 Fuller road, a plumber, saved his wife, Dorothy, 49, from being trapped in the submerging car when he pushed her through a window as the vehicle sank. Both managed to swim 20 feet to safety on the shore.

Mr. Mullen was sitting on the bank, pulling off his shoes in preparation to go back and rescue his dog, a part collie and part English setter which had been crouched in the back seat, when Brownie suddenly shot to the surface and swam to safety.

The accident happened when Mr. Mullen was teaching his wife how to handle the automatic shift on their new car. Mrs. Mullen was making a turn on the roadway around the abandoned Horseshoe Bend section when her foot apparently "froze" to the accelerator and the car smashed through the five-foot railing and plunged down the stone-lined sloping into the water.

Newton police took the couple home after ambulances and prowl cars from Newton and Brighton were called to the scene. A crowd of several hundred spectators was on hand while police directed activities of a rowboat and a large wrecker in pulling the mired car from the water.

Hearings May Be Held Last Of This Month

—o—

Newton Licensing Board Expected to Decide on Permit in September

—o—

The Newton Licensing Board has received six applications for the all-liquor package goods license, which was declared available by an Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission decision, and a total of 20 application blanks were distributed by the board.

Hearings on the new applications will probably be held the last of this month, and the successful applicant is expected to be named in September. The selection of the local board is open to reversal by the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission, which has the power to overrule local boards after holding hearings on appeals by rejected applicants.

The license was made available by a recent ABC decision. Last year, the Newton board granted the license to a blinded Newton veteran, and the ABC ruled in favor of a company planning to locate at Newton Corner. Atty. Paul S. Rich, who represented the Newton veteran, appealed the decision to the courts but lost.

Injunctions against the issuance of the license were granted by the court during litigation, and when the case was finally concluded the Newton board noted that the application approved was for the previous year. This was called to the attention of the ABC, and the state board ruled that new applications must be made for the license.

Raytheon Unveils New Electronic Computing Device

—o—

Machine 'Worries', Checks Its Calculations for Errors Automatically

—o—

A new electronic computating machine—one that not only performs mathematical calculations at fantastic speeds but also "worries" about the accuracy of its solution — was unveiled this week by the Raytheon Manufacturing Company of Newton and Waltham.

Developed for the Office of Naval Research, the calculator is called RAYDAC, an abbreviation of "Raytheon Digital Automatic Computer." Following final tests, it will be shipped to Point Mugu, Calif., where it will be used to analyze performance data of experimental guided missiles.

A team of workers performing a calculation over a period of 20 to 30 days is normally required to analyze a single test flight by one of the guided missiles, a Raytheon spokesman stated. The computer will arrive at an answer, going through the same calculations, in a matter of minutes.

The $3,000,000 machine is said to "worry" about its results because of a built-in "check and double check" system which halts operations the moment an error creeps into the figuring. When an error is made, the entire process is halted and indicators show the operator just what the trouble is. Then the machine can back up and resume the calculations from a point before where the error was made.

The machine also "remembers" its computations on magnetic tapes until the figures are needed later in the process. The memory can hold as many as 2,800,000 digits or 700,000 alphabetical characters, the same number of characters that appear in an average novel.

Mayor Declares Surplus Funds "Property of the Taxpayers"

Says Charge of "False Tax Rate" Made Last Week Is "Grossly Unfair to the City"

—o—

In a direct answer to a statement by Atty. Paul S. Rich that Newton's use of surplus funds in the past had resulted in a "false tax rate," Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood declared Friday that the implications of the statement were "grossly unfitted to this city in all ways."

Mayor Lockwood outlined the use of surplus funds and presented his own list of reasons for the $7.40 increase in Newton's tax rate. He stated that the city's surplus "stands in strong condition" and predicted it would be "largely increased by sundry receipts by the end of the year."

The mayor said the surplus "is the property of the taxpayers of the city." He promised that "when the surplus again reaches a large total, it will again be properly employed for the reduction of taxes."

The main item affecting the tax increase, Mayor Lockwood said, was the maintenance and construction of schools. He pointed out that 650 were graduated from high school this year, but 1400—more than double the graduates—will enter kindergarten in September.

"The overall explanation of the rise in the tax rate also is related to the increase of 24 percent in population in Newton since 1935, compared to an average increase of 2 percent in other cities," Mayor Lockwood declared. "Translated into services, which were paid for with [illegible] cent dollars compared to the 1939 basis of 100 cents, anyone should wonder how the city operated with such a reasonable increase."

Atty. Rich, alderman from Ward 7, declared in his statement that the city's use of a large surplus sums "each year since 1945, to maintain a tax rate which I have considered a false tax rate, has led to a situation where the inevitable has

Kefauver of Brookline Seeks Herter's Congressional Seat

Charles C. Kefauver, well-known business man who has entered the contest for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 10th district, spoke before several groups here this week outlining his program and his ideas on the type of man he believes would best represent the people and the Republican party. Mr. Kefauver is a cousin of Senator Estes Kefauver, recent Democratic aspirant.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Kefauver stated:

"I am not a politician, nor an orator, nor a man of wealth. I know nothing of 'back-room' politics. I am just an average small business man who would like to see more business men and fewer professional politicians in our government. I believe in more business in government, and less government in business. I am for a liberal Republican party, a party of and for all the people. I am for rigid governmental economy, to permit of lower taxes; a stronger foreign policy; a Crime Commission for Massachusetts.

"I am against corrupt political machines; the 'handout state,' bribing the people with their own tax money; governmental socialism; waste, extravagance and graft; demagoguery; blind partisanship; arraying class against class, or appeals to prejudice. I do not believe in voting for or against a man because of his racial origin or religion. While everyone professes this belief, many do not practice it—in both parties.

"I would like to see more good Americans of Irish, Jewish, Italian and other races in the Republican party, and more Yankees in the Democratic party, voting their beliefs and principles instead of their prejudices. This is why I want to see both parties broadened, and why I am offering my own candidacy. I have definite convictions, as opposed to mere chronic office-seekers, and I believe the people will support me in the primary.

"I want the top men of the Republican party to remain there. They are the highest grade people obtainable. I have always voted for them, and shall continue to do so. But, I want them to move over a little and make room for others. My opponent is a good man. He would doubtlessly make a good Congressman—as I would try to do. He is an experienced politician. I am not. He has been hand-picked by the machine. I am independent, running alone and without professional backing. If enough voters who agree with my principles will take the trouble to go to the polls on Tuesday, September 16, we may succeed in broadening the party. If not, if they stay at home, the machine regulars will turn out as usual—with the usual results.

"A good indication of the reaction of our beneficent Brahmins to my well-intentioned, constructive suggestions will be in their attitude toward my program. If they violently oppose me, it will show that the leaders still wish to retain their tight control and dictate the party nominations. They have frequently expressed a desire to widen party representation. Their attitude toward my candidacy will measure their sincerity. I hope for their support!"

inally was granted the license was one of six returning applications. The firm which was awarded the license by the ABC was not among those filing.

Those seeking the license must advertise their applications in a newspaper within 10 days after returning their applications to the Newton Licensing Board. The board is required to act on the license within 30 days after the applications are filed.

Applications have been received so far from the following:

Kenneth J. Merrill, Jr., 18 Gail road, Newton Lower Falls, blinded veteran, who was awarded the license by the Newton Board last October, for 1 Jackson street, Newton Centre.

Conrad J. Larosse, 6 Jassett street, Newton, and his son, Oscar, 222 California street, Newton for the Victory Market, 232 California street.

Martin J. Lally, 38 Kensington street, Newtonville, for the Town Line Market, 69-71 Waltham street, West Newton.

for group work. Tribe leaders are Ralph Morse, David Potts, Alden W. Read, Robert W. Read, Francis A. Tanner, Raymond Buell, Edwin Bengtson, and Mr. Simmons. Elinor "Bucky" Babbitt is the popular crafts leader. Edwin Bengtson is the camp swimming instructor with Robert Stefanik as assistant.

Opened in 1946, Camp Chickami is the second of the Newton Y.M.C.A.'s day camping operations. Eugene R. Clark, Jr. is the camp director. Boys at this camp are also enrolled in groups, with a leader-counselor for effective work. Chickami leaders are Allan Hampe, woodlore; Carl Sulzen, crafts; Donald Robinson, nature study, Arthur Postman and Nils Parma, aquatics; James Miller, athletics; Steve Buchanan, junior counselor; and John Gracey, camp aide.

A chief interest at Camp Chickami is the nature study program conducted by Donald Robinson, who is specifically prepared by training and experience to lead this interest group. All of the 90 boys currently enrolled, are exposed to the beauties and wonders of the natural world around them on the wooded banks of the Charles at Riverside, where the camp is located.

In the nature study room and wild life "museum" in the Metropolitan District Commission building used by the camp will be found collections of turtles, various perch, horned pout, other small fish from the Charles, rabbits, hamsters and snakes. Leaf moulds made by the boys adorn the walls and material to help boys properly identify birds, beetles, butterflies and the trees of the area.

The Newton Y.M.C.A. is a charter member agency of the Newton Community Chest and a member organization of the Newton Community Council. Frederick S. Bacon is president and Alex R. Miller is general secretary. Chairman of the various camp committees are Fred A. Hawkins, Camp Frank A. Day; Galen A. Bloom, Camp Massasoit and John F. Crosby, Camp Chickami.

Expect 18,000 to Work in Red Feather Residential Division

Six of the 12 Newton sections who will participate in the 1953 Red Feather campaign this fall have already enrolled 10 per cent of their captains. These sections are Auburndale, Newton Centre, Lower Falls, Oak Hill, Upper Falls and Waban. Of the 163 captains required in the Residential Division in the campaign, 116 have been signed up.

Largel responsible for this fine showing is David Berkman, residential chairman, who has been energetically working with his section chairmen to complete their organization through captains before the end of the summer months. The top organization which includes twelve section chairmen, 57 assistant chairmen and majors was completed in June, and indications are that the Residential Division will have for the Red Feather campaign one of the strongest organizations it has had in many years.

Peter F. Conlon, chairman in Newton Centre will be assisted by Mrs. Louis H. Klebenov, Charles F. Bryson, and Henry G. Schafer, as assistant chairmen; Mrs. Edward E. Goldman, Mrs. David Berkman, George W. Stiglich, Aaron Lippman, Robert J. Breen and Arthur M. Pearson as majors, and Edward Greenfield, Mrs. Spencer E. Levin, Mrs. Jay Gilfix, Morton D. Weiner, Mrs. John H. Hanks, Mrs. Peggy Sloan, Mrs. Charles M. Goldman, James A. Caffrey, Mrs. Walter C. Tong, Mrs. Henry P. Olken, Mrs. Lewis Pogano, Mrs. Irene Goldberg, Donald O. Holland, Raymond Lipman, Leslie A. Pike, Mrs. Richard C. Burrowes, Mrs. Eldon R. Johnson, Harold D. Leach, Dr. William A. Neissner, Harry C. Gibson, Harold A. White, Robert Pearson, Mrs. William H. McCabe, and John McCartin as captains.

Harvey White, chairman for Oak Hill will have as his aides Kenneth A. Wright and Franklin N. Flaschner as assistant chairmen; David B. Rost, Arthur M. Stewart Jr., Richard L. Myerson and Edward P. Anderson as majors, and Ralph A. Nutter, C. Russell Mason, Norman S. Leader, Carl Carlson, Marc E. Carrigan, Mrs. Margaret Ludwig, Morton Canter, Mrs. Clare Knight, Mrs. Robert M. Bent, Mrs. David Kadetsky, Norman Gold, Irving Tuttle, Richard A. Keating, Mrs. Edward P. Anderson, Robert Rier and Sydney E. Knight as captains.

William A. Medlicott, Auburndale chairman will have assisting him, Frederic D. Tower as assistant chairman; William J. Conners Jr., J. Wendell Yeo, Gordon K. Boucher, and Harry V. Anderson as majors, and Frank L. Cunningham, Thomas E. Crosby, Robert F. Lally, Harold H. Inman, Richard S. Tobin, John A. Shaw, Ernest C. Clark Jr., Hubert S. McDonald, S. Page Cotton, Mrs. Francis W. Kent, Lee Dana Goodman, Mrs. Frank C. Wedekind, and Paul Deats as captains.

Berel A. Arnold, chairman for Waban has a strong organization headed by Raymond W. Blaisdell as assistant chairman; Edward A. Green, Robert L. Hirschfield, and Dr. Frank L. Springer as majors, and John H. Underhill Jr., G. Gale Harper Jr., Dr. Earl B. Colvin, Louis J. Klein Jr., Edwin Hawkridge, John E. Parker Jr., Augustus Catoldi, James O'R. Coleman, Frank Tarisi, and James M. Voss as captains.

Daniel J. Brady, Upper Falls chairman will be assisted by J. Elwood Hart as assistant chairman and John J. Cady, Vincent T. Gamble, Mrs. David C. Batey, Robert W. Watson, Mrs. J. Elwood Hart, and Sigmun Roman as captains. Robert A. Moore, Lower Falls chairman has the following captains working with him: Donald R. Lee, Harry E. Thompson and John R. Power.

Residential chairman Berkman expects to have a total of 1800 Newton citizens in his organization before the campaign gets under way the latter part of October. Of this number between 1500 and 1600 will be solicitors and they will have assigned to them approximately 20,000 prospects upon whom they will call.

Last year the Red Feather campaign in Newton raised $302,585. While the goal has not been set for the 1953 campaign it is expected that with increasing costs and many unmet needs, the goal will be substantially above this figure.

Mr. Angevine said he liked to see "a substantial surplus" although he approved the practice of using it to keep the rate down. "You can only use your surplus once," he said, "and then it is gone."

"Unexpected expenses are always coming up that are not provided for in departmental budgets," Atty. Angevine said. As an example, he pointed out the sudden and unexpected expense to the city caused by the passing of the law requiring hand or automatic signals for all cars.

He said he regarded Newton's tax as an "honest tax rate," and termed the surplus "a revolving fund." "But there is a limit," he declared, "below which the surplus should not be expended. I agree that the use of the surplus to reduce the rate is all right, but I disagree to the extent it should be used."

The text of Atty. Rich's complete statement follows:

"I have no quarrel with my friend, the respected mayor of this city, and I do not propose to cast implications of any nature upon this wonderful city in which we all choose to live. In a recent article, I indicated my personal beliefs as to the more important factors involved necessitating the tax rate increase of $7.40. I also proffered my opinion that since 1945, the use of a huge surplus year after year had resulted in tax rates which were not true tax rates.

"It is my understanding that there are but two types of tax rates, namely, a true rate or a false rate. Neither term implies godliness nor fraud. They are used in terms to reflect the proper amount of revenue needed to maintain expenditures, meet commitments, and still preserve the financial stability of a city, especially when all signs point to large and costly programs ahead.

"In my article, I suggested that the using of over $3,000,000 to reduce the tax rates between 1945 and 1951, had resulted in a situation where the 1952 tax rate took the full blow, and could have conceivably reached a $10.00 increase. The large surplus, having been used in recent years, was not available.

"It has been suggested that inasmuch as the surplus belongs to the taxpayer, it should be applied to the following year's tax rate. However, although I even voted in favor of taking $350,000 of the then existing $440,000 surplus, to be applied to this year's tax rate, no surplus has been used in reaching the 1952 tax rate. This certainly indicates that a surplus does not ipso facto need be used in any given year.

"The Town of Brookline, having a true tax rate the past year, was faced with a huge increase this year. Not having used most of its surplus, they were able to apply and use exactly $1,100,000 last month, to hold the tax rate to a mere $1.25 increase over 1951. Without the large surplus, an extra increase of $7.00 over the $1.25 would have resulted.

"The old adage 'You can't have your cake and eat it' seems to apply."

occurred. A $7 to $10 jump in the current tax rate has been assured."

He also said that the taxpayers of 20 years from now would "reap the reward of the 1952 building program, but certainly not the taxpayer of today."

man Rich, who said he was not man Rich, who said hewas not speaking "for any other member of the Board of Aldermen" but for himself, appeared in last week's Graphic.

Mayor Lockwood's complete statement follows:

"The use of the expression 'false tax rate' as quoted in a newspaper of yesterday, carries implications grossly unfitted to the City in all ways.

"It must be understood that the Surplus of the City belongs to and is the property of the taxpayers of the City. The surplus of a City comes from several sources. If the annual budget of a given year amounts to $10,000,000, and for good reasons the City has unexpended appropriations amounting to a half-million, that half-million goes to surplus, and inasmuch as the budget was charged to the taxpayers, the balance unexpended should be applied to reduction of the following year's taxes.

"Before the existence of State Income Tax, cities and towns assessed taxes on intangible property and collected taxes on that property. When the income taxes were enacted into law, the State arranged to collect those income taxes and to distribute those taxes to take the place of the tax formerly collected by cities and towns on intangible property. When the corporation taxes were collected, the law required such taxes to be paid to cities and towns, expressly to lower the direct tax by cities and towns on real estate. Such taxes find their way into the Surplus Account, and such income belongs to the taxpayers after the City has paid its legitimately incurred bills of the year.

"There are many other receipts credited to City Revenue, notably the Motor Excise Tax, which amounts to a large total. If this tax receipt exceeds its estimated figure, the gain shows up in Surplus, and that Surplus belongs to the taxpayers. These references are only opening the books on a necessarily complex, but reliable, long list of receipts and expenditures, the gainful side of which finds its way to surplus. All these operations come under double checking and through audit.

"When a large surplus has developed at any year-end a proper contribution has been made in reduction of the tax rate which is in every sense legal and sound. If the surplus is large, no sound reason should justify City authorities to hold what amounts to excess surplus in reserve, instead of promptly using it to reduce the rate to taxpayers whose property the Surplus is.

"It happens that the full distribution of income and corporation taxes by the State to cities and towns in some years is not made sufficiently early in the year to make use of such receipts in calculating the tax rate. Such a situation forces a city to name a tax rate higher than it would be if all the distribution had been made by the State. That is the situation in 1952.

"The surplus of the City of Newton stands in strong condition and it will be largely increased by sundry receipts by the end of the year When the surplus again reaches a large total it will again be properly employed for the reduction of taxes, and inasmuch as it belongs to the taxpayers, they will see that such practice follows, as in past years. No use was made of surplus in reducing 1952 taxes. It is illegal to accrue or build up surplus for future use.

"The overall explanation of the rise in tax rate also is related to the increase in 24 percent in population in Newton since 1935 compared to an average increase of 2 percent in all the other 38 cities. Translated into services, which were paid for with 57 cents dollars compared to the 1939 basis of 100 cents, anyone should wonder how the City operated with such a reasonable increase.

"The main problem is naturally schools. The 1947 births were 1644 compared to 862 in 1939. This increased figure is hitting school enrollment so that whereas we graduated 650 from the High School in June, we enter 1400 in the Kindergarten in September. Outside of the inmigration of families with many children has developed an increase in birthrate, so that lack of schools presents an acute problem. The annual cost of operating these additional schools is higher than the cost annually of the new buildings. The cost of the buildings is found in bonds and city debt. The amortization of and interest on bonds, and the cost of operation, are in the tax rate. The cost of operating schools is not a responsibility of the City Administration, but expressly a responsibility of the School Committee in Massachusetts."

changed somewhat as well and now provide for a morning visit from Dad on his way to work.

These changes, Dr. Hamilton reported, were authorized by the hospital's Board of Governors after discussion with medical staff and nursing groups as well as with the patients themselves. Hoped-for advantages are shorter, more frequent visits and less congestion in the hospital and parking areas, resulting in more convenience for the visitors and less exhaustion for the patients.

A pamphlet explaining the experiment has been distributed to all patients and is available to all visitors.

Miss Eleanor Downing, head nurse on a private floor and Miss Priscilla Donlan, head nurse on a ward, both reported that to date the experiment seems to be working well.

Mrs. Theodore Patnaude of Newton Takes Bride, Jeanette Burpee

Miss Jeannette Burpee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burpee of Leominster, recently became the bride of Mr. Theodore Patnaude, son of Mr. Theodore Patnaude of Newton and the late Mrs. Patnaude, at St. Leo's Church in Leomister. A reception followed at King's Corner in North Leomister. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

With her white gown of nylon lace and satin with nylon tulle, the bride wore a fingertip veil of nylon. She carried a bouquet of white roses with streamers.

Miss Eunice Burpee, who was maid of honor for her sister, wore an orchid taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of assorted summer flowers. Bridesmaids were Miss Catherine Buppert and Miss Nancy Rossi, cousin of the bride, who wore gowns fashioned as the maid of honor's, one in yellow and the other orchid taffeta. They wore floral headpieces which matched their bouquets of summer flowers.

Little Linda Ebair, who served as flower girl for her aunt, wore a gown of white satin and carried a small colonial bouquet. The bride's mother, Mrs. Burpee, chose for her daughter's wedding, an aqua gown with sequin trimming.

Mr. Columbus Mazzola served as best man and Mr. William Hastings and Mr. Frank Burpee, brother of the bride, ushered.

The newlyweds are both graduates of the Boston School for the Deaf in Randolph.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Patnaude will reside at 72 Jewett stret, Newton Centre.

CURRENT COMMENT

Tobin May Be New Democratic Chairman . . . Parallel Between Curtis and Kennedy . . .

Democratic politicians are watching with interest to see whether Governor Paul A. Dever will make any effort to have Secretary of Labor Maurice P. Tobin named as the new chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Party leaders in other sections of the country believe Tobin would be the ideal choice for the post. They feel he would strengthen the Democratic ticket in the northeast where it most needs bolstering.

They reason that with Governor Stevenson, a Middle Westerner, and Senator Sparkman, a Southerner, the Democratic standard-bearers, Tobin could help to provide a balance that is missing at the present time.

Tobin and Vice President Barkley also were the two outstanding campaigners in President Truman's cabinet, they point out.

It is not at all certain, however, that Governor Dever, the top New Englander in the Stevenson campaign, would urge Tobin's appointment to the national committee post, and without Dever's endorsement the Labor Secretary would be given little consideration.

Underlying a surface show of harmony there was considerable feeling on the part of a number of Dever lieutenants, if not the Governor himself, because Tobin and Congressman John W. McCormack supported Vice President Barkley at the recent Democratic national convention and Mayor Hynes backed Senator Estes Kefauver.

Tobin went down the line with Barkley as a sentimental gesture to the old warrior with whom he had served in the cabinet, and Hynes voted for Kefauver because the Tennesseean had been the choice of the Democratic voters of Massachusetts. The Mayor felt that some attention should be paid to the expression of sentiment by the people.

That Tobin,, Hynes, McCormack, District Attorney Foley and others declined to follow Governor Dever's leadership and voted for Presidential candidates of their own choosing in the face of a strong trend to Stevenson probably cost Tobin any chance of being chosen as the new head of the Democratic national committee.

It is very doubtful that Tobin himself has any regrets concerning his stand or that he wants the position. He has spent most of his time in Washington during the past four years, much of it travelling in other parts of the country as spokesman for the Truman administration.

He has been away from his family a great deal more than he would have liked to be, and he is planning to enter business here the end of this year when administrations change at the White House and his service in the cabinet ends.

Tobin probably could be induced to accept the national committee chairmanship if he were convinced that by doing so he would increase the likelihood of a Democratic victory next November.

But he will not seek the post or make any effort to get it, and Governor Dever, the one man who could set in motion a move to draft him for it, is unlikely to do so.

Similarity Between Kennedy and Curtis

A marked similarity may be found in the candidacies of John F. Kennedy and Laurence Curtis, both of whom are seeking to serve on Washington's Capitol Hill, Kennedy in the U. S. Senate, Curtis in the place Christian A. Herter has held in Congress for the past decade.

Curtis and Kennedy are both men of means, looking for no personal gain for themselves but rather reaching out for an opportunity for public service.

One is a Democrat, the other a Republican, but there is a definite parallel between their candidacies.

The career of Curtis has been a colorful one, and it has been devoted largely to public service and to championing worthy causes.

Following his graduation from Harvard in 1916, Curtis served for a year in the foreign diplomatic service, joined the aviation arm of the navy at the outbreak of the war as a ground officer at Pensacola.

He attended Harvard Law School after the war, graduating in 1921, was secretary to Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes for a year, came back to Boston to take up the practice of law and in 1923 became an Assistant U. S. District Attorney.

In January, 1930, he assumed his first of a series of elective offices, serving four years in the City Council, four years in the House of Representatives, six years in the State Senate and two years as State Treasurer. He served on virtually all the important legislative committees.

There have been few charitable undertakings during the past two decades in which Curtis has not taken a prominent part. He was chairman of the Massachusetts cancer drive in 1949 and this year he headed the March of Dimes campaign in Suffolk County.

Curtis was state commander of the Disabled American Veterans in 1944-45 and in 1945-46 was national senior vice commander, the second ranking position in the national organization. A big, pleasant-mannered likeable man, he is now making an energetic drive for a place in Congress.

GOP Leaders Will Try and Defeat Burrell

The most interesting Republican primary battle will be the fight by the G.O.P. organization to prevent former State Treasurer Fred J. Burrell from cracking its slate and ousting Roy C. Papalia of Watertown who was endorsed by the Pre-Primary Assembly in Worcester as its candidate for State Treasurer.

While Republican leaders are expressing confidence that they will be able to turn back the challenge by Burrell and hand their party's nomination to Papalia, the fact is that it may develop into a real struggle.

Burrell defeated Papalia in the primary two years ago, even though the G.O.P. chieftains almost without exception rallied behind the Watertown man, and it's entirely within the bounds of political possibility that he may do it again.

The explanation offered for Burrell's nomination in 1950 was that the party leaders waited too long before launching their drive against him.

There'll be no room for excuses this time because the party machine is now being rolled into action, and by primary day every G.O.P. voter in the State should be apprised of the fact that Papalia is the "official" choice for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer.

Should Burrell still prevail, it would be a terrific setback to the move for the restoration of the convention system of endorsing candidates for State-wide offices.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE NEWTONS

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

MISS ELIZABETH FYFFE, founder and director emeritus of the All Newton Music School, joins the annals of the Newton Graphic, in Newtonville, where she resides.

She's a gracious, handsome woman—at the age of 85, she has an agile mind that is serious, witty, or downright humorous, —and she has done more for musical advancement in the Newtons than any other individual. Of course we are speaking of Elizabeth Fyffe.

Founder of the All Newton Music School, Inc., Miss Fyffe now lives at 399 Newtonville avenue in Newtonville. She is at present finishing her 29th crocheted pocketbook, things for which she never had time before her retirement. Her greatest joy is to be visited by a former pupil who "grew" musically under her diligent eye.

It was in the latter part of a pleasant afternoon when Miss Fyffe received us. Her warmth and intellectual curiosity immediately drew us into the enchantment that permeated her modest suite.

A breeze opened the curtains, emitting sunlight that flitted throughout the room, now resting on her fine facial contours, highlighting her carefully waved, white hair, and darting over the important effects of her life — her piano, a radio, an F.M. set, and musical compositions by the fireplace.

She bid us draw closer, gesturing to a discreetly placed hearing aid, and we sat at her feet, humbly, in quest of information of a life dedicated to teaching others.

"Teaching came naturally to me, I guess you might say I fostered my real interest in music as a teacher" she began. And her eyes seemd to pierce through to her childhood years. When she was seven years old, she gave piano lessons to a twenty-one year old German girl. That was the beginning of a career that has meant musical gain to thousands.

Miss Fyffe was born in Ripley, Ohio, in 1867. Her father was an Admiral in the U. S. Navy. She taught at the Fessenden School from 1904 to 1914, and gave private lessons for many years, cramming in every student possible.

She recalled with a chuckle, a student who sold a nickel magazine to pay for his lessons. He would pile his hard-earned nickels one on top of the other on her mantlepiece, and she referred to them as her "wages of sin", as the lad received his lessons on Sunday mornings. And perhaps the Caretaker of the golden gates would himself only smile at her phraseology, for the lessons weren't in vain. This student later became the head of his own music school.

In her unselfishness, she became more and more aware of a need for community teaching. Her talent for teaching was well known when David Mannes wanted her to teach in New York, but Miss Fyffe was already interested in the Newtons and its problems. She offered her services to the West Newton Community Centre, which was then a day nursery.

She had planned to teach 3 pupils at the center, but when the day for lessons came around, 23 hopefuls appeared. She hastily gathered 6 volunteers, and they all set about the business of teaching, with a vow that none should be turned away. The class soon swelled to 33, which practically turned the nursery into a music school. And the teachers realized their program could no longer continue as such.

Times were difficult; money was scarce. Public opinion was at first against spending money for music lessons, when even food seemed a luxury. But knowledge must be nourished.

Miss Fyffe looks back with gratitude to the six people who rose to the cause, each giving three hundred dollars a year, until public support was assured; John W. Weeks (who later became a U. S. Senator and Secretary of War), John W. and James R. Carter, Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, Henry B. Day, and Miss Mabel T. Eager, who was President of the Board of Trustees, and presently is Honorary President of the music school.

And so it was that in 1911, the All Newton Music School, a non-profit organization, was born; 1914 saw its incorporation.

Miss Fyffe and other music teachers, maintained a rigid schedule in Nonantum, West Newton and Newton Highlands, teaching in schools when classes were not in session. In 1945, Miss Fyffe retired as active head of the music school, happy in the knowledge that the work she had guided, would go on. For that year, a home was purchased, which still houses the music school.

Miss Fyffe's gratitude caused quick tears to spring to her eyes as a silent tribute to "Those wonderful, wonderful people who gave so generously of themselves in establishing and staffing the All Newton Music School".

Her former colleagues, some of whom studied music under her direction, consult her on policies of the school. Miss Fyffe maintains a close and affectionate relation with the members of the staff attending Board meetings and recitals.

The All Newton Music School instructs in piano, violin, viola, cello, clarinet, flute and voice; classes in musicianship are also offered. Students may take part in group activities, including recitals and concerts which are open to the public. A minimum fee is charged for lessons. Scholarships, Student Aid, and instrument rental facilities, reach out to aid those genuinely interested in musical advancement, regardless of finances.

It is no wonder that Miss Fyffe looks with pleasure upon her years of teaching the joys of music. It must be gratifying indeed to have fostered so noble a cause.

9 Children Pass Red Cross Course

Nine children passed the beginners course in the Water Safety Program conducted at Crystal Lake during last week by the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross.

Those passing the course were Alan Cicconi of Auburndale; Robert Jordan of Newton; Marilyn Marcou, Margaret Donnelly and Paul D'Attillio of Newton Centre; Pauline Reardon, James Newman and Janet McFee of Newton Highlands; and Elizabeth Muise of Waban.

Hollywood Star Signe Hasso to Visit Local A&P

Signe Hasso, glamorous Hollywood star, will make a personal appearance at the A&P Super Market, Walnut and Beacon streets, Newton Highlands, tomorrow (Friday) at 4:30 p.m.

Miss Hasso, who is currently starring in "Love from a Stranger" at John Hancock Hall, will draw 20 names of summer theatre ticket winners. Next week's John Hancock performance will co-star Uta Hagen and Luther Adler in "The Play Is the Thing."

During the past week, visitors to the local A&P have had an opportunity to file chance slips on the tickets. No purchase requirements were imposed and winners need not be present when their names are called.

Last week's special guest stars at A&P were Gene Raymond and Geraldine Brooks, co-stars of "Petrified Forest."

15 Newtonites Leave T'm'row For S. A. Camp

A total of nine boys, three girls, a mother and two babies will be among a group of 369 children, mothers and babies who will leave tomorrow (Friday) to attend the Salvation Army's 117-acre Wonderland Fresh Air Camp on Lake Massapoag, Sharon.

This is the last group this season to enjoy a 12-day healthgiving and body-building period at new Wonderland Camp which will accommodate more than 1500 children, mothers and babies this summer.

With the purchase of an additional piece of land, the camp now includes 117 acres of fields, streams, sandy beaches, playgrounds and camp sites and more than 50 buildings. The new land has enabled the Camp to expand greatly its overnight camping program, allowing many city youngsters to enjoy their first close contact with outdoor life including living in tents and the cooking of meals in the woods.

In the past 26 years more than 50,000 underprivileged youngsters—representing every race, creed and color and from all sections of eastern Massachusetts and all of Rhode Island, have attended Wonderland.

Invalids May Vote in Coming Election By Absentee Ballots

Persons who are confined to their homes due to illness or disability may cast their votes without leaving their homes in the coming election, Representative George E. Rawson of Newton pointed out this week.

"The Massachusetts election laws assure to persons confined to their homes or to an institution by illness or disability the right to vote at state and municipal elections," Rep. Rawson declared.

"If anyone who is physically disabled and will be unable to vote at the polling place on election day will notify the city clerk in writing, he will receive by mail a form to fill out. On this form is a certificate which must be executed by a physician, attending registered nurse, hospital superintendent or Christian Science practitioner.

"On receipt of this completed form, the registrars mail the disabled person an absentee ballot. He then votes by marking it in the presence of a notary public. The ballot is void if a candidate for office acts as a notary in this case," he warned. "The ballot must be mailed to the city clerk in time for him to receive it before the close of the polls on election day."

Rep. Rawson also outlined the procedure to be followed if the disabled or ill person is not a registered voter but is eligible to become one.

"First," he said, "he must write to his city clerk that he would like to become registered. Then a form is sent to him to fill out. In addition to his own statement, the attached certificate must be filled out by a physician, attending registered nurse, hospital superintendent or Christian Science practitioner, as the case may be, to the effect that the applicant is physically unable to go to the place of registration in person.

"This form," Rep. Rawson continued, "must then be mailed back to the city clerk. On receipt of this form, duly executed, two members of the board of registrars or assistant registrars, one from each political party, go to his home or institution and register him if he is qualified."

Rep. Rawson declared that these statues were sponsored by him and passed through his efforts as Chapter 466 of the Acts of 1945 and Chapter 196 of the Acts of 1946 during the time when he was chairman of the committee on election laws. The statues, he said, provide all the necessary laws to enable every disabled person to vote, if he is mentally and otherwise qualified to cast his ballot.

"I hope that all will take advantage of this opportunity at this fall's election," he concluded.

Newton Fire Prevention Bureau

Gasoline

Gasoline is one of our most useful servants when it is kept in its place and under control; running loose, it can be much more dangerous than an escaped tiger from the zoo. Gasoline is so vital, in fact, that nations are ready to go to war to get control of oil fields before another country gets it. At the present time it is so commonly used that people forget to treat it with respect: it is at these times that trouble happens just when we least expect it.

In the mid-west for example, a woman who lectured on fire prevention undertook to clean a pair of long white gloves with gasoline. In all of her talks she made it a special point to warn her audiences never to do this. But she thought that she knew all the answers so started to clean the gloves with gasoline. Instead of doing the cleaning indoors where the vapors might catch fire from some exposed flame or spark, she did it out of doors where she thought she was safe.

She was wrong and now she is dead. The gloves caught fire on her arms, the flames spread to her clothing, and before anything could be done to save her, it was too late.

Friction did it; the friction of rubbing the gasoline-soaked gloves against each other to dry them caused a charge of static electricity and a spark. A static spark can also be generated by scuffing your feet on a rug and then touching another person or a radiator. It was that spark which was generated by the friction of drying the gloves that ignited the vapor from the gasoline.

Remember the word—VAPOR—because it is the most vital hazard of gasoline, naphtha, benzine, etc., which people overlook; it is the feature which makes this such a wonderful servant, as long as it is held under control.

Gasoline vapor which is produced by the carburetor of your car is what explodes and drives the engine. On a warm day when you are getting your car filled with gasoline, watch the fill hole and you can see the vapors pour out of the tank. These are the vapors that can cause plenty of trouble and is reason enough why you should not smoke or light a match or cigarette lighter while this is being done. When gasoline is mixed with about six parts of air it can be exploded by just a slight spark. An explosion can happen in less time than it takes to tell the story.

In New Jersey a woman was cleaning with gasoline in her kitchen when her daughter came in and switched on the electric light. The switch must have been defective, for it sparked and exploded the vapor so violently that the woman was blown through the side of the house into a vacant lot 30 feet away.

That is one reason the experts say, "Never clean with gasoline in the home." Use a safe cleaning fluid, one with a carbon tetrachloride base that will not cause fire or explode.

Doing things correctly and safely may cost a bit more or take a little longer, but the results more than pay for the time and effort required. Accidents are expensive, death is permanent. Your thoughtfulness when using these products can help reduce some of this unnecessary loss of life and property.

Be sure to call the Newton Fire Department at once BIgelow 4-0030 or sound the nearest street fire alarm box for any fires involving gasoline or other flammable fluids.

all public business brought before it. This order in the usual form was adopted by the weary legislature with a sigh of relief and Governor Dever then confirmed it and prorogued the General Court.

"Hidden in the pile of bills acted on by the Senate but ignored by the House," Senator Lee continued, "were several that were most embarrassing to the governor. One of these, H-1092, would have kept the Public Utilities Commission a bi-partisan board. The Senate acted on this and sent it to the House and upon receiving the House order for prorogation and the Governor's message, they assumed that the House had enacted it and the Governor had signed it. Such was not the case, and Commissioner Gadsby was given the heave-to as soon as the legislature had left for home."

The House Clerk's office stated the bill referred to by Senator Lee had been sent back from the Governor's office with a recommended amendment, after enactment by both branches. The amendment was adopted by both branches, but the bill was not re-enacted, the Clerk's office reported.

Newton North Little League All-Stars in District Final

Face South Boston All-Stars Saturday in Brookline After Downing 2 Quincy Teams By Shutouts

Newton's North League All-Stars moved to the finals in District 3 Little League playoff competition last Sunday when they defeated the Quincy Business League All Stars, 6-0, in a semi-final game at Quincy. Their opponent in the finals to be held next Saturday, August 9, at Little League Field in Brookline, will be the South Boston All-Stars.

The Newton youngsters entered tournament play on July 27, when they defeated the Milton American League All-Stars, 8 to 7, in an extra inning game. Sparked by the no-hit pitching of Jim Fitzpatrick during the first four innings the Newton lads went ahead with an early five-run lead.

When Fitzie came up with a sore arm in the fifth the Milton boys teed off and scored three fast runs. Newton scored two runs in the top of the sixth to make the score 7 to 3. Milton came back in the last of the sixth to add four more to their tally and tie the score and Paul Gleason relieved Fitzpatrick on the mound.

Gleason pitched the remainder of the sixth and then loaded the bases in the seventh with no outs. Manager Mike Piantedosi decided then to call on the pitching talents of Charlie Snider who up to that time had been doing his usual fine job behind the plate. Snider retired the next three batters and Newton scored a run in the eighth to win.

In the quarter finals the Newton ball hawks met the Quincy Service League All Stars. The game was called because of darkness with the score tied 4 to 4. In their second meeting last Saturday to play off the tie the Newtonites won decisively by a score of 9 to 0.

The following are the batting statistics for individual players:

Atty. Rich Seeks Nomination from Fourth District

Through an error, Atty. Paul S. Rich was listed in last week's Graphic as running for the Republican nomination for State Representative from the wrong district.

Atty. Rich is a candidate for the nomination from the 4th Middlesex District, which is composed of Ward 1, 2, 3 and 7 of Newton. In this district, he will be opposed by Reps. George E. Rawson and Christian A. Herter.

Last week he was erroneously listed among candidates from the 5th Middlesex District. In that district, Mrs. Irene K. Thresher and Howard Whitmore Jr., are unopposed for renomination.

EAST LITTLE LEAGUE CHAMPS—Shown are the Newton East Little League champions, the Newton Centre Senators who ended in first place in their division by a half-game margin over the Thompsonville Athletics. The Senators had an 11-8 record with two ties, while the second-place A's registered the same number of wins but lost nine while tying only one. The Chestnut Hill Phillies placed third and the Oak Hill Cubs were fourth in the East League.

Star Quartet Next in John Hancock Play

It's been "hair-raisin'" time at John Hancock Theatre this week where Signe Hasso, glamorous Swedish actress, has been starring in the Agatha Christie thriller, "Love From A Stranger."

One of the most suspenseful plays on the modern stage, it is done by an exceptionally brilliant cast which includes William Langford who was Tallulah Bankhead's leading man in "Private Lives" for three years. The "who-done-it" fans are delighted as are the regular lovers of good theatre, and there is much to please the comedy fans too for the moments of laughter are many. If you don't want to miss this spine-tingler, better hurry, for it closes Saturday with final matinee Saturday afternoon.

On Monday next, the same outstanding cast that opened the summer season at John Hancock with "Tovarich," returns in another hilarious comedy, "The Play's The Thing." Uta Hagen, Luther Adler, Herbert Berghoff and Romney Brent will mean capacity crowds at the air-conditioned theatre, so tickets should be purchased early. Matinees Thursday and Saturday with evening curtain at 8:40. Plenty of parking space adjoining the theatre.

Qualifications of Gov. Presented to The Kiwanis Club

—o—

Members and visitors of the Newton Kiwanis Club at a recent meeting in Hammondswood Restaurant in Chestnut Hill, heard qualifications of the candidates for governor of the New England Kiwanis District.

Mr. Williams and Mr. Viano addressed the club on the candidacy of Bill Cantor and Dr. Neville Booth for office of New England district governor. Dr. Booth is present lieutenant governor and Mr. Cantor is a past lieutenant governor, of the 5th Division.

Present at the meeting as visitors were: Robert Trohan and Jack Johnson of the Brookline Club; Bill Berman, Brighton-Allston Club; Charles Billings and Gus Williams, Boston; Al Klauer of the Cambridge Club, past governor of the New England District, and Bob Kenney and Paul Viano of the Norwood Club.

President Charles L. Hildred, Dr. Robert J. Muse, first vice-president, and Herbert Cotton, second vice-president, will attend the convention for the election of officers, at the New Ocean House in Swampscott in September.

Juvenile Stakes At Wonderland

The Juvenile Stake race for puppies will be the next "top" attraction for greyhound racing fans in New England and the dates for the qualifying rounds have just been released by Wonderland's racing secretary. Starting August 20 and 21st the quarter-finals will be run and on August 25th the semi-finals, with August 28th the Consolation and the final for the Juvenile Stake on August 29th.

This is a very important race to greyhound owners as they depend upon their talent in the pups they raise to keep themselves in contention. With a kennel of pups that show ability it is insurance for the expense of the care and feeding of them for a year.

Ray E. Holmes, of Danvers, owner of the great Lucky Pilot, whose track records still stand today, has three nominees, My Best Girl, Southern Lassie and Surf Queen. In schooling races My Best Girl won both her events in fast time and it looks like Mr. Holmes might have a future Lucky Pilot in this youngster.

Field Day—

Hawthorn field day, many sports contests will be held at that park. Winners will be awarded prizes by Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood and Mr. Johnson.

Opening with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, the first event on the program is a costume and vehicle parade. This will be followed by dashes of 35 yards for boys from 6 to 9 and of 50 yards for boys 10 to 12. The 12 to 14-year-old boys will compete in a relay race.

Restricted to girls under 14, the Horace Mann playground will play the Boyd playground in dodge ball, and the Victory Field team will meet the Stearns playground girls. Another event for girls under 14 is kick ball, where the Carr playground will face the Hawthorne playground.

After a selection by the Stearns School toy band, girls from 9 to 11 will participate in a 35-yard dash. Girls from 12 to 14 will have a three-legged race.

Square dancing will be shown by representatives of the Boyd and Hawthorn play areas. The Carr, Stearns, Boyd and Hawthorn playgrounds will join in a singing game, followed by another square dance, this time by the Stearns School.

Prizes will be given out after boys play a "Pull the Lion's Tail" contest. The program will conclude with an exhibition of handiwork in building.

Instructors at the playgrounds joining for the field day follow: Albemarle, Robert P. Callanan and William Cronin; Boyd, Mary A. Ciampa, Marcia Egan, Caleb Scully and Robert J. Shannon; Carr, David Delaney, William Powers, Ann Regan, and Edith Wolcott.

Hawthorn, Ralph Hamilton, Marie Salvucci, Lillian Swartz and Ann Trowbridge; Stearns, Ethel Halfrey, Raymond Nazzaro and Pauline Teschner; Horace Mann, Anne M. Cahill, Kathryn Dolan and Richard J. Sullivan; Victory, Richard Blagbrough, Patricia Mulloy and Henry Gaffney.

Contract Voided For Collection Of City's Garbage

Newton Hires Jablonski, Former Collector, After Firm Fails to Meet Contract Provisions

Following the receipt of hundreds of complaints daily concerning garbage collections, the city's contract with a Hyde Park firm for the collections has been cancelled due to the company's failure to live up to the contract provisions, Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood announced Monday.

At the same time, the mayor revealed that the garbage will now be collected by the Jablonski Brothers of Randolph, holders of the contract last year. The cancellation carried out an ultimatum issued by the city threatening to void the contract with the A. J. Pierce Company unless service improved.

It was reported that an average of at least 100 complaints a day were being received at City Hall from residents whose garbage was not being picked up twice a week as was required by the contract provisions.

A $5,000 appropriation to meet the Jablonski bid for the job was voted Monday night by the aldermen. Jablonski lost the contract as the beginning of the year when its bid for the collection contract was $91,000 while the Pierce firm entered an $81,000 bid.

Alderman Kenneth E. Prior, chairman of the Public Works Committee, said the city would probably "gain both financially and in performance" by the change, when he recommended approval of the appropriation. He predicted that, after a few weeks, there would be a "minimum of complaints."

He declared that city equipment had to be pressed into use during the Pierce contract since the contractor's equipment was "faulty" and the firm often did not cover the required territory. A bill for approximately $400 is being sent the contractor to cover the work done by the city, Alderman Prior explained.

No Absentee Votes Allowed In Primaries

State Rules Require That All Ballots Must Be Cast In Person

Although voting by absentee ballots is permitted in state or city elections, all voting in the primaries must be done in person at the polling places, Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton pointed out this week.

"The question is often asked," Rep. Rawson said, "why absentee voting is not allowed in primaries. The answer is quite simple." He stated that the State Constitution provides for absentee voting in election only, and that the Supreme Judicial Court has held that a primary is not an election.

"The primary," he said, "is a substitute for the caucuses formerly held to nominate candidates to run in a subsequent election. Therefore the General Court has had no constitutional authority to enact a law allowing absentee voting in primaries.

"On several occasions within my service on the committee on election laws, bills have been presented to provide for absentee voting in the primaries. We have always reported them unfavorably on the grounds of unconstitutionality and the General Court has invariably accepted our report.

"If we were to have absentee voting in the primary," Rep. Rawson declared, "an amendment to the State Constitution would be required. A proposal for such an amendment would have to be passed by two successive General Courts in joint convention assembled, and by a majority of all members elected thereto. It would then be placed upon the ballot at the next state election for acceptance or rejection by the voters of the Commonwealth. If the amendment were then adopted the General Court would have authority to pass such a law.

"I have given a great deal of thought to this question. It is my considered opinion that the small number of possible votes that might be gained in a primary would not justify the large amount of extra work and expense to the state and the municipalities. I do not know of any state which has absentee voting in primaries. Few states have as generous laws as ours providing for absentee voting in elections," Rep. Rawson concluded.

Select 3 Names For Jury Duty

Three Newton residents, all with names beginning with H, were selected for the jury pool at Cambridge Superior Court at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

The names picked from a box containing the Newton jury list were Louise A. Hoar of 1148 Beacon street, Newton Highlands; William H. Hopf of 31 Maplewood avenue, Newton Centre, and Donald B. Howes of 291 Dorset road, Waban.

W. N. Man Retires After 40 Years With Boston Firm

George H. Bigelow, of 26 Holden street, West Newton, was honored recently at a luncheon on his retirement from the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company in recognition of his forty years service with that company.

Over 100 employees of Liberty Mutual attended the luncheon at the Hotel Lenox in Boston, at which the Newton man was presented luggage and a bound collection of congratulatory letters from his fellow employees, companies he had worked with on insurance problems, and executives of the insurance company.

Hired on July 19, 1912, Mr. Bigelow opened the first branch office of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. This office was opened in Springfield in 1914 and has been followed by over 130 similar offices throughout this country and Canada. At the time of his retirement, Mr. Bigelow was assistant vice-president of the company.

Newton Ties Hull in Little League Sectional Semi-Final

The Newton North Little League All-Star team, champions of District 3, battled the powerful Hull All-Stars, District 4 champs, to a 1-1 tie over five innings in a Greater Boston Sectional Little League semi-final tourney game Tuesday night at Albemarle Playground.

The two teams will meet again tonight in a second attempt to eliminate one of the squads from the Little League tourney. A win for Newton will place them in the finals against the winner of the West Lynn-Belmont game, and the winner of the finals will play in the regional tournament in Connecticut.

It took a superlative clutch pitching job by elongated Jim Fitzpatrick to save the game for Newton after he was called in from center field with the bases loaded with Hull All-Stars and no one out. Newton had a slim 1-0 lead at the time, and when Fitzpatrick walked the first batter to tie the game, Newton's chances appeared slim.

An approaching thunderstorm, which seemed to be on three sides of the field, made it evident that this would be the last inning and that any score would clinch the title for Hull. The Hull All-stars were chosen the "home team" for the game by tossing a coin.

Harry Craig, one of the shortest players in Tuesday's game, was sent in as a pinch hitter to try to draw a walk. Fitzpatrick, a slow, deliberate pitcher, forced Craig to hit the ball back to him and forced the runner coming in from third.

Charlie Richardson, the Hull left fielder, struck out on three consecutive pitches, and Fitzpatrick fired a called third strike

Pay Off Debt Of Middlesex County in '51

The debt of Middlesex County was completely paid off last year, with a final installment of $27,000, according to the annual report of County Treasurer Charles P. Howard.

Mr. Howard pointed out that, except for 1938, the County debt has been reduced steadily since 1932 when it hit a peak of $2,024,600. The debt of the County Tuberculosis Hospital also decreased, reaching $22,600 by the end of the year. The Hospital's peak debt, he pointed out, was $1,706,900 in 1932.

"The County tax for 1951 was $3,561,570.18," the report stated. "The tax for 1950 was $2,972,098.68 There was thus an increase of $598,471.50. From 1932 to 1947 inclusive, the County tax was held below the tax for 1931. During this period the County debt was almost extinguished.

"In 1948 the tax broke through the previous peak, and in 1951 it went higher. This was due to many causes, most of which were outside the control of the County officials. The prices of commodities had almost doubled. The General Court had enacted legislation in 1948, in 1949, and again in 1951, increasing the salaries of county employees, and also legislation increasing jury fees, witness fees and other fees, and establishing the forty hour week. Had it not been for the foresight of County officials in reducing the debt during the period of low taxes, the tax for 1951 would have been much higher."

N. C. Man to Chairman Jewish Appeal Businessmen's Section

Leo Flax Selected As Head of Important CJA Unit After Work As Paper Division Chairman

The selection of Leo Flax of 43 Hobart road, Newton Centre, as chairman of the Business Men's Council was announced this week by Isidor Slotnik, general chairman of the 1952 campaign of the Combined Jewish Appeal of Greater Boston.

Leadership of the Business Men's Council is regarded as the most responsible position in the Combined Jewish Appeal campaign, next to the general chairmanship. The Business Men's Council, comprised of 58 trade, industry and professional units annually raises 80 percent of the total sum obtained in the Combined Jewish Appeal drive.

In accepting his new assignment, Mr. Flax declared that he was "deeply flattered and honored by this great responsibility" and promised the Greater Boston Jewish community "to do my level best to help us attain our objectives in the interest of a strong and healthy Jewish community throughout the world."

Mr. Flax stated that he will begin his job immediately and expressed hope that not only veterans "but young business and professional members of the community" would volunteer their services to insure success of the campaign and everything it stands for.

"I hope that in our coming drive we will succeed in enlisting more young men than we have had in the past," Mr. Flax added, "and that anyone desiring to help will get in touch with me at headquarters."

Although he has been an active volunteer in many Combined Jewish Appeal campaigns, it was not until last year that Mr. Flax attracted the attention of C.J.A. leaders by his outstanding work as chairman of the Paper Division. Chiefly as a result of this performance he was the unanimous B.M.C. choice to direct its historic C-Week Collection effort.

Jewish communal life activity has been a tradition in the Flax Family. His father and mother, the late Samuel W. and Annie Flax of Cambridge, were known by their contemporaries for their diversified philanthropic work and especially for their interest in strengthening Jewish spirit-

Summer's 1st Court of Awards Held at BSA Camp Quinapoxet

87 Newton Boys Receive First and Second Class Scout Awards and Merit Badge Certificates

The first Norumbega Council Court of Awards of the summer was held Saturday evening at Camp Quinapoxet, when 87 Newton Scouts received awards earned during the first two weeks at the camp. The presentations were made by Harry Shain and Stanley Clark of the Council Advancement Committee, and by several members of the camp staff.

The Court of Awards, held to recognize scouting progress made during the summer, granted Second Class and First Class Awards, and Merit Badge Certificates. A Scout who has accumulated the required number of Merit Badges becomes a candidate for Star, Life or Eagle Scout ranks, which will next be awarded at the Council Court of Honor to be held in the Fall.

Second Class Scout awards went to George Eldridge, Jr., of Troop 4A; Edward Cohen, Stephen Dow and Thomas Rooney of Troop 5; William Rousseau of Troop 7; Burton Horne, Charles Peck, David Dow, Donn Springer and Stephen Richmond of Troop 9; Kenneth Frail, Michael McArdle, Jr., Michael Lengemann, Charles Bonanno and Christopher Lee of Troop 19.

First Class Scout awards were presented to Richard Hohman of Troop 4B; David Manley and Robert Pettit of Troop 5; Roger Kellaway, John Richmond and Burton Horne of Troop 9; Leonard Shaw of Troop 10; Reinier Beeuwkes of Troop 11; Charles Robins of Troop 17; William Hibbard, Robert Stephenson and Peter Jones of Troop 19; David Schell of Troop 25; Richard Siegel of Troop 27; Daniel Morrison and Richard Sperber of Troop 100.

Merit Badge Certificates, and number, went to: Philip Cruise (1) of Troop 4A; Edward Berger (2), H. Rogers Brockington (1), Edwin Cruise (2), William Segal (4) and Alfred Taylor (1) of Troop 4B; Thomas Newton (4), Robert Purinton, Jr. (1), Michael Shea (3) and Worthing West, Jr., (3) of Troop 5.

Edward Argu (4) and James King (1) of Troop 7; Lance Clark (1) of Troop 7C; Bruce Dow (4), David Dow (1), Roger Kellaway (1), Peter Kelly (3), David Raab (2), Stephen Richmond (1), Craig Springer (1), Carl Van Bradford, Jr. (3) and Jerry Wyman (3) of Troop 9.

Charge City Contract For School Building Gives a 'Blank Check'

Promote Former W. N. Man to Rank Of Rear Admiral

Bartholomew W. Hogan, 51, Silver Star Winner, Now Head of Hospital

A former West Newton Naval officer, now commanding the Bethesda Naval Hospital, Maryland, has been promoted to the rank of rear admiral, the Navy announced Saturday.

The new rear admiral, Bartholomew W. Hogan, 51, was wounded during the sinking of the aircraft carrier Wasp at Guadalcanal in 1943. He was awarded the Silver Star medal for his performance as the carrier's senior medical officer in caring for the wounded and dying.

A graduate of Tufts Medical School in 1925, he was commissioned a lieutenant junior grade the same year and assigned to the Chelsea Naval Hospital. During his 27 years of service, he has served on the battleship Mississippi, destroyers Flusser and Duncan, and the Wasp.

Admiral Hogan has been head of the Bethesda Naval Hospital since July 16, 1951, when he was transferred from the command of the Mare Island Naval Hospital, California.

Married to the former Grace Gloninger of Emmitsburg, Md., he is the father of three children, Bartholomew Jr., 17; Thomas 3d, 14; and Mary, 6. Mrs. Hogan is also a physician.

Two sisters and a brother of Admiral Hogan are now living in Newton. They are Mrs. Kenneth Anderson of West Newton, Mrs. Jennie Farrell of Auburndale, and Leo Hogan of Auburndale.

Aldermen Vote $95,000 Extra For Blasting

Board Protests Allowing Added Work Without Special Permission

Charging that the new Claflin School contractor was given "a blank check" for the project, the Board of Aldermen vigorously attacked the city's contract form at Monday night's meeting after an additional $95,000 was asked to meet unexpected blasting expenses at the Lowell avenue site.

The contractor was forced to remove ledge in the school's driveway and in pipe locations, although test borings had failed to show any rock in the way. The aldermen attacked the contract since it allowed the contractor to continue rock removal at a specified price per cubic yard without any limitation on the total amount to be spent.

"It is unfair," said Alderman Winfield C. Anderson, "to ask us to vote on something which already has been done. I object because this has been brought in after the work is completed and we are told 'This is it.' I refuse to be a 'yes man.'"

Alderman Edwin A. Terkelson, chairman of the Public Buildings Committee, delivering his committee's unfavorable report on the appropriation, said the contractor did not have permission to do extra blasting since no "change order" — altering the terms of the contract—was given to him. He recommended "leave

Name Perkins Ass't Chief Of Fire Dept.

Capt. Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of 303 Cabot street, Newtonville, was appointed assistant chief of the Newton Fire Department by Chief John E. Corcoran in a list of changes of assignments in his department effective Sunday morning.

Acting Assistant Chief John L. Martin, who placed first of the Civil Service list for the position, was reassigned as a captain with Engine 1, Group 1. Capt. James J. Clarke, second on the list, was transferred to Engine 2, Group 6, from the captaincy assumed by Capt. Martin. Assistant Chief Perkins placed third on the Civil Service list.

Assigned to cover the assistant chiefs' cars were Capt. Timothy D. Herlihy of Engine 4, Group 3, to cover Groups 3 and 4, and 4 and 5 at Engine 2 Station; and Capt. George F. Sanders of Engine 8, Group 7, to cover Groups 7 and 1, and 1 and 2.

Donald P. Lahey, who has been serving as a military substitute, was placed on the permanent force and transferred from Engine 3, Group 3 and 4, and Engine 9, Groups 4 and 5, to Engine 3, Group 5.

New Service Now Available For Hay Fires

Although the storage of hay in barns in Newton is confined to small quantities, a special service aimed at preventing spontaneous combustion in hay from getting beyond control is now available, Fire Chief John E. Corcoran announced this week.

According to a letter received by Chief Corcoran from Howard S. Russell, manager of Mutual Farm Underwriters of Waltham, the new method tries to cool hay before the heat reaches the explosive stage.

The first step in preventing the fire is to get a metal sheathed hay thermometer from the County Agricultural Agent's office to test the temperature of the hay. If the thermometer registers more than 170 degrees, the farmer notifies the Fire Department to stand by and asks the County Agent for Co2 service.

A conservation crew will respond in a special truck with equipment to force the Co2 into the hot spots in the hay mow, reducing the temperature so that the hay can be opened under the protection of Fire Department hose lines.

"This method would save property," Mr. Russell said, "would avoid the terrible job of removing the water-soaked hay and would be a real help to you. The local Fire Department's cooperation is essential because it is dangerous to open a hot hay mow except under the protection of charged hose lines."

50 Oppose Petitions Calling For Storage of Inflammables

Fire Hazards, Inconvenience, Other Dangers Cited By Residents at Hearings Before Aldermen

Three petitions calling for the storage of inflammables in Newton Corner, Newton Highlands and Newton Upper Falls, sites were strongly opposed by nearly 50 families living nearby the locations, at public hearings held Monday night by the Board of Aldermen.

Permits were sought for the storage of a plastic material by the Reiss Associates at 40 Elmwood street, Newton; for the storage of several inflammables by the Sylvania Electric Products Company at 151 Needham street, Newton Highlands; and for a gasoline filling station at the intersection of Chestnut and Boylston streets, Newton Upper Falls.

Atty. Hugh S. Boyd, speaking for the Newton Corner plastics plant, urged granting of a license in the interest of safety since a court ruling permits the company to use the phenolic resin without a permit. By storing it in a 5000 gallon underground tank, he said, the operation would be "safer and more efficient."

He declared that the company had been working hard to eliminate any objectionable odors that may escape from the plant, citing an air "scrubber" which had been built on the roof of the building to prevent the escape of obnoxious odors.

Lt. Lawrence N. Clark, representing Fire Chief John E. Corcoran, read a letter from the chief expressing his disapproval of the petition. The letter indicated that the storage of Class A flammables "created a fire hazard in that area."

Rep. George E. Rawson, who lives a half-mile from the Reiss plant, told the aldermen that he could still smell the obnoxious odors despite the claim that all odors had been removed. He quoted a law which empowers local fire chiefs to disapprove the storage of combustible materials as a further indication that the petition should be rejected.

Others living nearby also told of odors and discomfort caused by the plant's operations. Frank Brimblecom, representing the E. C. Hillier Company, an abutter, declared that "soot bell like snow" when the east wind blew.

A suit against the company, filed by the city, seeking to enjoin the firm from storing inflammables, has been dismissed in court, but another suit has resulted in the company being enjoined from allowing odors to escape. The city has indicated it will appeal the first decision, the testimony brought out.

William M. Powers of the Newton Improvement Association outlined a two-year campaign by residents to curtail the plant's operations and reduce fire hazards to nearby esidences.

Nearly a dozen abutters, led by Robert K. Kimball of 60 Kendrick street, Newton Highlands, opposed the Sylvania petition. The company seeks "to keep, store and use combustibles in business conducted in a new plant at 151 Needham street, maximum quantities to be kept at one time: 10,000 gallons No. 2 fuel oil in underground tanks, 80,000 cubic feet of hydrogen, 3600 cubic feet of oxygen, 10,000 cubic feet of a hydrogen-nitrogen mixture, 800 gallons of acetone, 50 gallons amyl acetate, 500 gallons of alcohol, 100 gallons of lubricating oil, 50 pounds of lubricating grease."

Do You Know Massachusetts?

(Compiled by State Planning Board)

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . The total claims for unemployment compensation in the Commonwealth number 16 per cent more than a year ago, but 12 of the 41 district offices show a decrease in claims, which include Gardner with a drop 60 per cent below last year, Athol 46 per cent, Haverhill 37 per cent, Newburyport 33 per cent, Fitchburg and Lowell each 20 per cent, North Adams 15 per cent, Cambridge 12 per cent, Newton 7 per cent and Malden 5 per cent, as reported by the Division of Employment Security for the week ending July 26. . . . A 1952 amendment to the Social Security law provides automatic increases for retired workers which will average about $6 per month. . . . Division of Necessaries of Life reports that cost of living in Massachusetts on July 15 was the highest on record, 3.5 per cent above that a year ago; food was up 5.3 per cent and shelter 4.3 per cent. . . . In Massachusetts 84.4 per cent of the people live in places of 2,500 or more inhabitants, whereas in New England as a whole the ratio is 76.2 per cent and in the total United States 64 per cent. . . . Foreign trade imports into the port of Boston last year amounted to 5 per cent in tonnage and 10 per cent in value of the total United States water-borne imports, making it the fourth largest import port in tonnage and second largest in value in the nation, as reported by the Department of Commerce. . . . Registry of Motor Vehicles says that up to June 30 this year there were 1,124,588 passenger automobiles registered in Massachusetts, an increase of 34,325 over the same time last year.

Miss Ruth B. Angier of 316 Franklin street, Newton, has been chosen as president of the Wheelock College student government to take office next Fall. Ruth is now a junior at Wheelock. Elected to head committees for the coming year were: Nancy Pennypacker of 19 Brentwood avenue, N. C., chairman of assemblies; Sally Larsen of 20 Rutven street, Newton, chairman of publications.

Oscar-Winner Kim Hunter to Appear In Boston Theatre

The use of the Shakespeare line is no empty title in the comedy within a comedy that makes up "The Play's The Thing," the current attraction at the luxurious summer theatre at John Hancock Hall.

Far and away one of the top attractions to ever be presented on and "out-season" stage, "The Play's The Thing," which stars the top-drawer cast of Uta Hagen, Luther Adler, Herbert Berghoff and Romney Brent, with such outstanding support as that provided by Peter Brandon, Ed Finnegan and Michael Road, has both critics and playgoers agog in their support and praise. The play closes Saturday night.

On Monday, August 18th one of the most looked-forward-to events in a summer theatre anywhere will be the appearance in person of Academy Award winner Kim Hunter in the Pulitzer prize-winning play "They Knew What They Wanted." Miss Hunter, who won Hollywood's top award for her acting in "Streetcar Named Desire," will play the role of Amy in this, her first Boston stage appearance, with Art Smith and Robert Emmett in supporting roles.

A large advance sale indicates that this will be a capacity audience attraction, so tickets should be purchased early.

The large theatre at John Hancock is beautifully air-conditioned with seats like easy chairs. So constructed that every seat is in the orchestra, there is no spot at any price scale that is undesirable. Box office is open daily at nine and 3 adjacent parking lots assures ample room for your car.

Named to County Posts.

Mrs. Thelma Edwards, commander of the Newton All-Women's Post, American Legion, and her husband, Robert A. Edwards, were appointed assistant county sergeant-at-arms at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Middlesex County Council. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards live at 77 Davis avenue, West Newton.

sured the board that "every possible precaution" would be taken for the neighboring property, including the construction of a high link fence. The inflammables, the engineer said, are the same that are being used by the Raytheon Manufacturing Company.

Ten persons indicated their opposition to the Sylvania petition, and three spoke against it, asserting that the storage would create a fire hazard despite precautionary steps by the compa . A written protest to the petition was filed with the Board by former Alderman Walter A. Hodgdon.

Twenty property owners registered protests against a petition filed by Antonio Cifaldo of 14 Rogers street, Newton Highlands, for a gasoline station permit at Chestnut and Boylston streets, Newton Upper Falls.

Atty. George B. Rawlings, representing Mr. Cifaldo, told the aldermen that Mr. Cifaldo now conducts a filling station across the street from the proposed site. The station is too small for his needs at present, he declared, and expansion is necessary for him to render adequate service to his clients.

Mr. Rawlings said the petitioner wants to build a cement block and stucco building at the new station with two lubritoriums. At present, greasing of cars is done out-of-doors so that it cannot be accomplished during inclement weather.

A Boston real estate agent and a Revere safety engineer also spoke in favor of the petition. The agent stated that the shape and location of the land made a gas station its best possible use while the engineer said it would create no traffic hazard.

Opponents of the petition termed the Chestnut street the "Chestnut Street Speedway" and claimed that the station would endanger many children living in the neighborhood. One resident called the corner of the two streets "the blindest corner in Newton."

Ernst Seyfarth of West Newton, representing Mr. and Mrs. Everett J. Mahoney of 925 Chestnut street, said his clients "knew the cruel experience of living next to a gasoline station." He claimed that a station "cannot be run quietly and cleanly."

Mr. Seyfarth cited the number of small children in the area, stating that many minor accidents happen every week along the road without being reported to authorities, so that the safety record of the area is false.

Unopposed were hearings on orders for streets, drains and sewers as follows:

Dickerman road, from Carver road to accepted portion, Ward 5.

Keyes street, from Waltham street to Taft avenue, Ward 3.

Walnut place, from Walnut street northwesterly, Ward 5.

Hearing on construction of a main drain and common sewer through Eastbourne road (a public way), from existing sewer southerly, Ward 6.

Hearing on taking land for and construction of main drains and common sewers through the following locations:

Coyne road, from near Fuller street southerly, Ward 5.

to withdraw" for the item, pending a study of the procedure.

Differing from the Public Buildings Committee report, the Finance Committee recommended approval of the money. The Finance report stated that the contract does not limit the total amount that the contractor is paid by the cubic yard for blasting.

Alderman Anderson, referring to the report, declared, "It is inconceivable that the city would issue a blank check in a contract. That is what allowing extra blasting at a unit price amounts to." He offered the opinion that a "change order" was necessary before the extra work could be done.

"We should not vote on this," Alderman Paul S. Rich said, "until we receive a written opinion from the city solicitor. This bears on all city contracts. We do not question the contractor's good faith, but we need litigation on this point."

Board President Wendell R. Bauckman then read a note from City Solicitor Matt B. Jones stating that the contractor was within his rights in doing the extra blasting.

Alderman Ernest G. Angevine called for approval of the appropriation, saying, "We do not have the right to blast the poor contractor for work which he has done. We've got a school now. We've got to pay for it." He urged the board to adopt a resolution for a change in the contract form to prevent extra work being done without prior approval.

The Board voted 8 to 8 on the Finance Committee's report to approve the funds, and the appropriation was declared defeated. However, President Bauckman pointed out, "We have not not defeated the blasting appropriation but only postponed it, since we will have to pass it at the next meeting."

Agreeing with the president despite their objection to the contract loopholes, the aldermen voted 13 to 3 not to accept the adverse report of the Public Works Committee, thus making the appropriation open to another vote. Approval of the funds was voted by the same 13 to 3 margin.

The Board then voted 13 to 3 to issue bonds to finance the extra blasting, but it was ruled that 14 votes—two thirds of the total board—were needed on a bond issue. Therefore Alderman Arthur S. Scipione changed his vote to affirmative.

After the approval was voted, the Board unanimously adopted the following resolution offered by Alderman Angevine:

"That the Board of Aldermen respectfully notify the mayor that it will make no appropriations for buildings until a new form of contract, with reference to rock excavation, has been approved, and that the city solicitor study the present form to make the requested change, and that department heads make bi-monthly reports to Committee chairmen on the expenditures under building contracts."

Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell was summoned by the aldermen to report on the reasons for the increased blasting cost. He stated that borings had been made at the site at accepted intervals and the building was placed so as to avoid any unnecessary rock removal.

Many other buildings have been erected in the city, Mr. Campbell pointed out, without running into the difficulties with rock that the New Claflin School contractor did. He stated that, in most building projects, funds have been turned back to the city from appropriations.

Biggest Diesel fleet saves you money!

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

1. 1796 DIESEL UNITS are pulling for you on New York Central. Another 153 are on the way to join this largest diesel-electric fleet owned by any railroad. Their efficient power . . . working long hours, saving on service and fuel . . . helps keep rail rates far below most prices.

2. THE DOLLARS AND CENTS of what modern rail efficiency means is well illustrated by this family dinner. Since 1946, the price of this meal has risen from $2.37 to $5.16. But the rail freight part of that cost has gone up only 3¢ . . . from 1¢ in 1946, to 1.9¢ in 1952!

3. RAILROADERS BENEFIT, TOO! Diesel-electric power and other efficiencies help them enjoy 143% higher average wage rates than during the 1935-39 period. Last year, New York Central paid $468,600,000 in wages. And most of that was spent in towns like yours along the line.

4. SO WHEN YOU SEE a New York Central diesel at work, remember it's a sign of progress. Progress that means good wages . . . efficient service to your community . . . at rates that are a bargain compared to most things you pay for. That kind of progress is the CENTRAL IDEA!

One Hundred Eighty-Five Are Attending Summer School Here

For the second year, the Underwood School has welcomed back 185 boys and girls who wanted to carry on a school program for six weeks during their summer vacations, as part of the practice teaching program arranged by Boston University and the Newton School Department.

This year's enrollment represents an increase of 20 pupils over last year. As a result, classes are larger, averaging about 27 pupils per grade.

Under the practice teaching program, 78 Boston University graduate students train under the supervision of members of the school's permanent faculty and B.U.'s School of Education.

Underwood School teachers participating in the program are Miss Henrietta Brebbia, kindergarten; Miss Audrey Zervas, Grade 1; Miss Charlotte Yoffa, Grade 3; James Gray, Grade 4; Miss Edythe Clark, Grade 5, and Leonard Savignano, Grade 6. New additions to the faculty are Miss Olive Eldridge, second grade teacher, and Mrs. Dorothy Boucher, secretary.

The program, officially titled a Graduate Workshop in Elementary Education, is open to college graduates who wish to teach school but who have had no formal teacher practice training courses. The children are not backward students in need of remedial treatment, but are children who have shown an eagerness to touch on phases of their regular studies which are not covered during the normal school year due to lack of time.

Explaining the six-week program, Underwood Principal Alan Acomb stated, "The teacher can enter the classroom for his first school year feeling adequate, comfortable and confident, while the children receive an opportunity for additional educational experience on the grade levels they will enter the following September.

"Many interesting and worthwhile projects are already being initiated," he said, "and the youngsters are receiving much individual attention. The student teachers, under the direction of the instructor, help the pupils plan and carry out their educational objectives.

"We are looking forward to a fine summer filled with valuable experiences for our children. In every class there is the hum of industry evident as you walk through the corridors or visit the classrooms to observe.

"The faculty and the graduate students of Boston University are pleased to work with such interesting and enthusiastic children. The boys and girls of Newton make this project worthwhile since they play an important part in the success of a teacher training program," Principal Acomb concluded.

Eleven Newton graduate students are participating in the program. They are Kay Turschmann of 48 Summit street, Newton; Doris Davis of 7 Parker street, Newton Centre; Viola Ann DiSabato of 6 Locksley road, Newton Centre; Mrs. Harriet S. Robbins of 15 Rotherwood road, Newton Centre; Mary G. Norris of 119 Oakdale road, Newton Highlands; William J. Cravatts of 184 Kirkstall road, Newtonville; Carol C. Holmes of 60 Oakwood road, Newtonville; Peggy Livingston of 78 Fessenden street, Newtonville; Audrey Marinus of 198 Lowell avenue, Newtonville; Jean C. Nurses Sought By Red Cross For Polio Care

Need "Urgent" for R.N.'s To Handle Increase of Infantile Cases

An urgent appeal for registered nurses for polio duty was made today by Mrs. Ernest Kuebler, chairman of nursing services of the Newton Red Cross chapter. At least 100 nurses are needed because of a sudden surge in the number of cases throughout the country.

Red Cross officials especially urge inactive registered nurses to respond, Mrs. Kuebler said. Nurses recruited by the Red Cross are paid by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"It is not our intention to drain nurses from our community or from duty in which they are vitally needed," Mrs. Kuebler pointed out. "However, there are many registered nurses not active in the profession. Perhaps some can arrange their personal affairs to serve during the early period when death or serious crippling may be prevented. In the past, married nurses with children have enrolled for duty in their local hospitals, thereby relieving other nurses for polio duty."

According to the chairman of nursing services, the Red Cross recruits nurses at the request of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the organization that provides polio care for all and meets the cost of treatment when family finances are inadequate. The foundation will pay the cost of transportation to places of assignment and will provide maintenance in addition to salary while the nurse is serving in polio work.

CURRENT COMMENT

Ike Best Bet to Carry State for G.O.P. Stevenson Trying to Ride Two Horses

Is Massachusetts one of the States which can be counted as securely in the Democratic column in a Presidential election?

Governor Dever and a number of other prominent Democratic leaders think the answer to that question is "Yes." So do many Washington experts who base their opinions on the returns in the last six Presidential elections.

No Republican candidate for President has carried the Bay State since Calvin Coolidge swept it in 1924, and some very competent political observers believe that under ordinary circumstances no G.O.P. Presidential contender can carry it.

The New York Times last Sunday, for example, declared that Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont "are accounted safely Republican" and that Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Washington are "almost certainly Democrat."

This reporter is disposed to doubt that Massachusetts is a State which cannot go Republican in a Presidential election.

But if Governor Adlai Stevenson carries the State over General Eisenhower next November, it will be pretty safe to agree that no Republican candidate for President can expect to capture the Massachusetts electoral votes unless he is backed by a national trend of tidal wave proportions.

On all the available evidence, which consists mostly of the public sentiment reflected in the Presidential primary last April, Eisenhower must be considered the strongest standard-bearer the G.O.P. could put up in Massachusetts.

So far we have encountered no Democratic politician except Governor Dever who is really enthusiastic about Stevenson, and we suspect that Dever's enthusiasm stems largely from the conviction that Stevenson is the one Democrat who can hold the South and at the same time command any real strength in the North.

Stevenson's position on civil rights is unsatisfactory to large numbers of voters. His selection of Senator Sparkman of Alabama as his Vice Presidential running mate already has been cirticized by prominent colored leaders. The deposition he gave Alger Hiss during the latter's trial in 1949 is not exactly a political asset.

Eisenhower's big weakness from a nationwide standpoint, as we see it, is the bitterness left among the Taft supporters after the Republican national convention, but there wasn't enough Taft sentiment in Massachusetts to make that an important factor here, and it is a problem which will mostly have to be met in the Middle West.

If a Democrat, with as little appeal for Massachusetts voters as Governor Stevenson, can defeat a Republican as popular as General Eisenhower in this State, it will have to be conceded that the Bay State is as securely Democratic as Georgia, North Carolina or any of the States in the South.

Should Adlai top Ike here next November, it is quite possible that future Republican Presidential candidates may deem it a waste of time to make a fight for Massachusetts.

* * * *

Democratic politicos believe that to date the strategy behind the Eisenhower campaign has been poorly conceived.

They feel Ike committed a basic political blunder in seeking to break the Democratic grip on the South, when he has no real chance of carrying any State below the Mason and Dixon line except possibly Texas, and that by doing so he has weakened his chances in the North.

General Eisenhower, in the opinion of Democratic leaders, has been blocked from making any real inroad in the South and will now find it difficult to revise his campaign strategy enough to attract the Northern colored vote that went heavily Democratic in 1948.

Governor Stevenson, the man who didn't want to run for President, is now undertaking the task of riding two political horses in different directions at the same time.

He is moving along the middle of the road on one, successfully convincing the Dixiecrats that they have nothing to fear from his moderate views on civil rights.

On the second steed he is veering gradually to the left in order to hold the colored vote which controls the balance of power in several Northern States, letting the word get out, without being directly quoted himself, that he would use his influence to prevent Congressional filibusters on civil rights questions.

Stevenson's campaign promises to be in striking contrast to that of President Truman four years ago, when Truman's forthright stand on civil rights alienated the South but brought a rush of support from colored voters in Northern cities.

It apparently is Stevenson's intention to chart a political course that will not offend any big element of voters, even though it doesn't entirely satisfy them either. Whether that will be within the real possibility is a question only future developments will answer.

Choice of Sparkman Not a Master Stroke

Senator Estes Kefauver probably would have been tapped as the Democratic candidate for Vice President, if President Truman hadn't vetoed the idea, but it is beginning to appear that the selection of Alabama's Senator John J. Sparkman as Governor Adlai Stevenson's running mate was not exactly a political master stroke.

Because of his stand against civil rights in the past, Sparkman is likely to prove a Democratic liability in the North, and it now develops that he is far from an idol in the South, where he is considered a left-winger except on civil rights.

When Sparkman was designated the Vice Presidential nominee by acclamation on the last day of the Democratic national convention, Governor Dever and other prominent Massachusetts leaders hailed him as a great liberal and progressive.

As his record now is unfolded in detail, it would appear more correct to characterize his as a great compromiser who plays the political percentages.

One ironical tinge to Sparkman's background is that in 1948 he urged President Truman not to run and suggested General Dwight D. Eisenhower as a possible Democratic nominee, referring to Ike as a "good man and one behind whom we can unite."

Sparkman has the distinction of having voted on both sides of the Taft-Hartley issue in the same year. He voted for the passage of the law and then voted to uphold President Truman's veto of the measure.

One statement which Republican campaigners are likely to quote frequently was made by Sparkman in April, 1950, when he said: "We Southern Democratic Senators—21 of us—are banded together and pledged to use every parliamentary device possible to defeat civil rights legislation."

Eventually, he's going to have to say where he stands on the civil rights plank in the Democratic platform.

Albuquerque police were alerted to be on the lookout for two men who had escaped from the Arkansas State penitentiary: Jim Freeman, 71, who made his getaway in 1923, and Frank Duke, 42, who slipped away in 1934. Maybe that comes under the head of the better-late-than-never department.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE NEWTONS

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

You are an Army Flight Nurse, flying over Korea in a "54" plane on your first mission to evacuate wounded countrymen. Two army corpsmen are standing by to assist, but you'll be in full charge of the air "hospital"—it will be your responsibility to see that 30 soldiers are transported to safety. You have attended flight school, you're a registered nurse, but you wonder at your confidence. How will you react?

Suddenly it's happening — stretcher cases are being brought aboard—you are seating ambulatory patients. Medical aid, reassurances, directions, fill your mind.

Not until your 24 hour duty is over and you are enjoying 24 hours of rest back at the base, do you realize you didn't have time to realize your own feelings on your first flight to the Korean front. Your training held you in good stead—you knew your duty and reacted accordingly. You hadn't felt any tension—your only problem was to keep the boys' high spirits toned down, for they were going home and morale was at its peak.

We are sharing the story of Mary Furgalack, former flight nurse, who returned to the United States a few weeks ago. She is staying with her mother, Mrs. Prudence Lane of 44 Carver road, in Newton Highlands.

Mrs. Furgalack is a comfortable person to be with, tall, with red brown hair, and large expressive eyes. She's not quite used to being a civilian again—army terms are still a part of her vocabulary. But after two years of the Korean air lift and living out of suitcases, she's more than happy to be home.

The former Army lieutenant trained at Carney Hospital and Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and joined the U. S. Air Force in July of 1948. After flight training in Texas, she served as flight nurse on the trans-Atlantic run, flying from the base at Westover Field, to Frankfurt, Germany. An army nurse's schedule allows time for shopping, and she "browsed" all over Europe with vengeance, adding to her collection of tiny figurines.

MRS. HOWARD FURGALACK enjoys the comfort of civilian life at the home of her mother, Mrs. Prudence Lane, in Newton Highlands, after serving as a U. S. Army Flight Nurse in the Korean Air Lift.

When the Korean fighting broke out, she was shifted to the Pacific run, flying out of Hickam Field in Hawaii. Adventure bespeaks of romance, and the lt. found both—for she met Lt. (j.g.) Howard Furgalack, U. S. Navy Reserve, of Meriden, Conn., just one week after she had arrived in the Pacific. They met at a marriage in Honolulu, and soon starred in their own wedding. Her husband, who was in the Navy six years, was plane commander of a patrol bomber in the Pacific theatre, for 2½ years.

During the early part of the war, fighter escorts protected the hospital plane. Mrs. Furgalack stayed with her patients from the battle area or Japan, to Travis Air Force Base at Fairfield, near Los Angeles, after a stop-over at Hickam Field.

She never had any accidents or deaths aboard ship. Army efficiency was at its best—wounded picked up off the battlefields were safe in hospitals in the U.S.A., in a matter of a few days. As a member of the 1453 Medical Air Evacuation Squadron, Mrs. Furgalack participated in one of the greatest developments to date—the near 100 percent evacuation of wounded by air. Thousands of lives have been saved to date by this method.

Of her experience in the army, Mrs. Furgalack says, "A flight nurse is on her own. There is no doctor aboard; she is in complete charge of the flying "hospital ward" and develops initiative and confidence. Flight nursing affords the opportunity to travel, with the added satisfaction that comes to those of the nursing profession."

At the age of 25, Mrs. Furgalack has seen most of Europe and the Pacific. Although we are not delving into politics, one incident is worthy here of comment. During leave in Japan, Mrs. Furgalack was besieged with children who asked, "Who is this man Truman, that he can take our MacArthur away?"

The Furgalacks have both been awarded the Korean Service Medal and the United Nation Service Medal. Mrs. Furgalack's squadron received the Presidential Citation Medal. Her husband was awarded the China Theatre Medal and Air Medal.

It was a sign of the times that although the Furglacks had travelled extensively throughout the So. Pacific and Orient, they were together for the first time for five days in the U. S., just a few weeks ago.

The cost of living as civilians, and the attitude of Americans, were at first a shock to them. Of the latter, she tells us, "Over there, we felt as though we were in a war—but at home, the Korean situation is treated and publicized as a skirmish—it is a little confusing at first."

Her husband is motoring home from the West and will soon join his wife in Newton Highlands. "We are just going to settle down as a New England family now," she says. And as the story of the airlift fades from her eyes, we see a new glow—for the "family" will be three, about the first of next year.

LETTERS

Editor, Newton Graphic:

It was with great pleasure that

It is my firm belief that 99% of such wanton killings of small animals on our highways is definitely not accidental, but is due to that strange effect that comes over otherwise decent people, that once they get behind the wheel of a car, they lose all sense of courtesy and decency to the rights of others, especially so to that of these small creatures that cannot defend themselves when caught in the path of such thoughtless people, especially those who hit and run, leaving the poor animal to suffer terrible agony, as in the case of such a person that struck a kitten on Newtonville ave., breaking all four legs, and leaving it there for over a half hour before it was mercifully put to sleep. This occurred on one of the coldest days of last winter. Did this person stop to aid his or her victim? No, it was only an Alley Cat in their opinion, but some child cried itself to sleep that night over the loss of a beloved pet.

I have seen countless examples of this wanton cruelty, and only through the grace of God, has other animals escaped these "Fools" on our highways. I have heard one such "Fool" state that he hated cats and dogs and would chase one up over a sidewalk to kill it.

For Boston Police and Boston taxi drivers, I have the greatest respect, having witnessed innumerable times the kindness and mercy shown by them to a badly injured animal. It is no uncommon sight to see either of these, tenderly carrying such an animal into the Angell Memorial Hospital. Unfortunately I cannot say the same for others in like work in other areas.

The disgraceful decision of a judge in a recent case in Dedham (not an auto case) of the cruel shooting of a Great Dane six months old puppy, was happily offset by a decision and award of over $500 damages by a Boston judge, for the killing of a dog by a milk truck.

The money award cannot bring back a child's loved pet, but a few more decisions of a like nature, could to a great extent stop this slaughter, for these characters would not like such a penalty for their thoughtlessness and cruelty.

The present law is not strong enough, for with the one exception I have noted, any such notification to the Police only brings death to an animal, that if brought to an animal hospital might well be saved.

HOWARD L. COHMAN,

To the Editor:

Like the late, lamented Will Rogers, the "living apostle" of American good humor and common sense, "All I know is what I read in the newspapers."

Along in mid-August comes the announcement that the State Department of Public Health has started a chlorination of the Charles River Newton beaches below Echo Bridge, Newton Upper Falls as reported, "due to overflow from an inadequate sewer line." The "good humor" announcement continues, "The chlorination will continue until a new sewer line planned by the city of Newton, can be constructed." Probably a part of Newton's proposed "long-term" or "master-mind" planning?

To the thousands upon thousands of Newton "kids," I think most Newton parents will agree that with youngsters and 'teenagers humor acceptance is most spontaneous, but this explanation calls for a real guffaw. For five years, to my intimate knowledge, three Newton beaches, one above Echo Bridge, intermittently have been closed because of Charles River pollution from many other causes than the mere "overflow of a sewer connection." Who asked for this "sudden?" move to make the beaches "pure of content" in late August with school openings but a few weeks away? Or is it still just a "plan?"

If the Newton city administration was really sincere and had the interests of Garden City youngsters at heart, with Will Rogers' "common sense," they would have built a swimming, diving and wading pool at Albemarle playground FIVE LONG years ago. What a laugh to have in mid-August 1952 with only hopeful results possibly in 1960 or later? So the M.D.C., by grant of the legislature, continues to build pools in other communities at Newton's expense! So what?

HARRY GATH, JR.

To the Editor:

Through the columns of your paper, I would like to express my appreciation of the courtesy shown by the residents of your city.

During the past several weeks, I have been calling upon many people in Newton without any previous introduction. In every case, I have been received with friendship and cordiality.

May I suggest that, besides "The Garden City," Newton should also be referred to—with equal accuracy—as "The Gracious City."

To the Editor:—

I have had occasion to traverse Waite street frequently, and last week I saw a near accident when a small boy ran after a ball and just missed being struck by a truck.

Why do trucks use Waite street? Is it to dodge traffic lights? Perhaps it would be a good idea to eliminate the lights at Maplewood square.

Newton Men Help Plan Conference On Shade Trees

—o—

Two Newton men are chairmen of national committees working for the 28th National Shade Tree Conference which will be held Monday at the Hotel Statler, Boston. This is the fourth conference held in Boston since 1925.

J. Cooke White of 74 Washington park, Newtonville, is national publicity chairman for the conference, and Benjamin L. Brittain of 3 Newbury terrace, Newton, is national chairman for the ladies' program.

Representing the Newton Forestry Department at the meeting will be George Rogers, Gene Drennan and George McGuire. Among the speakers scheduled is Jack Lacy of the Lacy Sales Institute, Newton Centre, who will discuss "What Makes a Salesman Tick?"

The membership of the conference includes more than 1200 arborists, nurserymen, city foresters, landscape architects and others interested in the improvement and management of shade trees.

MSGV Newton Unit Plans Testimonial

—o—

Mr. Edmund J. LeFevre of 22 Erie Avenue in Newton Highlands was recently host to the Newton Unit of MSGV. Plans for a testimonial dinner in October were furthered. The unit will send detailed letters to members concerning these plans.

Senior Vice-Commander John Lannagan presided at the meeting. District Commander Stephen K. Eaton reported on the district outing at Waverley Oaks.

Mr. LeFevre will again be host to the MSGV, at the next meeting Sept. 15, when election of officers will take place.

Mr. Kennedy Talks On Chinchillas to Newton Kiwanis

—o—

In an address to the Newton Kiwanis Club at a meeting held August 6, at the Hammondswood Restaurant in Chestnut Hill, A. S. Kennedy, proprietor of the New England Chinchilla Ranch in North Sudbury, stated that it would take six or seven more years of breeding on a planned scale in order to put the chinchilla industry on a "pelting" basis.

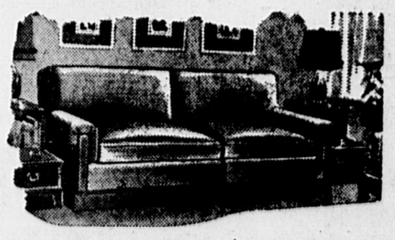

According to archaeological studies, chinchillas were on earth before man. These animals escaped extinction during the 20th century by surviving a perilous journey from the Andes in South America to the United States. They are now available for commercial breeding, but cannot be pelted for market until their yearly birthrate reaches two million.

Chinchillas are the most valuable of all fur-bearing animals. They are a nocturnal animal, and are shaped like small kangaroos, with long hind legs and short front ones. Their life span is about 12 years; they are mature for mating in seven months and fully grown in 16 months. The chinchilla is a monogamist animal; they have about three litters a year, with an average of two in each litter. Their cost is from $800 to $3,000 a pair.

Laureate's Lines

Levi B. Jennings, a frequent contributor to this column, sends in this politically timely poem by, Josiah Gilbert Holland.

Give Us Men!

Give us men!
Men—from every rank,
Fresh and free and frank;
Men of thought and reading,
Men of light and leading,
Men of loyal breeding,
The nation's welfare speeding;
Men of faith and not of fiction,
Men of lofty aim in action;
Give us men—I say again,
Give us men!

Give us men!
Strong and stalwart ones;
Men whom highest hope inspires,
Men whom purest honor fires,
Men who trample self beneath them,
Men who make their country wreathe them
As her noble sons,
Worthy of their sires;
Men who never shame their mothers,
When who never fail their brothers,
True, however false are others:
Give us men—I say again,
Give us men!

Give us men!
Men who, when the tempest gathers,
Grasp the standard of their fathers
In the thickest fight;
Men who strike for home and altar,
(Let the coward cringe and falter),
God defend the right!
True as truth the lorn and lonely,
Tender, as the brave are only;
Men who tread where saints have trod,
Men for Country, Home—and God:
Give us men! I say again—again—
Give us men!

er of The Boston Herald will take notice of all this," Mr. Prior said, in reference to an article which appeared in that paper recently concerning garbage collections in the city. The writer, in the article, stated that the stockyards of Chicago were not as bad as the garbage situation in Newton.

The city is expected to take steps to collect for breach of contract against the Pierce firm. The company posted a $25,000 performance bond in January when it was awarded the contract.

However, Mr. Prior suggested Monday night that the company's bond might not be as required by the contract and that the city may run into difficulty collecting much on the bond.

Funeral Services Held August 7 For Dr. Francis E. Park, Noted Physician

Funeral services were held August 7 for Dr. Francis E. Park, 85, of 290 Cypress street, Newton Centre, retired physician, who died August 5. Services were held at the home of his son, Francis X. Park, Jr., at 66 Sparks street, Cambridge. Interment was in Stoneham.

Dr. Park, who retired last year after 62 years in active medical practice in Stoneham and Boston, was one of the first physicians in Massachusetts to use radium and X-ray. He practiced electrolytic balance long before its usefulness was generally recognized and was one of the first to use radiation on the nose and throat in control of intractable asthma.

He was born May 10, 1867, in South Boston, son of the late Alderman Frances E. and Lauretta (Vincent) Park. He attended Boston Latin School and graduated from Harvard in 1890.; also attending the Harvard Medical School. Dr. Park began his practice in Stoneham and conducted a private hospital there for many years.

A resident of Stoneham for 50 years, Dr. Park moved to Newton 10 years ago, where he was active in civic affairs. In the year 1909, Dr. Park was awarded medals by the Carnegie Fund and the Mass. Humane Society for heroism in rescuing two town employees overcome by gas in an excavation.

He was a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society and the American Medical Asso. He belonged to King Cyrus Lodge, A. F. and A. M., and was an exdeacon of the First Congregational Church in Stoneham. Dr. Park was the oldest member of the Eastern Middlesex Medical Society.

Etta Richardson (Park) Park, his first wife, died in 1941. He leaves his second wife, the former Gladys Cunningham of Newton; his son, Francis, Jr.; two daughters, Mrs. George H. Atkinson of Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. John Volkmann of South Hadley; a sister, Mrs. W. Hough Mills of Chestertown, N. Y., and five grandchildren.

Dr. Francis X. Balling

Dr. Francis X. Balling, of 1875 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, died in Bradford, Vt., on August 6. He was the husband of Maria L. Balling. Funeral was from the T. J. Lyons Funeral Home, 1479 Washington street, West Newton, on August 8, with a requiem mass in St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Isaac J. Gibson

Isaac J. Gibson, husband of Mamie (Holland) Gibson, of 131 Vernon street, Newton, died August 6, in his 68th year. Services were held at the Rich, Bellinger and Mackay Chapel, 30 Center avenue, Newton, on August 9.

Archie S. Harlow

Archie S. Harlow, husband of Jeannette (Sadlier) Harlow, of 15 Morseland avenue, Newton Centre, died August 8. The service was held in Trinity Episcopal Church in Newton Centre, on August 11. Interment was at Walden, N. Y.

Annie F. Doveika

Annie F. Doveika, wife of Stanley Doveika, of Newton Upper Falls, died August 5. Funeral was from the Eaton Funeral Home, 1351 Highland avenue, Needham, on August 7, with a solemn high mass of requiem at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church.

Margaret Moran

Margaret (Plunkett) Moran of 609 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, wife of the late Daniel J. Moran and sister of Michael and Delia Plunkett, died August 7. Funeral was from the Lally Funeral Home, 496 Harvard street, on August 11, with a solemn requiem mass at St. Lawrence's Church. Interment was at St. Mary's Cemetery in Norwich, Conn.

Herbert N. Pait

Herbert Nelson Pait, of 129 Norwood avenue, died July 27, after but a few hours illness with cerebral hemorrhage at Rochester, N. Y., General Hospital.

Young Mr. Pait, only 19 years old, was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert M. Pait of the above address. He had enlisted in the U. S. Army Air Force 30 days prior to his death, and was in training at the U. S. Air Force Base in Sampson, N. Y.

Funeral services were held August 1 in the Newtonvil'e Methodist Church. Interment was in the soldiers' lot in Newton Cemetery.

Sarah Scribner

Mrs. Sarah (Gardner) Scribner, 90, wife of the late Stephen W. Scribner, formerly of 68 Adams street, West Newton, died August 5. Funeral services were held August 7 at the William R. Miller Chapel, 27 Spruce street, with the Rev. George O. Ekwall, rector of Christ Church, officiating. Interment was at Blossom Hill Cemetery in Concord, N. H.

Harvard F. Weston

Harvard F. Weston, husband of the late Ruth Allen Weston, of 29 Holman road, Auburndale, died suddenly on August 5. Private services were held at the William R. Miller Chapel, 27 Spruce street, Waltham, on August 8.

Mr. Weston was the father of H. Frederick Weston, Jr., of Newtonville, and Mrs. Warren A. Wood of Fowlerville, Mich.

Championship Auto Daredevil Contest

Suicidal contests reminiscent of the Roman Colosseum and the Circus Maximus days will be seen in the International Auto Daredevils Contests at the Norwood Arena, Thursday night, Aug. 28 (in case of rainout, the following night).

Daredevils from three great shows will compete one show against the other and one driver against the other to find out which driver and which Daredevil show can truthfully claim the title of the World Champion for 1952.

Billy Green's World Famous Canadian Aces, Dick Rogers All American Motor Maniacs and Ward Beam's 1951 World Champion Auto Daredevils will compete—in sensational bus jumps, diver bomber crashes, rolling cars end over end and side over side—slide for life and the famous Wreckum race.

Pfc. Ronald F. Coates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Coates, 56 St. James st., Newton, has arrived in Seattle, Washington, aboard the Navy transport Marine Adder, from the Far East.

Coates, who has four brothers and a sister, has been in Korea since last September with B Battery, 57th Field Artillery Battalion.

James Kay Semjo, a graduate of Newton High School, has recently received his Sergeant stripes. He has been stationed at Westover Field in the 730 Air Force Band for the past year and a half.

Sgt. Semjo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Semjo of 239 Woodland rd., Auburndale, received his basic training at Lackland Field in San Antonio, Texas. He is now on furlough, prior to being sent overseas, where he will be a member of the 751st Air Force Band in London, England. His rating is now Airman, 1st class.

In the Armed Forces

Thomas P. Sullivan, U. S. A. of 24 Garland Rd., Newton Centre, has been promoted to the rank of corporal, while stationed in Seoul. He is the son of Mrs. Catherine F. Sullivan and the late Jeremiah Sullivan.

Cpl. Sullivan received his basic and F. D. C. training at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas and was sent to Korea on December 20, 1951. He is serving with Battery C, 12th Field Artillery Battalion, 2nd Infantry Division.

He is a graduate of Sacred Heart School in Newton Centre, where he was a member of the basketball and baseball teams.

Pvt. Alfred J. Ricci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ricci of 7 Crescent square, Newton, is serving at the Army's Nahbollenbach, Quartermaster Depot in Germany.

The depot is one of the large Quartermaster supply points for U. S. forces in the European Command. It is located in the French Occupation Zone of Germany.

Private Ricci, a gas station attendant in the 348th Quartermaster Base Depot, arrived in Europe on June 27. Before entering the Army in February 1951, he was employed as a buyer.

Word comes from Germany that Pfc. Guy P. Monaco, 85 Withington rd., Newtonville, completed the Non-Commissioned Officers' Academy conducted by the 28th Infantry Division in Dillingen. Monaco is assigned to the 89th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Battalion.

Cpl. Robert L. Sokolsky is reporting to his new station, the Army Home Town News Center at Kansas City, Missouri. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sokolsky of 38 Ellison rd., Newton Centre and has been stationed at Camp Pickett in Virginia, in the Public Information Office.

Sokolsky, 24, was a reporter for the Springfield Union in Springfield before his induction into the U. S. Army in November of 1950. He is a graduate of the Syracuse University School of Journalism, Syracuse, New York.

Lt. Ruth Jenkins is temporarily stationed as a nurse in Iceland with the U. S. Air Force. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Jenkins of 345 Crafts st., Newtonville.

Lt. Jenkins is a graduate of Mount Auburn Hospital School of Nursing in Cambridge. Her brother, Airman 2/c Walter E. Jenkins, is stationed with the Air Force on Guam. They are both graduates of Newton High School.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Jewett of 66 Webster st., West Newton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Emily Jewett, to Mr. Allen Douglas Maiden of Milton, son of Mrs. John Maiden and the late Mr. Maiden.

New Telephone Dispatch System For Locomotives

SPEEDS NEW ENGLAND DEFENSE PRODUCTION

DEFENSE ORDERS demand increased telephone service. To speed production of portable radio military telephones, a new centralized dial system has been installed at the busy Raytheon plant in Waltham, Mass.

The new telephone dispatch system at American Steel and Wire Division, U. S. Steel in Worcester speeds the daily movement of over 1000 tons of raw material. Locomotives — via mobile radio telephone — get orders from dispatch centers, quickly shuffle materials from stock piles to open hearth furnaces. The telephone dispatch system assures uninterrupted defense production and makes it possible to turn out steel in shorter time. This is just one of the many ways the telephone works for defense.

Throughout New England the ever increasing telephone needs of manufacturers of radar and electronic equipment, precision tools, drills and textile machinery — to name but a few — are being met in record time.

Today — business, industry, the military and the public are more dependent than ever on the telephone. And, telephone people intend to provide the best telephone service in the quickest possible time at the lowest possible cost.

The NEW ENGLAND Telephone & TELEGRAPH Company

New 3-Story Building Nearing Completion on "Miracle Row"

The office and commercial building to be called DiCarlo Building and now nearing completion at 66 Winchester street in Newton Highlands, is the latest addition to Newton's Miracle Row, that new business colony constructed largely since the war, which extends from Boylston street southward to the Needham line, and is rapidly become a story book illustration of "Suburban Living for Business."

Incidentally, it also appears to be a preview of the future, for the trend it represents is one fairly sweeping the country: a trend for business, large and small, to move away from the congested city centers, from the superannuated loft building in dingy industrial slums between the freight yard and the gashouse, to a bright new environment of modern daylight building, shade trees, front lawns, trim hedges, and also low taxes, parking space all around, and a freedom from choking traffic, which like good health is valued only by those who miss it.

That the presence of business and industry in the garden suburb need not be detrimental is adequately illustrated by Miracle Row, and more specifically by its latest addition at 66 Winchester street. It is a handsome structure with a gleaming front of glazed brick and plate glass and slate, introducing a new note of architectural pretensions, hitherto unknown in suburban business. It is designed to catch the eye from a passing automobile. Its appearance emphasizes individuality as a business asset. It is designed to be a landmark, and also a logical step forward in that contemporary vernacular, which in our city is already articulate in the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center, striving for airiness, balance and logic of line, clearly expressing the contents.

There are approximately 48,000 square feet of floor area on three floors in the building. Ground floor is level with and accessible from Upland avenue. First floor loading platform is accessible from Winchester street. There will be four staircases and an elevator connecting the various floors, five entrances on Winchester street, and three entrances on Upland avenue.

There are windows all around on four sides and plexiglass "bubbles" on the second floor ceiling providing additional daylight. Needless to say, the construction is entirely fireproof, floors are of reinforced concrete of the heavy type suitable for shelter should they ever be needed. All interior supports are columns and the absence of interior bearing walls makes possible any division of the space to suit the changing needs of occupancy.

Rental negotiations are now in progress, about which nothing can be reported at this time. But one thing is clear, and that is that the new building and what it typifies fits well into the picture of Newton, the Garden City, and that the future of our city lies in this direction: that the kind of city government to which we are acustomed cannot be paid for out of taxes on residences only: that we need industrial and commercial development of the style which is not a detriment but an addition to gracious living which only the Garden City can provide.

Young Runners at Wonderland Oval

The youngsters take over the spotlight at Wonderland, in Revere with the annual running of the Wonderland Juvenile Stake race on August 28th. Quarter finals will be held August 20 and 21st with the semi-finals slated for August 25th.

All the leading owners at Wonderland have full kennels of puppy hopefuls and it is expected, by Wonderland's racing secretary, that the largest field of youngsters ever to try out for this event will be on hand at the Revere Beach track to compete over the schooling races in the qualifying time set by the track. All pups that are entered will have to qualify themselves over these schooling races before being allowed to enter in the opening rounds that start August 20th.

On The Line, great brindle, racing star from the Chappell kennel is currently the "King of Wonderland" due to his tremendous feat of winning all three of his National Championship races, duplicate donly by the immortal Rural Rube and the illustrious Lucky Pilot, both former track and world champions at Wonderland.

Miss Dominque Becomes Bride Of Mr. Cucchi At Double Ring Rites

A reception at Columbus Hall in Newton followed the marriage of Miss Annette Itha Dominque, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Dominque of Auburn, Me., to Mr. Nazzareno Daniel Cucchi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Cucchi of 143 Adams st., Newton, at the Sacred Heart church in Auburn, Me., on August 2.

The bride, who was given in marriage at the double ring ceremony by her father, was gowned in organdy and lace. Her headpiece was bonnet style, with net veiling attached. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas with an orchid center and streamers of sweet peas.

Maid of honor was Miss Pauline Dominque, sister of the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet of flamingo sweet peas. Matching flowers were caught at the sides of her headpiece, a small veiling. Miss Florence Dominque of Auburn, Me., and Miss Mary Cucchi of Newton, served as bridesmaids. One wore a nile green, strapless gown and lace cape and carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweet peas. The other wore a yellow strapless gown and lace cape, and carried a colonial bouquet of orchid sweet peas. Both the attendants wore short veils, caught at the sides with matching flowers.

The mother of the bride wore a navy crepe dress, trimmed with white. She wore a velvet hat and bag and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Cucchi wore a powder blue, crepe gown with lace sleeves, a beige straw hat, and accessories. Her outfit was accented with a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Anthony Cucchi of Newton served as best man for his brother. Mr. Daniel Leone of Newton and Mr. Gerald Gentile of Newton, served as ushers.

After a wedding trip to New Jersey, Upper State New York and Maine, the couple will reside at 94 Falmouth rd., West Newton.

Moonlight Cruise Funds To Benefit Columban Fathers

On Wednesday evening, Aug. 20, Friends of the Columban Fathers will sponsor their 4th annual moonlight cruise aboard the Wilson Line's luxury motor vessel Boston Belle. A number of outstanding entertainment events have been planned to make this one of the top attractions of the summer season, so all are urged to attend.

This year as in the past, all proceeds will go to swell the building fund of the popular Irish missionaries who have their headquarters in Milton.

The Boston Belle will leave Rowes Wharf promptly at 9 p.m., cruising to Nantasket Beach. An hour's stopover there allows anyone who so wishes to disembark to enjoy the many attractions at this world-famous Atlantic playground, and for those who desire to remain aboard, music for dancing and other entertainment will be continuous.

Tickets may be purchased from the Columban Fathers in Milton or from the ticket committee, local members of which include Charles J. Fagan, 161 Pearl street, Newton; Miss Rose Doherty, 42 Charles street, Auburndale; Patrick J. Moynihan, 20 Dexter road, Newtonville, and Patrick McHugh of 214 Concord street, Newton.

Miss Perry-Rev. James M. Smith United At Candlelight Service

At a candlelight service in the Martha Mary Chapel at South Sudbury, Saturday, August 9, Miss Mary Elizabeth Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Chamberlain Perry of 362 Washington street, West Newton, became the bride of Rev. James Marshall Smith, son of Mrs. Leon H. Mullins of St. Petersburg, Florida and the late James M. Smith. The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers of Newtonville, Professor of Homoletics at the School of Theology of Boston University.

At the reception in the colonial ballroom of Longfellow's Wayside Inn, relatives and friends from Florida, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, South Carolina, Vermont and Virginia were present.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white chantilly lace and nylon illusion. Her shoulder length veil was caught to a matching lace juliet cap. She carried a cascade of white roses and ivy. The maid of honor, Miss Carol S. Taber of West Newton wore a gown of hyacinth blue lace with matching accessories. Miss Tabor carried a cascade of yellow roses and ivy with a matching headband of ivy.

The best man was Lt. Edwin L. Smith, U. S. Air Force, brother of the groom. Two former classmates, Rev. Walter N. Kalaf of St. Petersburg, Florida and Rev. Charles William Landiss of Kennebunk, Maine served as ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and Green Mountain Junior College, Poultney, Vermont. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia and the School of Theology, Boston University.

Following a wedding trip in Maine, the couple will reside in Daytona Beach, Florida where Mr. Smith is pastor of the Livingstone Memorial Methodist Church.

OUR NEW ENGLAND

Massachusetts Well Above National Average in Voting According to 1950 Election

By JOHN H. CRIDER

This year of 1952 offers a great opportunity to all Americans, but one which should meet a greater response in New England than elsewhere because of our region's intimate association with the birthplace of freedom in America. This is the year in which the citizens of the No. 1 nation of the Free World have the opportunity which comes every four years of electing a new administration.

Roughly speaking, only about a third of the world's people have the right to cast an honest vote, unwatched or uninfluenced at the polling place. Another third vote as a gesture not unlike the bending of the knee before a royal personage—these, the fodder of totalitarianism. The rest just don't vote at all.

We argue, we even fight for what we call democracy. But democracy means people, and the history of republics show that once the people fail to serve freedom responsibly, they soon have no freedom left at all. It is hackneyed—it is trite—but like a great many other truths, reiteration makes them none the less true. We have got to register and vote if we want our republic to survive.

This is a particularly challenging election, not only because the Presidential candidates are both unusually appealing individuals, but because whichever candidate is elected will very likely open up a new era in our history at one of the most perilous times our nation has known. This is because both major parties have rejected extremist elements and seem headed for something near the "middle of the road." Don't you want a part in determining how near the middle that course shall be; which of the personable candidates shall chart that course?

How'd We Do?

The day after the November election it undoubtedly will be possible for anyone to sit down with pencil and paper and demonstrate that if all the people old enough to vote had voted the results might well have been reversed. The proposition will stand no matter who wins.

The Census Bureau has just compiled some non-voting records that show four of the New England states running well ahead of the national average in the percentage of eligible voting, while two others are listed below the national rate.

The figures are based on comparisons of the voting totals in the 1950 congressional elections with the total population over 21 years old counted in the 1950 census. There were 96,833,000 persons in the country old enough to vote that year and only 40,430,000 voted. In other words only 42 percent of those old enough to vote showed up at the polls.

What a shadow that statistic cast over the escutcheon of freedom!

In Maine and Vermont not even that percentage voted. Vermont, with 238,000 persons of voting age, had only 182,000 of those registered to vote, and on election day only 89,000 showed up at the polls. That represented 37 percent of those old enough to vote. Maine voted 41 percent of its population over 21. The census credited Maine with 577,000 adults, only 238,000 of whom voted.

The other New England states did better. Connecticut had the best record, voting 62 percent of its voting-age residents. The Census Bureau said there were 1,383,000 Nutmegers over 21, of whom 861,000 voted in the 1950 congressional elections.

Massachusetts, according to the calculations, had 61 percent of its adults at the polls. The census credited Massachusetts with 3,207,000 persons over 21, of whom 1,947,000 went to the polls on election day.

Rhode Island, with 538,000 persons over 21, voted 293,000 of them, or 54 percent. The New Hampshire record was 52 percent, with 185,000 persons voting out of an adult population of 353,000.

Just what makes so many people stay away from the polls is something that has been getting increasing attention from congress. A number of proposals were offered in the 82nd congress for luring more people to the voting booths. Not only will those proposals fail to accomplish that purpose, but they failed to even pass in congress.

Investigators have established that a small percentage of those over 21 have a good reason—some are ineligible by reason of being aliens, others are sick or out of town on election day. But the biggest reason is neglect or sheer laziness. Some fail to register and are ineligible to vote on that account, others register and then don't bother to vote..

What effect these absentees actually have on election results is the subject of an old and still unsettled debate. Almost any defeated candidate can prove he would have won if everyone who failed to vote had gone to the polls and had voted for him. But if they went to the polls would they have voted for him? Or would the absentees have voted in about the same proportions as those who did vote? The only way to settle it is to have everyone vote.

There is an old tradition among politicians that a light vote favors the Republicans. The theory is that Republicans are more consistent about going to the polls. But in 1948 a vote much lighter than was anticipated brought a Democratic Presidential victory. And Republicans promptly drew up calculations to show that a bigger vote could have reversed the result. So everybody had better vote this time to further confound the experts.

What to Do

To get New England's record for effective democracy way above the national average we will all have to get out and register and vote. Deadlines for voting in remaining primaries are Aug. 15 in Massachusetts, Aug. 30 for voters in New Hampshire cities; and Sept. 6 in Vermont. Connecticut has no primary and in Maine the registration dates are varied, depending upon the size of the community, but generally one week prior to election Call your city or town clerk's office and they will tell you for sure.

Even if you don't vote in the primary, which you should if you consider yourself a member of one of the parties, there will be a last chance to register for the voting in November. Deadlines for registering for the general election in November are Rhode Island, Sept. 4; Maine (most places), Sept. 6; Massachusetts, Oct. 3; Connecticut, Oct. 18; New Hampshire cities, Oct. 25 (large towns Nov. 1, Small towns, Nov. 3); and Vermont, Nov. 1.

Shame!

Whereas only 42 percent of eligible American voters cast their ballots in 1950, and only 51 percent in the Presidential election of 1948, similar percentages for other free nations, some of which we like to look down upon as inferior democracies, were:

Belgium (March, 1950)	90%
Italy (April, 1948)	89%
England (Oct. 1951)	83%
Canada (June, 1949)	75%
Sweden (Sept., 1951)	80%
France (Oct., 1945)	75%

Do official figures like those make you ask yourself how good an American are you? They should. And, if you haven't already, you must do something about it.

New Englander of the Week

COL. JOHN B. ATKINSON, whom the Cambridge, Mass., city council replaced as city manager in a recent surprise move, because Col. Atkinson successfully pioneered reform administration in the fifth largest city of Massachusetts, long suffering from corruption, and thus spearheaded the drive for modernized municipal administration in New England by showing what could be done. He cut the tax rate from a high of $46.30 to $35.50, but the inflation of recent years cut out the earlier gains. He was replaced by a well intentioned but inexperienced schoolmaster.

7 Attending Summer Program

Seven Newton residents are currently at Boston University's Sargent Camp at Peterborough, N. H., for a summer program which includes an outdoor education workshop for adults, a counselor training course for teenage students, and a co-educational camping program for children.

Counselors at the camp include George Dennett of 49 North Gate park, West Newton, and Ernest Spence and Mrs. Joan Spence of 37 Manchester road, Newton Highlands. Among the junior counselors are Jane Collier of 62 Hyde avenue, Newton, and Barbara Davidson of 129 Cabot stret, Newton.

Elizabeth Pike of 44 Chapin road, Newton Centre; Susan Sheinwald of 46 Chestnut Hill avenue, Newton, and Jessica and Peter Greene of 59 Pontiac road, Waban, are enrolled as campers.

At Comp Wyanoke

Five Newton boys are among the campers spending the summer at Camp Wyanoke for Boys at Wolfeboro, N.H., according to an announcement by Bradford M. Bentley, director of the camp.

Local boys among the campers are Robert A. Shaffer of Auburndale, Theodore G. Clark of Newtonville, Richard S. King of Newton Highlands, John Seward of Newton Centre, and Peter Brine and Peter Slocum, both of West Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Slocum are also at Wyanoke. Mr. Slocum is an instructor at the Fessenden School, West Newton.

THOMPSONVILLE ATHLETICS—The Thompsonville Athletics of the Newton East Little League are shown in their team picture. The Athletics finished in second place in their division of the Newton Little League, only one-half game behind the Newton Centre Senators. The Athletics had an 11-8 record with one tie, while the pennant winners had an 11-7 mark with two ties.

past catcher Seward Smith to have the tie.

The umpires conferred briefly with both coaches as the Newton players mobbed Fitzpatrick and the game was called because of darkness.

Tight pitching on both sides highlighted the game, with the hurlers showing real class in the clutches.

Newton scored its lone run in the top of the third inning after loading the sacks with one out.. Charlie Snider hit back to pitcher Bertrand Katz who ran nearly all the way to first before tossing the ball to the first baseman.

Then Thompson walked, Bob Calvert singled to center on the next pitch, and pitcher Dave Seeley walked on a 3-2 count. Jim Fitzpatrick hit a slow grounder to shortstop but the Hull second baseman dropped the throw for an error and all the runners were safe.

This ended Newton's threat as Calvert was erased at the plate on Dwight Rideout's grounder to second and Billy Woodlock was retired unassisted by the first baseman.

Dave Seeley started on the mound for Newton but had control trouble throughout his four innings on the hill. He got into trouble in the first inning when he walked two and wild pitched them to second and third, but Jim Heggie, Hull center fielder, hit an easy grounder back to Seeley to end the inning.

Hull threatened again in its half of the third. With one away, Bill Hogan, second baseman, popped a bunt about three feet in front of the plate. Seeley rushed in, overran the ball when it took a tricky hop, and could not pick it up. Eddie Goldman followed with a ground single to center, sending Hogan to second. Don Whiteman walked to load the bases.

Katz, Hull pitcher who had hit four home runs in previous tournament games, hit a sharp grounder to third. Ron O'Loughlin played the ball beautifully on a short hop and threw to catcher Snider, forcing Hogan. Heggie popped to first to end the threat.

Hull came within two inches of scoring in a wild fourth inning that saw two runners erased on the basepaths. With Smith on first with one out, Tommy Belodeau singled to right. Smith tried to make third but was thrown out by at least two feet as his slide failed to carry him to the bag.

Belodeau took second on the play and headed for home on Bobby Stanford's sharp single to right. Another strong throw kept Stanford from scoring. But when the throw went over the catcher's head, Stanford wandered off third base and Seeley, backing up the catcher, trapped him off the base. Stanford nearly evaded the run-down but was tagged out at the plate by Seeley in a close play.

The game was originally scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the Albemarle field. Rain and wet grounds forced postponement until Tuesday, and thunderstorms nearly forced another delay. Lightning could be seen striking in the distance throughout the game and drops of rain splattered down on the field.

However, rain held off until the game was completed. The threatening weather failed to hold down the enthusiastic spectators who filled the two stands and lined the outfield fence.

A large number of rooters appeared from Hull, so that team was not without its supporters.

Newton qualified for the semi-finals by walloping the South Boston All-Stars 9-1 Saturday at the Elliott Playground, Brookline. Newton scored two in the first and six in the second to take an 8-0 lead and it was strictly "no contest" from then on.

Paul Gleason handcuffed the South Boston boys on three scattered singles while Dave Seeley and Jim Fitzpatrick paced the Newton attack with four hits each in four trips to the plate. The lone South Boston tally came on a wild pitch.

Hull, in its previous tourney games, downing Medfield, 16-1; Sharon, 23-0; Cohasset, 15-0; and Norwood, 2-1.

Mayor Lockwood Lauds Red Cross First Aid Classes

—o—

Gilbert J. Champagne, chairman of First Aid, Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, reported to Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood that a total enrollment of 1,210 persons have completed Red Cross Standard Advance Junior and Instructors Training Courses from January 1, 1952 through June 30, 1952.

This means for the record that 45 classes were conducted during the first half of this year.

Certificates to each of the 1,210 persons have been issued. The total strength today now totals nearly 5,700 persons who have availed themselves of the opportunity to have knowledge and understanding of the use of First Aid practices.

The continued growth of first aid has become important within civil defense, industry, various municipal services, schools, civic organizations, colleges and other public groups, as they have come to realize the importance of training in first aid as a means to accident prevention and as the appalling loss from accidents and the need for First Aid is more and more appreciated by the public in general.

The American National Red Cross makes available all of its existing organized chapter volunteers and resources for participation in Civil Defense activities and the First Aid program is a specific task which the Newton Chapter has undertaken in the planning of Civil Defense.

Mayor Lockwood personally congratulated Mr. Champagne and his associates for their many accomplishments to date and predicted that the balance of the year would find many more citizens eager to learn and spread the knowledge of First Aid throughout the Newtons.

FREDERICK C. HAILER, JR.

Councillor Hailer Opens Campaign For Herter's Seat

—o—

City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer this week launched his campaign for the Democratic nomination to Congress in the 10th Congressional District, which includes Newton, Brookline, Roslindale, West Roxbury and several other Boston wards.

Hailer, at his first organizational meeting, told his supporters that a Democratic nominee who can appeal to the independent voters of the 10th district must be chosen, in order that a man truly representative of the area can be elected in November. The candidate stated that he believed his educational background, governmental experience, and legislative record provided the qualifications necessary to capably fulfill the duties of the office.

Coucillor Hailer prepared himself for federal service by majoring in government at Brown University and at the Harvard University Graduate School of Public Administration. He has served four years in the State Legislature where he was the youngest man ever to be chosen House chairman of a joint legislative committee.

Hailer has never been defeated for political office. He was accorded the highest vote ever given a candidate for representative in his district. The voters of Boston were highly impressed by Hailer's fine young organization in his successful campaign for the Boston City Council. He received almost 90,000 votes in being elected to this office.

Hailer spent three years in the Army during World War II, serving in New Guinea and the Philippines. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic Alumni Sodality, American Legion, VFW, AMVETS, and the DAV.

Hailer plans to state his position on vital federal issues as the campaign progresses. He intends to conduct an aggressive program to inform the voters, so that they may choose a man who will be truly representative of the 10th Congressional District.

Hot or Cold Meals Are OK For August "Dog Days"

Summer is far from over. August dog-days are upon us. And September has yet to come. Thus, we are still faced with the problem of what our diet should be on those days when the mercury tries to push the top of the thermometer or when the humidity. . .well, the less said about humidity, the better.

The point is, what and how should we eat during hot weather. Some persons can continue to eat normally, but most seem to lose their appetites, with the result that during a heat wave many people lose a certain amount of weight.

(This isn't too bad, since most of us are over-weight and can afford to "knock off a couple of pounds, anyway")

It really makes no difference whether we eat hot or cold meals during the summer, according to Health Information Foundation of New York. Nor do we have to have "at least one hot meal a day" as some people feel is necessary. Hot or cold meals, if properly balanced, have the same food value.

The important thing to remember, the Foundation says, is what one eats. It is best to avoid sweets and starchy and fatty foods as often as possible. But lean meats, milk, eggs, fruit juices and fresh fruit, fish, green vegetables are always good to eat, winter or summer.

And as for thirst quenchers, water is by far the most satisfying. Other liquids are thirst quenchers too, but only in relation to the amount of water they contain, while sweet drinks are surcharged with calories and therefore more fattening than cooling.

When to eat, whether three times a day or more often and in small quantities, does not have too much effect on weight. With children, it is always best not to coax them. If a child is listless during hot spells and refuses food, there is no reason for parents to fret. Plenty of milk and fruit juices supply sufficient nourishment to see the child through.

As to the age-old argument over whether ice cold drinks or hot are more cooling to the body . . .it all depends. Take ice-cold drinks: They're not harmful if taken slowly and in small amounts at a time. Gulped in a large quantity, ice-cold drinks may produce stomach cramps because the body cannot warm up the liquid rapidly enough.

In humid weather, hot drinks are not more cooling than cold ones, simply because excess perspiration thus caused cannot evaporate in humid weather and therefore have no cooling effect. Evaporation of perspiration is one of nature's chief methods of cooling the body. When humidity is high, hot drinks only add to already excess perspiration. But in dry weather, hot drinks are cooling since the excess perspiration they cause is readily evaporated.

What about theh body needing salt during hot weather? Persons who perspire considerably, such as those who do heavy work, frequently require additional salt in their food. However, persons with high blood pressure and kidney, liver and heart diseases, must consult their physician about the amount of salt they may take.

Violators of Rent Ceilings Caught, Punished By ORS

Three flagrant violations of the federal rent law, in which three tenants were victimized by landlords to the extent of more than $1,000, were brought to light in the U. S. District Court in Boston last week.

Landlords involved in the cases had used three of the commonest dodges to obtain funds in excess of rents allowed by law—under-the-table bonus payment from tenant to landlord; obliging the tenant to install equipment and to paint and decorate the dwelling; and issuing falsified rent receipts for less than the cash rental actually paid.

Landlord defendants in the first case, involving falsified rent receipts, were Antonio and Antoinette Iannetti, 44 High st., Milford, Mass. Tenant plaintiff in the suit, filed by the Litigation Section of the Office of Rent Stabilization on behalf of all tenants, was Edward A. Duddy, 7 Poplar st., Milford.

Duddy told Judge Charles E. Wyzanski that from Jan. 1, 1950, to Nov. 30, 1951, he paid a rent of $45 but was issued rent receipts for only $33, the maximum legal rent for the dwelling.

In an attempt to refute the tenant's allegations, the landlord produced three witnesses, whose testimony brought a stinging rebuke from the bench.

Judge Wyzanski informed the defendants that he believed neither their own nor their witnesses' testimony, and he deplored the fact that there are people who are willing to testify with little regard for the sanctity of the oath.

"I deem it to be only appropriate to say that those who come to this court sometimes are content to play fast and loose with the oath they take," the judge declared. "They may well be reminded that they take that oath under Divine Sanction, and although this court may withhold its powers to punish criminally or for contempt, it will not do to say that the breach of the oath of a witness does not go unnoticed."

Judge Wyzanski ordered Iannetti to make restitution of the $276 rental overcharge to Duddy.

Defendants in the second case, involving an illegal expenditure of $623 by a tenant, were Rebecca and Hyman Twicken, 449 Norfolk st., Dorchester, Mass.

Tenant Joseph Lapido, of the same address, told Judge Wyzanski that in order to rent an apartment from the Twickens he was obliged to pay them $269 for installation of an oil burner plus $300 for renovation of the dwelling.

A rental overcharge of $54, for a total refund of $623, was ordered by the judge to be made to Lapido and the bench also issued a permanent injunction against the defendants to prevent further violations of the law.

Samuel J. and Leah Brown, 76 Strathmore road, Brookline, Mass., were landlord defendants charged with demanding and accepting a $300 "under-the-table" bonus payment for rental of premises by Daniel and Anna Bernstein, 45 Walnut ave., Roxbury, Mass.

Judge Wyzanski ordered the $300 returned to the Bernsteins and issued an injunction requiring the Browns to observe the federal rent law.

Local Residents At Tabor Day Camp

Enthusiasm for all activities is running high at the beautiful campus of Tabor Day Camp on Greendale avenue in Needham, where a full enrollment participates in the varied camp program. Baseball, Riflery, Arts and Crafts, Tennis, and Dramatics, as well as swimming, riding, and archery, are among the most popular pastimes.

Already 12 campers have earned the Gold Ribbon, highest award for swimming. Among them are Abner Stein, 99 Manchester road, Newton Highlands, Esther Jacobsen and Alice Jacobsen, 185 Collins road, Newton Center, Anne Holmes, 15 Graydale circle, Auburndale, and Joan Chase, 62 Prince street, West Newton.

Those winning the Blue Ribbon, signifying ability to swim 50 feet and do backstroke, as well as float and tread water, and entitling the camper to take part in Boating Activities are: Ray Burke, 36 Lansing road, West Newton, Steve Brown and Nick Brown, 5515 Morse road, Newtonville, George Ware, 295 Highland avenue, West Newton, Marcial Bailey, 29 Fern street, Auburndale, Mary Warner, 25 Old Farm road, Newton Center, Greg Kelley, 1038 Centre street, Newton Center, Caryl MacLaughlin, 28 Kingswood street, Auburndale, Anne Jones, 128 Dorset road, Waban; Virginia Chase, 62 Prince street, West Newton; and Peggy Russell of Brunswick, Maine, who is staying with Virginia this summer.

Miss Peggy Cotter, Archery Instructor, says that the highest award, the rating of Bowman, has been granted to George Ware Gerrit Argento, 32 Bemis road, Monsonville and Billy Mitchell, 27 Fernwod road, West Newton, while Abner Stein, Linda Kenney, 115 Lockwood road, West Newton, and Alice and Esther Jacobsen have attained the Yeoman rating. Junior Yeomen are Joan Bergstedt, 297 Islington street, Auburndale; Susan Kenney, 15 Lockwood road, West Newton, Ann Jones of Waban, and Jane Archer, 14 Kenwood road, Newton Center.

"Do It Yourself" Lauded as Saving To Home Builders

Under the caption, "Modern Living," Time Magazine in its June 30 issue, features a story on the ever-widening trend of "Do It Yourself" building. Citing instances where people, who have never before done manual work, have successfully and economically built homes of their own—a sure method of defeating the high cost of housing—Time points out that their experiments are far from exceptional. All over the U. S., thousands of couples are building their own homes; thousands more are remodeling their old ones.

Partly, as Time states, their activity is a new expression of the old American passion for working with their hands. But mainly, the "build-it-yourself" boom is born of economic necessity. Time quotes: "It's a simple economic fact that a $75-a-week bookkeeper can't buy the services of a $150 carpenter."

In lauding Grossman's, Time says: "Lumbermen, who once sold chiefly to carpenters and contractors, have found their yards overrun with eager amateurs." As well as selling all types of power and hand tools, Grossman's also rents tools to help the amateur builder. "Since war's end," Time continues, "Grossman's has sold the plans and materials for 3,000 new owner-built homes, financed them as as little as $29 a month."

Grossman's, quick to sense the "build-it-yourself" trend, has long encouraged amateur builders, supplying such trade—through its 17 New England yards and stores—with a tremendous variety of easy-to-handle, speedy-to-install building products.

The Grossman branch in this area is located at nearby Wellesley.

Insurance Cards For Minor Drivers In New York

Joseph Kravitsky, local insurance broker and Councilman Ward 7, today issued a warning to all persons under 21 years of age, who drive cars and plan to make a trip to or through New York State, that a newly enacted amendment to the motor vehicle laws of that state applies to all cars operated by minors whether resident or non-resident.

Any minor who operates a motor vehicle in the State of New York, shall have a card in the name of the owner of the vehicle with proof of adequate insurance coverage as required by the latest New York law. The minimum required is $10,000 and $20,000 for bodily injury liability limits, and $5,000 on property damage. No matter whose car the minor may be operating, he or she must have proof of existence of such insurance protection from the motor vehicle owner. The Motor Vehicle Commissioner of New York will recognize the special identification card which insurance companies are ready to issue for this purpose.

The new law which is now in force became effective as of July first.

Seven Newton Children Pass Swimming Course

Seven Newton Centre and Newton Highlands children passed the Beginners Course in the Water Safety Program conducted at Crystal Lake by the Newton Red Cross Chapter.

Those successfully meeting the course requirements were Alan Shapiro, Edward Lynch, Bonner Pass and Judith Dietz, all of Newton Centre; and John Shaner, James Kelly and Martin Treiber, all of Newton Highlands.

Q. How can I remove a broken cork that has slipped down into the bottle?

A. Pour in enough household ammonia to float the cork, let it stand for a few days, and the cork will break into fine pieces, which can be removed without difficulty.

Q. How can I tighten the handle of an umbrella that has become loose?

A. Fill the hole in the handle with powdered resin, heat the rod, and then press firmly into the hole.

Q. How can I remove a rusty screw?

A. Heat a poker or spike red-hot and apply it to the head of the screw. When the screw has become hot, it can be removed very easily.

Q. How can I remove the socket of an electric light bulb, when the glass bulb has broken off?

A. This can be done by pressing a large cork firmly into the socket. This will enable you to unscrew the metal part.

Named to Special Honor Roll

Mrs. Mary Ditmore Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Ditmore of 9 The Ledges road, Newton Centre, was named to a special honor roll at Texas State College for Women, Denton, Texas, this week.

A "B-plus" average in all courses is required to be named to the special honor roll. Mrs. Mathews, who is majoring in kindergarten primary education, was among 276 girls at the school who received cards of congratulations from Dr. W. H. Clark, dean of the college, for their achievement.

The honor roll is based on college studies taken from Feb. 4 through June 30.

Cadet Thomas Standring, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Standring of 88 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, was recently named as one of three Mass. Civil Air Patrol Cadets to represent the United States in the 5th annual Foreign Exchange program. He flew to Portugal with Deputy Commander Alan F. Lydiard of the Mass. Wing.

Discovering Fires

It has often been mentioned that the first few minutes at a fire count the most. Delayed discovery and delayed sending of the first alarm to get help has accounted for many of the larger losses of life and property due to fires. It is usually fires involving these elements that make the front page of the newspapers.

Many cases have been reported where people have discovered fires in their homes or places of business, and before they send in an alarm have tried to get into the building to arouse the occupants. This is especially true at night. In the excitement nobody has sounded the fire alarm. When after waiting there was no response of fire apparatus they then decided to send in an alarm. When the apparatus did arrive the fire had spread to many sections of the building causing a much larger loss than was necessary.

Saving lives is of primary importance, but there are times when the only way they can be saved is by having the proper facilities to reach the upper floors, or a good hose line to stop the advance of the flames. In every case be sure that you or someone notifies the Fire Department at once, when there is a fire. This can be done either by telephone, sounding the nearest street Fire Alarm box or going to a Fire Station if it is close at hand. At night when there are not too many people awake the Fire Alarm Boxes are still on duty for just such emergencies.

The longer the delay in sending in the Fire Alarm the faster the fire will spread. What might have been a small cellar fire could develop into a complete loss.

This particular situation of delayed discovery is reason enough for every one to learn several means of escape from the upper floors of their home. If it is not discovered in its infancy, when it is found, the stairways may be cut off by fire, thus your only means of escape is cut off. Merely because you have never been confronted by such a condition, don't wait until it does happen to you. Start and plan right now how you can get out in an emergency.

With a building full of smoke and heat and with no lights to show you the way, accidents are bound to happen; they could be fatal. Plan methods of escape for the whole family now before any trouble develops. If there is anyone in the home that is sick or invalid be sure to figure a means of getting them out. If you can't get people out be sure to tell the firemen on the first piece of apparatus which arrives so that they can try and save them.

There are several inexpensive fire detectors on the market at present. These sound an alarm which is caused by the rate of rise in the room temperature. One of these located in the correct place in a home might help save both lives and property.

Do your part now and help keep Newton free of fire fatalities.

CD Firemen to Be Used At Multiple Alarm Fires

Director of Civil Defense William J. Baxter has announced that at the request of Chief John E. Corcoran of the Fire Department, and with the approval of Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, the Newton Civil Defense Auxiliary Firemen, numbering almost fifty, will in the future be available for all multiple alarms.

Chief Milton P. Young and Assistant Chiefs Allan Woodward and Philip Gilfix, called a meeting of the Auxiliar Firemen at Civil Defense headquarters recently, at which time the proposal was placed before the individual members of the Department and they vote dunanimously to participate and in the future will be on call night and day for all multiple alarm fires.

This will afford real training for the Auxiliary Firemen and, in addition, give the city the benefit of their help,

Total of Three Polio Cases

Two new cases of poliomyelitis, both non-paralytic, had their onset in Newton last week to bring the total number in the city this year to three, according to Dr. Ernest M. Morris, director of Public Health in his weekly resume of prevalence of the disease released this week.

One of the new cases, an eight-year-old West Newton boy, had its onset on August 11, and the victim is at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. The other, an 11-year-old Newton Upper Falls girl, had its onset on August 15, and the child is at the Haynes Memorial Hospital in Boston. The first case, which had its onset in July, is also non-paralytic, Dr. Morris reported.

Last year, the first case to occur here had its onset on August 27. The total number of cases reported in Massachusetts for the week ending August 15, was 32, compared with 28 in 1951.

"The prevalence is gradually spreading to more distant parts of the state," Dr. Morris reported.

Placement Tests At Day Jr. High For New Students

The Frank A. Day Junior High School will give placement tests on Friday, September 5, at 9 a.m. for all new pupils. This test is not required of seventh graders coming from Newton elementary schools.

Make-up tests for incomplete marks or for pupils who have been tutored in a subject will also be given.

The school office will be open from Tuesday, September 2, through Thursday, September 4, from 9 a.m. to noon for registration of new pupils and to issue transfers.

The school will open Monday, September 8, at 8:45 a.m. for seventh grade pupils and at 1 p.m. for eighth and ninth grade pupils.

Sing at Cathedral Of the Pines

Highland Glee Club Makes Its Annual Pilgrimage

Forty members of the Highland Glee Club of Newton made the annual pilgrimage last Sunday to the Cathedral of the Pines in West Rindge, N.H., to participate in the musical portion of the Vesper Service at 3 p.m. The Congregational service was conducted by the Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt, pastor-emeritus of the Harvard Church of Brookline. An estimated attendance of 4500 visitors heard Dr. Leavitt's sermon in a perfect setting of weather and scenery in the memorial to Lieut. Sanderson Sloane before the Mount Monadnock background.

Five anthems were sung by the Glee Club under the direction of D. Ralph MacLean, including "The Green Cathedral" by Carl Hahn, which is permitted exclusively to the Highland Club at the Cathedral. Organ accompaniments were by Bertram P. Whipple, a member of the club, who also played prelude and postlude selections.

Sons of Eliot to Preach Here

The preachers at the Community Services sponsored by the Methodist and Eliot Churches of Newton during the Sundays in August and the first Sunday in September will be "Sons of Eliot," ministers who have grown up in The Eliot Church.

The preacher this Sunday will be Rev. Howard E. Paige, minister of the First Congregational Church, Barre, Vermont. The service will be held in The Eliot Church at 10:45 o'clock.

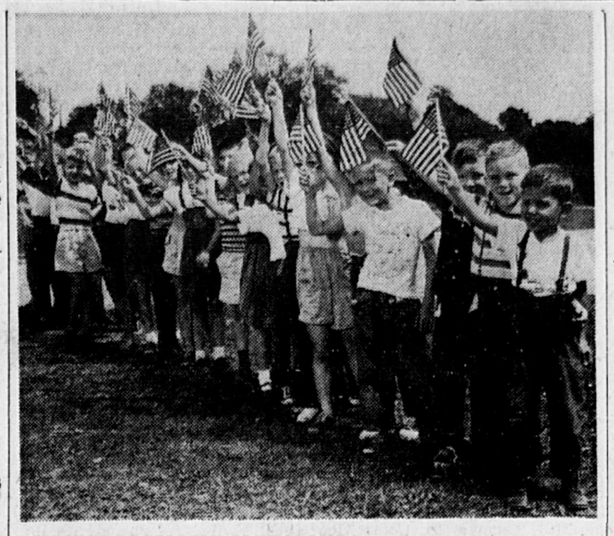

Mr. Herbert Irvine will be the organist and Miss Isabelle Conway will be the soloist.

The general public is most cordially invited to attend.

Win Scholarships To Conservatory

A Waban and a Newtonville girl have been awarded schoiarships at the New England Conservatory of Music for the 1952-53 school year, according to an announcement this week by Harrison Keller, director of the Conservatory.

Cynthia B. Fournier of 801 Chestnut street, Waban, won a Kate E. Blanchard Scholarship, while Ann Ayanglou of 84 Bowers street, Newtonville, was awarded a David W. Cushing Scholarship.

Explorer Scouts Return from 30-Day Trip to New Mexico

A group of Explorer Scouts from Newton and Wellesley returned last week from a 30-day trip to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico, filled with enthusiasm and memories of a vivid experience in real western camping life.

During their stay at the Ranch the Scouts were organized as "Wagon Train," a program which included a chuck wagon trip, horseback riding, mountain hiking, burro packing, western sports and fishing. They did their own cooking, taking turns by establishing a duty roster.

The Scouts also had a successful try at earning "Philmont Badges," a specialized type of arc-shaped badge worn along the outer rim of the coveted Philmont pocket patch. All of the Norumbega Scouts earned the Camping badge, 14 of them qualified for the Woodsman, 13 for the Sportsman Badge and 13 for the Conservation Badge; 5 got the Horsemanship Badge.

On arrival, the group, presented to the Ranch a flag of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. This flag will be available to all Massachusetts Scouts and will fly at Headquarters while they are on the trail, beside the flags of many of the other States.

The Ranch, a 130,000-acre property of the Boy Scouts of America, is located in the heart of the historic Kit Carson country. It is a scenic paradise, with vast prairies and mesas, well-timbered high mountain country, beautiful canyons and sparkling mountain streams. Animal and bird life are abundant, and part

Six Newton Men Given Sendoff

Six young men of this city, prior to induction, were given a sendoff from Selective Service Headquarters in Newtonville at 6:15 a.m., Tuesday. The sendoff ceremonies was under the chairmanship of William J. Maloney of the UVON, assisted by Elmer H. King, past commander of Thomas Burnett Camp, USWV.

Those who reported for the ceremonies were: Harold W. Brewer, 221 Langley road, Newton Centre; Donald H. Hanley, 81 Jewett street, Newton; William C Boudrot, Jr., 286 Melrose street, Auburndale; William M. Cahill, Jr., 29 Wimbledon circle, West Newton; Robert M. Walter, 6 Monroe road, Wellesley, formerly of Frederick street, Newtonville; and, Robert A. Keane, 294 Webster street, West Newton, a volunteer.

Alderman John F. Nolan, Jr., represented Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood and extended the greetings of the city to the inductees. Rabbi Harold D. Kastle of Temple Reyim, a veteran of World War II, represented the clergy. Each man was presented

North League All Stars Eliminated by 1-0 Score

Newton Hurlers Give No Hits — Two Bases on Balls, Hit Batsman and Error Gives Fall River Victory

Twelve-year-old Tommy Arrudo of Fall River struck out 17 batters and scored his own winning run as the Federal League All-Stars of Fall River eliminated the Newton North All-Stars from the Region II Little League championship tourney Tuesday night at Westwood.

A base on balls, a hit batsman, a second walk and an infield error combined in the fourth inning to give the Fall River team the victory, although pitchers Dave Seeley and Paul Gleason failed to give up a safe hit. Newton reached Arrudo for a single and a double but he was untouchable when in trouble.

The Newton North All-Stars had their chances to score, but the one big hit which would bring the runner across never materialized. Men were left on first and second in the third inning, and one runner was stranded at third through the last three frames.

The best chance Newton had to tie the count came in the sixth and last inning when Jim Fitzpatrick led off with a sharp grounder to right center that went for two bases. Dwight Rideout was sent to the plate with instructions to sacrifice Fitzpatrick to third, but he couldn't straigh out Arruda's fast serves.

Rideout struck out after trying twice to bunt. Fitzpatrick moved to third, however, when Arrudo made a wild pitch to the next batter, Billy Woodlock. Arrudo then bore down to strike out both Woodlock and David Craig on the next six pitches.

Fall River, home team at the neutral ball park, had only one fielding chance. In the fourth inning, with Rideout on second with no one out, Woodlock sent a liner to left center on which the center fielder made a nice running catch. In this inning, Rideout took third on a wild pitch but stayed put as Arrudo fanned Craig and Charlie Snider.

Advises Curb on Throat Operations

Dr. Ernest M. Morris, director of Public Health in this city reported that with polio cases being reported to the west and north of Boston, public health officials have recommended the suspension of elective throat operations on all persons residing within 15 miles of Boston.

No new cases have been reported in Newton, the number for the year remaining at one. In his weekly resume, Dr. Morris stated:

"Cases are fanning out to the west and north of Boston. The State Health Department feels that it would be well to suspend elective throat operations on all persons residing in communities within 15 miles of Boston. Moreover, it may be necessary to include next in this recommendation areas around Springfield, Worcester and Lowell."

Robert J. Guttentag Tours "French FBI" While on Training Cruise

Of the many sightseeing trips made by the 750 NROTC midshipmen aboard the battleship USS New Jersey who recently visited Paris, one of the most unusual was made by Midshipman First Class Robert J. Guttentag, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Guttentag, 26 Kenilworth street, Newton.

An avid gun collector and rifle marksman, Guttentag spent a day with ballistics experts in the Palais de Justice, which is comparable to the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"They were very nice," Guttentag said. "They took time out to show me around all their laboratories, and demonstrate how all their equipment works."

A senior English major at Harvard University, Guttentag coached the Harvard Rifle team during the past year. Previously he coached the rifle team at Belmont Hill Prep School and served as secretary of the Harvard Rifle Club.

While on liberty in Paris from Cherbourg, Guttentag also made a planned tour of the French capital with other midshipmen, visiting the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triumph, the Cathedral of Notre Dame, the palace of

Gives Ruling To Alderman Paul S. Rich

Claflin School Contract Issue Is Clarified

According to Alderman Paul S. Rich, City Solicitor Matt B. Jones has advised him that "the additional blasting cannot properly be described as additional work under the contract" at the new Claflin School on Lowell avenue, and that "the contract called for the erection of a school, including all things that are necessary to complete it in accordance with the specifications."

Alderman Rich, who was one of four aldermen recorded in opposition to the voting of an additional $95,000 for blasting rock at the new school, in a statement issued Tuesday, states:

"Having been one of the four aldermen recorded in opposition to the voting of an additional $95,000 for blasting rock at the new Claflin School, on Lowell avenue, it seems proper to bring out the following facts, especially since there has been much public discussion over the matter.

"At the time the vote was taken, the aldermen had no written opinion before them from the City Solicitor, and I proposed the matter be held until we had his written opinion. Failing this, I wrote Mr. Jones, the solicitor, and the following is a fair summary of the important aspects of the situation.

"The city solicitor advises that 'the additional blasting cannot properly be described as additional work under the contract.' He states that the contract called for the erection of a school, including all things that are necessary to complete it in accordance with the specifications. This included the driveway, under which the blasting was necessary. He adds, 'it is only when these specifications are changed that additional work is involved.'

"This, to me, seems to be the core of the whole problem. If as the solicitor advises, no change order was necessary, and, consequently, as he adds, 'I believe the Building Department was in error in requesting this additional appropriation,' meaning that it was not necessary to ask the appropriating body of the city for funds, the problem lies directly with the form and type of contract used by the city. As Alderman Anderson stated: 'It becomes a blank check.' If the contractor stays within the specifications of

Suburban Living for Business Now Realized

The office and commercial building at 66 Winchester street in Newton Highlands, is the latest addition to Newton's Miracle Row, that new business colony which has been constructed largely since the war. It extends from Boylston street southward to the Needham line and is rapidly becoming a story book illustration of "suburban living for business."

Incidentally it also appears to be a preview of the future, for the trend it represents is one fairly sweeping the country; a trend for business, large and small, to move away from the congested city centers, from the superannuated loft building in dingy industrial slums between the freight yards and the gashouse, to a bright new environment of modern daylight building, shade trees, front lawns, trim hedges, and incidentally also lower taxes, parking space all around, and a freedom from choking traffic which, like good health, is valued only by those who miss it.

That the presence of business and industry in the garden suburb need not be detrimental is adequately illustrated by Miracle Row, and more specifically by its latest addition at 66 Winchester street. It is a handsome structure with gleaming front of glazed brick and plate glass and slate, introducing a new note of architectural pretensions, hitherto unknown in suburban business. It is designed to catch the eye from a passing automobile and its appearance emphasizes individuality as a business asset. It is designed to be a landmark and also a logical step forward in that contemporary vernacular, which in this city is already articulate in the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center, striving for airiness, balance and logic of line, clearly expressing the contents.

There are approximately 48,000 square feet of floor area on three floors in the building. The ground floor is level with and accessible from Upland avenue. The first floor loading platform is accessible from Winchester street. There are four staircases and an elevator connecting the various floors, five entrances on Winchester street, and three entrances on Upland avenue. There are windows all around on four sides and plexiglass "bubbles" on the second floor ceiling providing additional daylight.

Needless to say, the construction is entirely fireproof, floors are reinforced concrete of the heavy type, suitable for shelter should they ever be needed. All interior supports are columns and the absence of interior bear-the unit price basis of the contract, no person can foretell the final approximate cost of the building. And the appropriating body of the city, planning other buildings, won't know how much will be left for other buildings.

"Alderman Ernest Angevine proposed a resolution calling for a change in this form of city contract. It was unanimously adopted. I for one hope this situation will never again confront the taxpayers of this city."

At the meeting when the subject of the appropriation was discussed, Alderman Edwin A. Terkelson, chairman of the Public Buildings Committee, delivering his committee's unfavorable report on the appropriation, said the contractor did not have permission to do extra blasting since no "change order"—altering the terms of the contract — was given to him. At that meeting Alderman Terkelson recommended "leave to withdraw" for the item, pending a study of the procedure.

At that same meeting, Board President Wendell R. Bauckman then read a note from City Solicitor Matt B. Jones stating that the contractor was within his rights in doing the extra work.

After further discussion at that time, the Board then voted 13 to 3 to issue bonds to finance the extra blasting, but it was ruled that 14 votes — two thirds of the total board were needed on a bond issue. Therefore Alderman Arthur S. Scipione changed his vote to affirmative.

After the approval was voted, the Board unanimously adopted the following resolution offered by Alderman Angevine:

"That the Board of Aldermen respectfully notify the mayor that it will make no appropriations for buildings until a new form of contract, with reference to rock excavation has been approved, and that the city solicitor study the present form to make the requested change, and that department heads make bimonthly reports to Committee chairmen on the expenditures under building contracts."

Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell pointed out that many other buildings have been erected in the city without running into the difficulties with rock that the new Claflin School contractor did. He stated that, in most building projects, funds have been turned back to the city from appropriations.

Rawson Says Arboretum Land Not to Be Acquired

ROBERT M. GAUDIN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antoine M. Gaudin of 32 Leonard street, Newtonville, is currently training at Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, Pa., in Air Force supply. He is a second lieutenant.

According to Representative George E. Rawson, no legislation has been passed to take by eminent domain a part of the land of the Arnold Arboretum, as some Newton residents have been led to believe.

"Many of my constituents have written or phoned me recently expressing great concern about a proposed plan for the Commonwealth to take by eminent domain a part of the land of the Arnold Arboretum," stated Representative Rawson. Continuing he said:

"I have found no legislation passed which authorized such a taking. The investigation made by me did show, however, that the present administration had proposed to take part of the land of the Bussey Institution and the Arboretum for a State medical center, which would comprise at the outset a state medical school and a 250 bed chronic disease hospital. Five million dollars was asked for the medical school, but that would have been a mere drop in the bucket. To set up a first class medical school would cost nearer twenty-five million dollars.

"The unfortunate experiences which we had in closing up unsatisfactory medical schools a few years ago, should convince any sensible person that we could not afford to have less than a first class medical school. It is doubtful that there are sufficient clinical facilities and enough qualified teachers available in Massachusetts for more than our three present Class A medical schools. Competent medical authorities say we do not need any more medical schools here anyway. We tried to kill the Medical School Bill in the House but lacked the votes. The Senate, however, did kill it.

"It has been suggested that the state build its chronic disease hospital in the vicinity of Franklin Park, where there is sufficient land available, so I am advised. However, the Federal government is giving up Murphy General Hospital in Waltham, and I am informed that the state will take that property over and operate it as its chronic disease hospital.

"That would seem to end for the present any apprehension about any taking of the Arboretum. Both the Arnold Arboretum and the Bussey Institution are precious assets of our people and administered by competent trustees as a sacred trust. They should not be taken over for any public purpose, nor should public authority interfere with them. I certainly should take a dim view of any legislation which could even covertly have such a purpose."

Rental negotiations are now in progress. One thing is clear and that is that the new building and what it typifies, fits well into the picture of Newton, the Garden City, and that the kind of city government to which we are accustomed cannot be paid for out of taxes on residences only; that Newton needs industrial and commercial development, of the style which is not a detriment but an addition to gracious living which only the Garden City can provide.

Holmes' Entries Revere Favorites

The Ray E. Holmes entries of Cinderella Lady and Southern Lassie stand out as favorites in the quarter-finals of the $10,000 Juvenile Stakes now being run at Wonderland, Revere. These two puppies, daughters of the great Lucky Pilot who still holds the world's championship over the 5/16 mile route, have run the course in 31 3/10 seconds, only 4/5 seconds off the world record mark of their illustrious sire.

In recent schoolings these two greyhound youngsters look like champions in their style of racing. They both run steady, even races with terrific drive in the stretch.

Thirty-two entries make up this field of juveniles. All races are run over the 5/16 mile course or 550 yards.

One of Best Field Days In Years Held at Waban

A full program of events was participated in by 150 children from the Angier and Richardson playgrounds last Thursday in what was termed "one of the best" Waban field days in recent years.

Contests were conducted under the supervision of John B. Dacey of the Newton Recreation Department, and prizes were presented by Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson.

James Price and Robert Libbey were winners of the horseshoe tournament doubles. Place winners in the dash for boys under 10 were Philip Pheifer, David Parsons and Richard Mullen, and in the dash for boys from 11 to 14, Vincent Cooney, Hugh Lordan and John Hawksley. Winners in the dash for older boys were Donald Lane, Robert Barkman and Robert Libbey.

Prize winners in the scavenger hunt were Gerald Harkins, Robert Maguire, Bruce Williams, Martin Richmond, Stephen Richmond and Peter Maloney.

In girls' sports, the first three places in the dash for girls under 10 were taken by Roxie Sanderson, Virginia Jones and Ardie Miller, and in the dash for older girls, Fay Bachner, Barbara Adolph and Pauline Kimball.

Reginald Parsons, Robert Barkman and Vincent Cooney took first places in the race for bicycles with balloon tires, while Robert Libbey, Raymond Roberts and John Hawksley won prizes in the race for English-type bikes. Honors in the girls' bicycle race were taken by Barbara Adolph, Roxie Sanderson and Virginia Jones.

The baseball-hitting contest with a fungo bat was won by Robert Lowman, with Charles Pierson and Donald Lane as runners-up. Charles Pierson, Donald Lane and Robert Lowman won honors in the baseball throw for boys over 14, while Richard Stedt, Hugh Lordan and Thomas Stephens won a similar contest for younger boys.

Winners of the boys' baseball throw for accuracy were Reginald Parsons, Hugh Lordan and James Price, and speediest runners on the bases were judged to be Donald Lane, Charles Pierson and Reginald Parsons.

Fay Bachner took first place in the baseball throw for girls. Pauline Kimball and Paul Dubrow were runners-up.

Pfc. William Ryan, 22, of West Newton, Killed in Korea Battle for 'Old Baldy'

A 22-year-old West Newton soldier, believed to be engaged in the see-saw battle for the rocky Korean mountain nicknamed Old Baldy, was officially reported as killed in action last week.

According to a letter received by his parents from the Adjutant General, Pfc. William J. Ryan of 251 Webster street was killed on August 1. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ryan, received a telegram of notification Monday, August 11, with the letter following later in the week.

The letter did not indicate what action Pfc. Ryan was engaged in, but letters to his friends and parents indicated that he was near the site of Old Baldy.

Enlisting in the Army in January of 1951, he was assigned to cooks and bakers school at Ft. Dix, N. J., after completing basic training. Pfc. Ryan was sent to Japan of February 66 of this year and was transferred to Korea almost immediately.

In Korea, he served with A Company, 1st Battalion, 23rd Regiment.

A 1948 graduate of Newton High School, he was employed by a Watertown steel company and the E. C. Hilliard Corporation of Newton Corner before entering the service.

Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, Richard, 19, and Robert, 5; and a sister, Cecile, 14. His father is employed by the Newton Street Department.

No funeral plans have been made.

Open Headquarters for Cong. John F. Kennedy

—o—

John F. Kennedy, Congressman from the 11th District, and candidate for U. S. Senator, announced today the appointment of former Alderman James E. Murphy as Secretary of the Kennedy for U. S. Senate Committee in Newton. Headquarters of the Committee are located at 32 Union street, Newton Centre.

In accepting the appointment, Mr. Murphy said that the Kennedy Committee will work to insure the election of Congressman John F. Kennedy to the U. S. Senate. He declared that Congressman Kennedy is the type of man who should be representing Massachusetts in the Senate particularly because of his interest in foreign policy. He said that as early as January 25, 1949 on the floor of the House Kennedy sharply attacked the China policy of the United States. He was one of the first members of Congress and one of the very few Democrats who pointed out the dangers of softness in our China policy. On May 9, 1951, Kennedy introduced a bill to ban the shipment of materials of war either to Red China directly or indirectly through Hong Kong.

Mr. Murphy also stated that in the summer of 1951, Kennedy became convinced that there was waste in our foreign aid spending and on Aug. 17, 1951, Kennedy voted for a cut of $350 million in economic aid to Europe during the debate on the 1951 Mutual Security Bill.

Mr. Murphy invites all those who are interested in furthering the candidacy of Congressman Kennedy to the U. S. Senate to contact him at BIgelow 4-6802 or drop in at the Committee headquarters in Newton Centre.

A Message to Youth

Figures gathered in Washington show that an unusually large number of school children are working this Summer.

That is one of the results of the increased demand for workers in defense plants. If boys and girls cannot fill such jobs they can replace older people who enter such employment.

The situation has school authorities greatly worried as to what the High School enrollment will have shrunk to by the time classes are resumed after Labor Day. There is no denying that the lure of jobs with good pay checks can be more attractive than the class room. Also, rising costs of living will have their effect on parents who ordinarily want their boys and girls to acquire educations but who welcome the financial aid that the earnings of sons and daughters represent.

But the future must be given consideration. Mothers and fathers who want their children to have as many advantages as possible in the complicated years ahead should make every effort to see that they return to classes, especially those of High School age.

It has been pointed out that a High School education is an asset easily carried around and an exceedingly valuable one. It is the foundation of good technical training. Most apprenticeships require it. The better technological institutions demand it and the Armed Forces want it. Education fits its possessor for a better paying job and a career. It makes of him a better citizen who can play an important part in our economy.

Mothers and fathers—see to it that your children return to their classes. Employers—encourage your young workers to take advantage of the opportunity to acquire education, even as you would have your own children do.

Boys and girls—remember this. It is far easier to go along with your class than to try to catch up with it later. Will that Summer job look as good five years from now?

Pres. Truman Taking Back Seat in Campaign: Auditor Buckley Out of Step With Party

President Truman, whose temper has an extremely low boiling point, is anything but pleased with the attitude of Governor Adlai Stevenson, but for once Mr. Truman is confronted with a situation about which he can do nothing except cover his disgruntlment with a smile and a cheerful front.

The President is stuck with Adlai. He has no alternative but to go down the line with the Democratic nominee and do what the latter asks or tells him to do. He can't even sit down and write a letter when his feelings are bruised.

The only way President Truman can save his own face is to conceal completely his dissatisfaction and put on a big show of campaigning for the election of the man his party has chosen to succeed him in the White House.

If Robert A. Taft is "Mr. Republican," then Harry S. Truman must be considered "Mr. Democrat," and irrespective of what Adlai says or does, the President must accept it with a smile and go through the motions of bending his shoulder to the party wheel.

Stevenson can veto plans for a Truman whistlestop campaign tour. He can concede indirectly in a letter that affairs in Washington are "in a mess" and that if he's elected he can be depended upon to clean them up. He doesn't have to worry about hurting the feelings of President Truman. There's no place else for Mr. T. to go except on the Stevenson bandwagon.

President Truman helped to bring about the nomination of Governor Stevenson. His motives and whether he did so willingly or as a matter of political necessity are of no particular consequence now.

The fact is that the President went along with the other Democratic leaders who threw their weight behind Stevenson. He instructed his alternate in the Missouri delegation to vote for the Illinois Governor, and it gave quite a boost to the latter's candidacy, or non-candidacy, depending on how you look at it, when the Democratic national convention was told that Stevenson was Mr. Truman's choice.

Possibly the President considered that Stevenson was the only candidate he could back. He disliked Kefauver. Barkley had taken himself out of the race. Harriman, Russell and Kerr had no real chance of achieving the nomination.

So Mr. Truman rode along with the Stevenson movement, and if he is now learning things he doesn't like about the Democratic standard-bearer, that's one of the political risks of drafting a reluctant candidate who wasn't compelled to declare or commit himself on anything before the nomination was dropped into his lap.

There always is the danger, of course, that Stevenson may alienate some Truman supporters and that his political independence may cost him votes before this campaign has run its course. President Truman has to tag along in whatever role is assigned him, but it also is a fact that the President has a greater appeal for some elements of the Democratic party than does Stevenson. They might not like Adlai's treatment of Harry.

State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley demonstrated quite plainly by his recent report, urging that the MTA trustees be fired in a body, that he will be running independently in the coming State election and not as a part of the Democratic "team."

Governor Dever emphasized repeatedly during the 1950 election that the members of the Democratic State ticket were one harmonious and happy family. It will be interesting to see if he advances a similar claim in the coming campaign.

There have been numerous signs of friction between Buckley and the Democratic administration. The auditor was passed over when the State-wide slate of delegates to the Democratic national convention was selected, and he subsequently declined to accept a place as a district delegate. He didn't go to the convention at all, and after what happened there he's probably just as well satisfied he didn't.

Needless to say, Buckley's vigorous criticism of the MTA trustees and his recommendation that they all be given the heaveho did nothing to endear him to the Dever administration or to bridge the already existing breach.

This was not the first critical report Buckley has issued concerning phases of the Dever administration, but it is the one likely to receive the most attention from Republican campaigners.

Whatever else Auditor Buckley's MTA report may be, it appears that it stands as his declaration of political independence.

* * * *

The new law requiring that candidates for State-wide offices file 2500 signatures on their nomination papers appears to have weeded out some of the stooge contenders and stalking horse candidates who cluttered up the ballot in recent years.

This is the first time since 1946 that a Republican candidate for Governor has been unopposed in a G.O.P. primary, and supporters of Congressman Christian A. Herter are viewing that as a healthy omen.

Double Ring Service for Miss Geyer, Mr. Hallet

St. Bernard's Church in West Newton was the scene of the recent double ring ceremony at which Miss Bernice Clair Geyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. McGough of 21 Washington terrace, Newtonville, became the bride of Mr. Edwin W. Hallett, U.S.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry George Hallet of 1419 Washington street, West Newton.

White gladioli adorned the altar for the service, which was performed by Rev. Robert E. Brennan. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown fashioned with a lace bodice over satin, a nylon tulle yoke and a bouffant satin skirt teminating in a long train. She wore pearls belonging to her grandmother, for whom she is named. Her fingertip veil of white lace and nylon net was attached to a rolled headband caught with seed pearls, and her Colonial bouquet combined white carnations with glamelias.

As matron of honor for her sister, Mrs. William G. Pillow wore a pink taffeta gown with an embroidered white nylon net over skirt and a matching lace picture hat and mitts. As bridesmaids, Miss Janet A. Geyer, sister of the bride, and Miss Ethelyn T. Hallet, sister of the bridegroom, were similarly gowned in ballerina-length embroidered nylon net over aqua taffeta with matching lace hats and mitts. Glamelias, asters and daisies were mixed in their Colonial bouquets.

Wearing a hoop-skirted gown of aqua taffeta with a matching lace hat was the little flower girl, Miss Linda E. McGough, sister of the bride, Her Colonial bouquet of glamelias, asters and daisies was tied with pink streamers.

Serving as best man was Mr. Frederick W. Shaw, Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, while another brother-in-law, Mr. Richard Moan, and Pvt. Roy Boudreau ushered. Mr. J. Arthur Colburn was at the organ.

Among those assisting in receiving guests from New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland, were the mothers of the bridal couple, Mrs. McGough wearing an aqua lace and tissue faille gown with a floral headpiece and a corsage of peach glamelias, and Mrs. Hallet gowned in powder blue lace and crepe with a matching hat and a corsage of tea roses.

Mrs. H. Murray Malcolm, Mrs. Frederick Shaw, Jr., and Mrs. Lillian W. Reilly were among those who assisted in serving the guests. The bride's three-tiered cake was cut with an heirloom silver knife belonging to the bridegroom's mother.

Upon returning from their wedding trip through New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont and Canada, the bridegroom will report for assignment to Germany. Both he and Mrs. Hallet are graduates of Newton high school.

Pretty Ceremony Unites Miss Hare And David Cabot

The Newtonville Methodist Church was the scene on Saturday, August 9, of the 4 o'clock ceremony at which Miss Mattie-Lou Hare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Hare of 34 Highland avenue, Newtonville, became the bride of Mr. David Cabot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cabot of Avondale, Westerly, R. I.

White gladioli adorned the altar for the double ring service, which was performed by Rev. Hamilton Gifford of the Newtonville Methodist Church and Rev. Vivian Pomeroy of the First Parish Church, Milton, who had married the bridegroom's parents 30 years ago. A reception followed in the garden at the home of the bride's parents.

Wearing a gown of white embroidered organdy fashioned with a long train, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her fingertip-length veil was of illusion, and her bouquet combined white feathered carnations with baby orchids. Her sister, Miss Barbara Evelyn Hare, as maid of honor, wore a ballerina-length blue embroidered organdy dress, and carried a white fan decorated with white gladioli and blue delphinium.

The bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Herbin of Jamaica, N. Y., Miss Joyce Tetreault of Whittinsville and Miss Nancy Jane Fredrickson of Joliet, Ill., a cousin of the bride. They were gowned alike in pink embroidered organdy and carried fans trimmed with pink flowers.

The bridegroom's cousins, Rebecca Wilson of Narragansett, R. I., and Judith Field of Milton, were flower girls, wearing yellow organdy frocks and carrying baskets of rose petals.

The bridegroom had his father as his best man. The ushers included a cousin, Mr. Spencer Field of Milton; an uncle, Mr. Nelson Cabot of Little Compton, R. I., Mr. Phillip Baker of Westerly, R. I.; Mr. Thayer Fremont-Smith of Boston; Mr. Robert Morrison of Milton; and Mr. Henry Horner of Newcastle, N. H.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hare chose a dress of aqua organza with a white hat and accessories and a corsage of yellow coin orchids.

Mrs. Cabot, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in a dress of tan and white tissue taffeta with a brown hat and accessories. Her corsage was of yellow coin orchids, also.

The bride was graduated from Newton high school and the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing, Class of 1952. Mr. Cabot is a graduate of Milton Academy, Class of 1949, and is a member of the Class of 1953 at Harvard University, where he is on the hockey team, has been a cheer leader, and is a member of the Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770.

Upon returning from a cruise on the bridegroom's yawl, "Suva", the newlyweds will make their home at 922 Beacon street, Boston.

Out-of-state guests at the wedding included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Bessie Rahmeyer of Kewanee, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Currier, Robert Currier, Jr., Karen-Sue Currier and Donald Currier, all of Kewanee, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Frederickson, and daughter, Nancy Jane, of Joliet, Ill.

Miss Burgess Becomes Bride Of Mr. Demmons

—o—

Miss Marguerite Burgess, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Burgess of Waltham, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence Demmons of Newtonville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Demmons, at a recent 3 o'clock ceremony in St. Joseph's Church, Waltham.

Pink gladioli decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Victor Gauthier.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John E. Burgess of Waltham, the bride wore a pretty white ballerina gown styled with a lace bodice and a skirt of tulle over taffeta. Her Juliet cap held in place a shoulder-length veil of tulle, and she carried a bouquet of white tea roses and orchids.

Mrs. Doris Forcier of Waltham, maid of honor and sister of the groom, chose an orchid gown fashioned with a lace bodice and tulle over taffeta skirt. Her bonnet-style hat was of a matching shade and had a shoulder-length veil.

Serving as best man for his brother-in-law was Mr. Norman Forcier of Waltham.

Auburndale Church Is Scene Of Heymann-Roquemore Wedding

At a four o'clock ceremony in the Church of the Messiah (Episcopal), Auburndale, on Saturday afternoon, Miss Jeanne Dupree Roquemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dupree Roquemore of 18 Sewall street, West Newton, became the bride of Mr. Hans Heymann of Cambridge, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Bernhard Heymann of Leverkusen, Germany.

A wreath of wax orange blossoms worn by the bride's grandmother and mother at their weddings held in place her tulle veil, and she wore a lovely gown of white embroidered Swiss organdy and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley, stephanotis and ivy with pale pink orchids in the center.

Rev. Frederick W. Rapp officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the garden at the home of the brides' parents. Mr. Roquemore gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. C. Webb Williams of Augusta, Ga., was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids included: Miss Elizabeth Robinson of Hartford, Ct.; Miss Fay Grandberg of Newton; and Mrs. Ralph H. Bender of Chestnut Hill. They were gowned alike in pale lavender, gladioli and ivy.

The best man was Prof. Louis F. Fieser of of Belmont, and the ushers, headed by the bride's brother, Mr. Richard D. Roquemore, Jr., of West Newton, were Dr. Walter J. Rosenfelder of London, England, and Dr. Bernt Witkop of Washington, D. C.

The bride was graduated from the Anna Head School, Berkeley, Calif., and from Wellesley College in 1951. The bridegroom attended the University of Munich and received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University. He is a research chemist and has made contributions to anti-malarials and steroids, including cortisone. After a wedding trip to the Cape Breton Islands, Nova Scotia, they will live at 48 Irving street, Cambridge.

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anzivino of 996 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice A. Anzivino, to Mr. John W. Coppinger, son of Mrs. Edward A. Coppinger of 589 Highland avenue, Needham Heights, and the late Mr. Coppinger. A fall wedding is planned.

Miss Janet Haus Wed To Mr. Curtis Mosher, Jr.

Wearing a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin with a fingertip veil of illusion caught to a matching cap of lace and seed pearls, Miss Janet Katharine Haus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Haus of Manhasset, L. I., became the bride on Saturday of Mr. Curtis Howard Mosher, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis H. Mosher of 40 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis. Rev. George G. Parker performed the ceremony, which took place in the Congregational Church, Manhasset. A reception followed in the ballroom of the Garden City Hotel, Garden City, N. Y.

Acting as maid of honor was Miss Sheila McErlean of Manhasset, who wore a turquoise blue nylon marquisette over taffeta gown. The bridesmaids, similarly gowned in rust color, were Mrs. Robert Perkins of Newton Centre, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Joan Ericson of Brattleboro, Vt., Miss Marion Cabble of Manhasset, and Mrs. William Stiles of New York city. They all carried cascades of chrysanthemum daisies and miniature ivy.

Lt. Richard Stacy of Newtonville served as best man, while ushers included Mr. Harvey Winchester of Newton Centre, Mr. William Stiles of New York city, Mr. William Murray of Montpelier, Vt., and Mr. Richard Haus, brother of the bride.

The bride and bridegroom were graduated from the University of Vermont. Following a wedding trip to Havana, Mr. and Mrs. Mosher will make their home in Boston.

Nuptial Mass For Miss Barrett, Mr. Harry J. Scheibel

—o—

White gladioli adorned the altar of the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, for the 10 o'clock nuptial mass at which Miss Katherine Ann Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John William Barrett of 1593 Centre street, Newton Highlands, became the bride of Mr. Harry John Scheibel, son of Mrs. Harry J. Scheibel of Temple City, Calif. Rev. Edmund I. Mullen, cousin of the bride, officiated at the service, which took place on Saturday, August 16.

Wearing a lovely gown of white lace with a fingertip veil of net caught to a little Dutch cap, and carrying a prayer book with an orchid, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Jean Barrett of Newton Highlands, maid of honor and sister of the bride, was gowned in pink net and lace and carried a bouquet of delphinium and gladioli.

M.r Francis X. Mahoney of Needham served as best man for the bridegroom, while Mr. Louis Mullen of Newton Highlands and Mr. Jay Carroll of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., ushered.

A reception followed at The Meadows, Framingham, after which the young couple left for a honeymoon trip through New England. Their future residence will be in Pasadena, Calif.

Miss Brewster Becomes Bride Of Dr. Robert B. Eleazer, Jr.

The marriage of Miss Nancy Brewster, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Howell Brewster of 44 Concolor avenue, Newton, to Dr. Robert Benedict Eleazer, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Benedict Eleazer of Orangeburg, S. C., took place recently in Trinity Church, Newton Centre, with Rev. Howard Dunbar officiating.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gowned in ballerina-length white lace with a fingertip veil caught to a white lace cap, and carried two white orchids on a prayer book.

Miss Wilma Eleazer, the maid of honor, wore a pink lace ballerina-length gown and carried an old fashioned nosegay of white roses with pink maline.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brewster was attired in a dress of navy blue pleated crepe.

Mr. William Eleazer served as best man, and Mr. Albert H. Brewster, Jr., ushered. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Upon returning from a honeymoon in New York city and Virginia, the couple will take up residence in Orangeburg, S. C.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Eleazer were graduated from the University of Georgia, and the bridegroom was also graduated from the Emory School of Dentistry.

Miss Hubley Becomes Bride Of Lt. Meyer

Dr. and Mrs. Richard S. Tefft, Jr., of Newton Center announce the marriage of Miss Jean Ruth Hubley to Lt. Richard H. Meyer, Jr., U. S. Army.

Following the ceremony on August 9 in Lakeside Chapel, Cloverdale, N. Y., a reception was held at "The Knoll," Cloverdale summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Tefft.

Lt. Meyer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Meyer of Roslyn Heights, L. I., N. Y.

Miss Gilbert, Mr. Pinkham Wed At Longmeadow Church

Miss Elizabeth Gilbert, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Gilbert of Longmeadow, was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon Sanborn Pinkham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Pinkham of 27 Samoset road, Waban, at a recent ceremony in Christ Church Cathedral, Longmeadow.

Rev. Merritt F. Williams officiated at the service, which was followed by a reception at the Colony Club.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a lovely dress of white slipper satin, fashioned with basque bodice and off-the-shoulder marquisette yoke embroidered with seed pearls, and a full gathered skirt that terminated in a court train. A full length three-tiered veil of imported illusion was caught to a coronet of pearls and she carried a bouquet of double white delphinium centered with pale green and white orchids.

Mrs. William E. Van Brunt, of Buffalo, New York, and Mrs. Richard C. Marquardt of Cincinnati, O., sisters of the bride, were matrons of honor. The other attendants were Miss Jean Colby, of Longmeadow. Mrs. Edmund E. Friedrich of Springfield, Mrs. Todd Lofton of Holyoke, Mass., and Mrs. Clark Morrison III of Watertown, N. Y.

Jennifer Van Brunt, niece of the bride, was flower girl. The attendants were gowned alike in ballerina length nile green starched chiffon cross-barred in white satin with green taffeta sashes. They wore imported natural straw picture hats with brims embroidered in multi-colored rosebuds and carried matching baskets filled with mixed garden flowers. The flower girl wore French organdy over green taffeta with white organdy hat and carried a basket of garden flowers.

Serving as best man was Mr. Stuart L. Craig of New York, while those ushering included: Hobart B. Emerson, Jr. of Wellesley Hills and Charles D. Switzer of Hingham, Mass., and William F. Christgau, Donald E. Cummings, Robert C. Ferguson and John L. Kelsey, all of New York.

Mrs. Pinkham, a member of the Junior League of Springfield, is a graduate of Penn Hall Junior College in Chambersburg, Penn., and Western College for Women in Oxford, O.

Mr. Pinkham graduated from Loomis School in Windsor, Conn., and Dartmouth College where he was a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He served 3 years in the Pacific Theatre in World War II.

JIMMY FITZPATRICK, heavy hitting pitcher of the Newton North Little League All Stars, shown crossing home plate after hitting the first of his two home runs in the game last Saturday at Woburn as the local lads defeated the West Lynn All Stars 10 to 0 for the Greater Boston title.

North All Stars Win Greater Boston L. L. Title By Defeating West Lynn

The Newton North Little League All Stars were led to another championship last Saturday by their heavy hitting pitcher Jim Fitzpatrick who pitched two hit ball and hit two home runs to account for five runs in defeating the West Lynn All Stars 10 to 0 for the Greater Boston Little League title at Woburn.

The victory puts the Newton team in the regional tournament for the honor of representing this section of the country in the Little League World Series if they win their next two games. The next game for the Eastern Mass. — Rhode Island championship will be played against the Fall River All Stars on Tuesday at Westwood. If Newton wins this game they will play the winner of the Pittsfield, western Mass. champs, and Norwalk, Connecticut champs, game for the privilege of going to Williamsport, Pa. for the World Series.

Newton started off with a bang Saturday with leadoff batter Bobby Calvert smashing a single to center field and stealing second base. Dave Seeley struck out and Fitzpatrick was hit by a pitched ball. Dwight Rideout reached on a base on balls. Billy Woodlock singled to score Calvert and Fitzpatrick. Dave Craig reached on a fielder's choice while Rideout went out at third on the play. Charlie Snider waited out a base on balls and Ronnie O'Loughlin grounded to the shortstop for the third out.

In the second inning Pete Thompson singled and went to second on a wild pitch. Calvert bunted down the third base line and beat out the throw while Thompson went to third. Both Calvert and Thompson later scored on passed balls. Dave Seeley walked and Jim Fitzpatrick scored him with his first home run. This gave the Newtonites a comfortable 6 to 0 lead and the score remained that way until the sixth when the Newton North lads started another rally.

Jim Yancey replaced Pete Thompson and struck out. Dave Crosby batted for Calvert and doubled to right center and advanced to third on a wild pitch. Dave Seeley walked and stole second. Jim Fitzpatrick then exploded a 300 foot homer over the center field fence to bring in Crosby and Seeley. Rideout reached on an error by the right fielder. Two singles by Woodlock and Sandy DeNucci who batted for Craig loaded the bases. Charlie Snider walked to force in the tenth run and the Newton lads were content to let the score stand at that figure. In all they had accounted for 11 hits with 2 home runs and 2 doubles, a most successful afternoon.

Falvey Candidate For Nomination To Gov. Council

Donald B. Falvey of 23 Springfield street, Belmont, announces that he is a candidate for Governor's Councillor in the third district.

The candidate in the last Presidential election of the Democratic party he is seeking renomination as the Democratic nominee. He was recently elected to a second term as chairman of the Democratic Town Committee. Mr. Falvey is a town meeting representative serving his second term. legislature.

"I am asking the opportunity to again be the Democratic nominee in the coming September 16 primary for Governor's Councillor. This district has never had a Democratic Governor's Councillor. As a former nominee I came closer to election and polled more votes than any other Democratic nominee in the history of this councillor district. I would like to submit my candidacy for this renomination."

GOP Sponsor Moonlight Sail

Voters in all parts of Massachusetts interested in Republican victory at the polls in September and November were invited to get aboard the 1952 moonlight sail of the Republican Party to be held Wednesday evening, August 27, it was announced today.

Sponsored by leading Republican organizations throughout the State, the "1952 G.O.P. Victory Cruise" aboard the Boston Belle leaves from Boston's Rowes Wharf, 370 Atlantic avenue, Boston, at 8:45 p.m. a week from today.

All candidates indorsed by the Republicans for state-wide offices will be aboard. They are: U.S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., seeking re-election to the U.S. Senate; Congressman Christian A. Herter, candidate for Governor; State Senator Sumner Whittier, for Lieutenant-Governor; Roy C. Papalia, for State Treasurer; Mrs. Beatrice Hancock Mullaney, for Secretary of State; David J. Mintz, for State Auditor, and former Assistant Attorney-General George Fingold, for Attorney-General.

Office Workers Sought By Navy For Washington

Stenographers or typists who will be seeking employment or change of jobs in September are invited to contact the Navy Civilian Office at Room 906, Post Office Building, Boston, for information about jobs in Navy Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

These positions, under Civil Service, have beginning salaries of $245 and $265 a month, with increases for each year of service. The pay is based on a 5-day week with eight legal holidays a year.

Examinations for the jobs consist of a 10-minute typing test plus a 20-minute clerical test. There is an additional test for stenographers of three minutes of dictation at 80 words a minute.

Among the advantages of the jobs, according to the announcement, are guaranteed housing upon arrival in Washington and assistance in finding permanent housing, recreation programs, special training courses, credit associations, non-profit cafeterias and many other services.

Interviews are being conducted Monday through Friday, and on Saturday by appointment, at the Navy Civilian Office. Further information may be obtained by calling LIberty 2-5600.

Local Resident Transferred to Atlanta, Georgia

—o—

P. Burton McKenney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. McKenney of 19 Adams avenue, West Newton, has been transferred from the Boston office of the Liberty Mutual Fire Insurance Company to Atlanta, Georgia.

The local man has been active in the Waltham and Newton Republican Clubs, the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Boston University Lodge of Masons.

Hailer Urges That Congress Be Called In Special Session

—o—

City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer Jr., of Roslindale, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Tenth Congressional District, today lauded Representative John Kennedy's call for a special session of Congress to stop inflation.

Hailer, who is also a member of the Boston City Council, urged President Truman to call a special session immediately, "to prevent the price and rent spiral which is hurting middle-income groups, labor, and businessmen alike, and wrecking our defense program."

"Each 1 per cent price rise adds two billion dollars to the cost of living for consumers, and 800 million dollars to the expenses of the federal government. In effect, it means that 800 million dollars in arms and equipment needed by our armed services is lost, or must be met by higher taxes on the American people, particularly on middle-income and low-income groups."

Hailer further added, "We can meet this crisis only by calling Congress back into session to pass the adequate price legislation which they failed to pass in June. This would include controls on fruit and vegetables—which are now uncontrolled, and can go sky-high, with the present drought—curbs on credit, which can be used if needed, and the restoration of funds to pay the salaries of OPS officials. The OPS can hardly be expected to do a good job when over 50 per cent of its staff will have to be fired, under present legislation."

Councillor Hailer has served two terms in the General Court, and was elected to the Plan A City Council by a large city-wide vote. This is his first campaign for federal office; he is running in the congressional district which includes Back Bay, Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, Roslindale, West Roxbury, part of Allston-Brighton, Brookline, and Newton.

Scholarship Awarded to Miss Dragon

A Newton resident, Miss Phyllis C. Dragon of 146 Jewett street, has been awarded a scholarship to cover postgraduate study in medical social work under a training program for which $700,000 has thus far been granted by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, it was announced this week by John D. Kelley, chairman of Middlesex County Chapter of the March of Dimes organization.

Medical social workers, Mr. Kelley said, are as important in the care of the patient with infantile paralysis as they are with many other types of illness. There is a very real shortage of such trained workers. Consequently, grants made by the National Foundation to finance its medical social work scholarship program are performing a definite service in helping to meet the acute need for properly trained personnel in this field.

Miss Dragon is one of 440 residents to receive a scholarship under the program upon recommendation of a national professional committee. She is studying at Boston University, one of 24 schools of social work throughout the country offering medical social work curricula approved by the American Association of Medical Social Workers.

Joanne Ewer, Mr. Heckman Are Engaged

—o—

The betrothal of Miss Joanne Ewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Ewer of Waban and Centerville, to Mr. Philip E. Heckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Heckman of Waban, was announced this week.

Miss Ewer attended the Hickox Secretarial School and the Longy School of Music.

Mr. Heckman was graduated from Harvard College, where he was a member of the Speaker's Club, and from Boston University School of Law, where he belonged to Delta Theta Phi law fraternity. He served with the United States Maritime Service during World War 2.

A fall wedding is planned.

Miss Mary Allen Engaged To Wed Vincent Tuscher

—o—

At a recent Long Island, N. Y., family party, the engagement of Miss Mary Alys Allen of 273 Lexington street, Auburndale, daughter of Mrs. Alys Stringer Allen of Bloomfield, N. J., and of Mr. John F. Allen of Providence, R. I., to Mr. Vincent J. Tuscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tuscher of 301 Lexington street, Auburndale, was announced by Mrs. Allen.

A graduate of Newton high school and Mount Ida Junior College, the future bride was formerly affiliated with a Boston retail sales concern and is at present connected with a Greater Boston electronics firm.

Mr. Tuscher is the director of public relations for a Greater Boston employees' group. He was graduated from Newton high school and attended Boston journalism schools. An Army veteran of four years in World War II, he was twice decorated by the Belgian government.

He is a former member of the 182nd Infantry, Massachusetts National Guard; an inactive member of the 102nd Fighter Wing, Massachusetts Air National Guard; a charter member of Boston Chapter, American Newspaper Guild; a charter member and former officer of the Lt. Stanton M. Amesbury Post, V. F. W., and a member of the Veteran Motor Car Club of America. He also served as chairman of the 1951 Waltham exercises for the opening of Route 128 and is a contributor to national and international publications.

As yet, no date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Hubert L. Carter of Otis street, Newtonville, served as chairman of a benefit summer sale held last Thursday at Mountain View, Whitefield, N. H.

This was one of two such affairs conducted to supplement the excellent work carried on year-round at the Newbury Street Shop of the New England Farm and Garden Association.

Proceeds will go toward the scholarship fund for worthy students who plan to study horticulture and allied subjects.

Newton Girl Wed, to Live In Colorado

—o—

Gaylord street in Denver, Colorado, will be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Allott (the former Miss Janet Millard), who were united in marriage at an August 1st ceremony in Boulder, Col.

The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Earl B. Millard of Newtonville, was graduated from the University of Colorado in June, 1951, and is now a graduate student at Denver University School of Social Work.

Her husband is studying at the University of Colorado Medical School.

The couple are honeymooning at the Rocky Mountains.

Marilyn Yudin Is Betrothed to Mr. Harvey Rooks

Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Yudin of Newton Center announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marilyn Ann Yudin, to Mr. Harvey Rooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rooks of Swampscott.

The future bride was graduated from Colby Junior College and plans to attend Boston University in the fall.

Mr. Rooks was graduated from Northeastern University.

As yet, no definite date has been set for the wedding.

Fall Wedding For Miss Shea, Joseph Newcomb

—o—

The engagement of Miss Ann E. Shea to Mr. Joseph Newcomb, U.S.N., son of Mrs. Lillian E. Newcomb of 541 Lexington street, Auburndale, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Shea of 30 Murray street, Waltham.

A graduate of Waltham high school and Burdett College, the future bride is a secretary at the Raytheon Manufacturing Company in Waltham.

Mr. Newcomb was graduated from Newton Trade School and is now serving as an electrician's mate aboard the Navy destroyer U.S.S. R. A. Owens.

An October wedding is planned after Mr. Newcomb's ship returns to Norfolk, Va.

Emily Badger To Wed Ensign Lynn

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mood Badger of Charleston, S.C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Emily Jean Badger, to Ensign Verne Lauriston Lynn, son of Dr. and Mrs. Eldin V. Lynn of Wellesley Hills and formerly of Auburndale.

Miss Badger is a graduate of the University of South Carolina, from which she received an A.B. degree in art. She is a member of the staff of the Charleston County Department of Public Welfare, where she is employed as a visitor.

Ensign Lynn attended schools in Newton and was graduated from Tufts College, Medford, receiving a degree in physics. At present he is serving with the United States Navy and is stationed in Charleston.

The wedding will take place in the fall.

CITY OF NEWTON PUBLIC BUILDING DEPARTMENT

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals for the construction of an elementary school on Beethoven Avenue, in the Waban District of Newton, Massachusetts, will be received by the Public Buildings Commissioner, City Hall, Newton Center 59, Massachusetts, until 2 o'clock p. m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, Wednesday, September 10, 1952, and at that place and time publicly opened and read aloud. All branches of the work will be included in the general contract.

All proposals shall be in duplicate on forms furnished by said Commissioner. One of these copies (the original) is to be submitted to the Public Buildings Commissioner, accompanied by a certified check on, or a certificate of deposit issued by a national bank or trust company in the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000) payable to and to become the property of the City of Newton if the proposal is accepted and the bidder neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of the proposal. The other copy of the proposal (without check) shall be submitted by the bidder to the Comptroller of Accounts, at Newton City Hall, 1000 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton Center 59, Massachusetts, prior to the time set for the opening of bids (as required by the Ordinance of the City of Newton, Chapter 2, Section 22).

Plans and specifications may be examined at the offices of Kilham, Hopkins, Greeley & Brodie, 9 Arlington Street, Boston, Massachusetts, after 2 p. m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, Monday, August 25, 1952, and one set thereof obtained from the Architects by each General Contractor upon the payment of $50. Additional copies for use by bidders or sub-bidders may be obtained through the Architects at cost. Any bidder, upon returning the plans, specifications and other documents in good condition will be refunded his payment, but any non-bidder will be refunded only $25. Title to all documents will remain in the City at all times.

A surety bond by a company satisfactory to the Mayor of the City of Newton, and in an amount equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of the contract price will be required from the successful bidder. The surety bond will be required by the City from the general contractor only and will cover the work of his sub-contractors.

Attention is called to the fact that minimum wage rates are established for the work and are set forth in the contract documents, in accordance with the requirements of Chapter 461, Massachusetts Acts of 1935 and that Chapter 480, Massachusetts Acts of 1939, as amended, is applicable to all bidders.

The Public Building Commissioner reserves the right to accept or to reject any proposal, and to award the contract as he may deem to be for the best interests of the City of Newton, and any contract made will be made subject to appropriations and grants to meet payment thereunder and subject to authorization to construct and allotment of controlled materials by the National Production Authority.

ARTHUR CAMPBELL,
Public Buildings Commissioner.

Former N. C. Girl Wins 'Miss New Hampshire' Crown

—o—

A former Newton Centre girl recently won the title of Miss New Hampshire for 1952 at a beauty and talent contest held in Manchester, N. H.

Barbara Temperley, 20, of Goffstown, N. H., took the title in competition with 18 other contestants. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Temperley of 150 Gibbs street, Newton Centre.

A blue-eyed, brown-haired dental hygienist, Miss Temperley was chosen the winner of the contest after a five-member board of judges deliberated more than half an hour following the finals in Manchester's "Carousel."

Miss Temperley, one of six children, attended the Boston Dental School and studied at the New England Conservatory of Music. She has had 13 years of voice training and 11 years of training in piano and organ.

Membership Tea

—o—

A membership tea and a tour of Oak Hill Park gardens will open the fall season of the Oak Hill Park Woman's Club.

The tea, to introduce new members of the club, will be held Saturday, Sept. 6, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the garden of Mrs. Charles R. Gallagher, 143 Wiswall road, Oak Hill Park, Newton Centre. Pourers will be Mrs. Frederick J. Wood, last year's club president, and Mrs. Edward M. McMahon. Mrs. William C. Hurter, chairman of the membership committee, is in charge of the tea.

On Sunday, Sept. 7, from 3 to 5 p.m., 8 Oak Hill Park gardens will be open to the public, without charge, under the sponsorship of the garden committee of the woman's club. Gardens to be exhibited are: Mrs. Henry Pollard, 149 Wiswall road, informal garden; Mrs. George J. Huberman, 6 Indian Ridge road, rustic garden; Mrs. Melvin I. Darack, 16 Considine road, divided garden; Mrs. Frederick J. Wood 131 Wiswall road, rock garden; Mrs. A. Morrison Dow, Jr., 51 Hanson road, perennials and shade trees; Mrs. Philip Harvell, 22 Nightingale path, original landscaping; Mrs. Richard P. Berry, 9 Kerr path, patio and nursery garden; Mrs. Walter E. Hurley, Jr., 43 Chinian path, fence garden.

Mrs. Kenneth F. Giracca is in charge of the garden tour, and Mrs. Melvin I. Darack is chairman of the garden committee.

Over 1000 Attend District Play Day at Hawthorn Playground

More than 1000 children and parents attended the district play day for children of Nonantum and Newtonville playgrounds last week held at the Hawthorn Playground under the supervision of the Recreation Department.

The play day was directed by Recreation Supervisors Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard and Nicholas P. Tedesco. Prizes to winners of the various events were awarded by Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson.

Feature of the day was the winning of three out of five District League championships by the Horace Mann playground. Other play areas participating in the day were the Albemarle, Boyd, Carr, Hawthorn, Stearns and Victory playgrounds.

Highlight of the costume and vehicle parade which opened the ceremonies was a "Bridal Party" staged by the Horace Mann playground. Those taking part were bride, Nancy Rideout; groom, John Fiske; preacher, David McGovern; ring bearer, Mark Civetti; bell ringer, Robert Boudreau; bridesmaid, Joyce Bartley; maids of honor, Joan DeStefano and Susan Fitzgerald; flower girl, Linda McGovern; bride's mother, Rita McClellan; groom's mother, Diane McClellan, and veil holder, Donna Hough.

First prize winners in the vehicle parade were Susan Binks, prettiest; James Feeley, Albert Beck and Rosemary Pitts, most original, and Eleanor Antonellis, patriotic.

Those taking first prizes in the costume parade were Phyllis Visco and Eileen Proia, prettiest; Nancy Turner, Geraldine Panaggio, Dana Panaggio and Rebecca Murphy, most original, and James Feeley, Judith Noonan and Lovene Noonan, funniest.

The judges were Mrs. Margaret Turbini, Mrs. Lena Rollins and Mrs. Eli Swartz.

Taking first place in the boys' dashes were David Poirier for 6 to 9-year-olds and John Tocci for 10 to 12-year olds. The Horace Mann playground team, composed of Robert Maxton, Dwight Rideout, William Woodlock, Vincent Battista and Francis Magnarelli, won the relay race for boys under 14.

Mary Olivier took first place in the 35-yard dash for girls between 9 and 11 years, and Shirley Panaggio and Mary Olivieri won the 3-legged race for 12 to 14-year-old girls.

Winners of "Pull the Lion's Tail" included Daniel MacNeil, Robert Maxton, Francis Magnarelli, Vincent Battista, Francis Lolli, Richard Sementalli, Robert Negrotti, Francis Copan, Joseph DeNucce, Anthony Scalfreta, Nicholas Lupo, Lawrence DiBona, James Murphy, Gerald Vecchione, Oliver Noonan and William Pammella.

First prizes in handiwork for the individual playgrounds went to Joseph Berrio, Cynthia Boudreau and Jeanne Boudreau, Boyd; Edward Poisson, Anita Poirier and Mary Oliveri, Carr; Lawrence Mauro and Diane Antonellis, Hawthorn; Charles Conover and Yodus McClough, Horace Mann; Ronald Austin and Patricia Scalzi, Stearns, and Anthony Proia and Anne Gudejko, Victory.

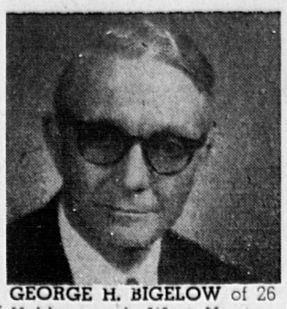

District championships were taken by the Horace Mann playground in the Boys' Midget League, Girls' Schlagball and Girls' Dodge Ball. Members of the Midget League championship were Paul Dudley, Frank Magnarelli, George Kerr, David Craig, Dwight Rideout, John McMullen, Kevin Howe, Donald Boudreau, William Woodlock, Michael Calender, David Butler, Charles Conover, Evert McLoughlin and Robert Borelli.

The schlagball champions included Elizabeth Conover, Carol Hough, Judith DeStefano, Nancy Fane, Judith McKenna, Carol Lawson, Janet Bartley, Sally McGovern and Helen McKenna.

Members of the dodge ball champions were Helen McKenna, Sally McGovern, Janet Bartley, Carol Lawson, Judith McKenna, Nancy Fane, Judith DeStefano, Carol Hough and Elizabeth Conover.

The Carr playground took first place in girls' softball with a team composed of Gina Battista, Nancy Turner, Elizabeth Farina, Alfreda Farina, Judith Landry, Gloria Constanco, Frances Russo, Geraldine Panaggio, Anita Poirier, Sally Shea, Shirley Panaggio and Mary Olivieri.

The District Boys' Junior League championship team, also from the Carr playground, was made up of Robert Del Gizzi, Russell Halloran, Joseph Charlton, Douglas Howard, Gerald Veccione, John Whist, Joseph Francione, Glen Schriburg, Fred Howard, David Faye, Robert Howard, George Relph, John

Newton Employment in Plants Over State Average for Year

Employment in Newton manufacturing establishments is up more than eight per cent while payrolls have risen 16 per cent from 1950 to June 1951, according to a bulletin released by the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

The average number of employees during June, 1951, in manufacturing plants was 7666, while the average for this June reached 8307. The increase of 641 employees represents a jump of 8.3 per cent over the year.

Newton manufacturing payrolls for the month totalled $1,917,119, a jump of $270,739 or 16 per cent over June of 1950.

These averages place Newton far ahead of the state averages for the same periods. The total number of workers in manufacturing in the state declined one per cent over the year, while the amount paid in statewide wages was only 1.9 per cent greater.

Comparing June this year with June of 1940, the bulletin pointed out that the number of manufacturing employees jumped from 3096 to 8307 over the 12-year period. Payrolls during that period leaped from $209,131 a month to $1,917,119, an increase of more than eight times the original figure. The average weekly wage statewide in 1940 was $19.48.

The bulletin also stated that the cost of living in Massachusetts as of July, compared to the 1935-39 period, had reached 178.5. Broken down into categories, the cost of living was: food, 215.9; clothing, 191.1; shelter, 129.9; fuel and light, 181.2; sundries, 154.5.

The winning run was scored as four runners reached base in succession. Following Tony Correia's strikeout, Arruda walked on a 3-1 pitch. Johnnie O'Brien was grazed in the midsection by Seeley's next pitch, and then second baseman Roger Mello also walked on a 3-1 serve to fill the bases.

After Seeley ran the count on Jackie Quinn to 2-1, Gleason came in to finish pitching to the batter. The count went to 3-2, and Quinn hit a slow grounder to shore with the fielders playing in for a force at the plate. Woodlock dashed in, got the ball in his glove, but his knee struck the glove and the ball popped out. By the time he had retrieved it, all the runners were safe.

Gleason bore down to strike out the next two batters, but the damage had been done.

Fall River learned to respect the strong throwing arm of catcher Charlie Snider in the first inning when Parent was nearly nabbed off first base. Snider's rifle peg forced him to slide back to the bag, and from then on the runners stayed close to the bases.

Newton North learned in the fourth inning that their best chance to score was by running the bases against the weak-throwing Jackie Quinn. In that frame, Rideout stole second as the catcher's throw sailed high over the bag into center field.

In the fifth inning, Bobby Calvert was sent in to run for right fielder Peter Thompson and he set sail for second on the first pitch. Again the throw was high and he stole the base.

Reaching second and third was fairly easy for the Newton runners, but coming home against Arruda's pitching was another story. The youngster seemed to have every pitch in the book, as well as the control to put the ball just where he wanted. Seventeen strikeouts is good pitching in any league.

The play of the game was made by Newton North shortstop Billy Woodlock in the last of the second when, with a runner on first, Ronnie Avilla drilled what looked like a sure single to center. Woodlock dashed over, caught up to the ball, stepped on second and fired to first for the only double play of the game.

Fall River, by virtue of its victory, will play the winner of the Pittsfield-Norwood, Conn., game this week for the championship of Region II.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE NEWTONS
By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

MISS MARTIE O'DONNELL, fair lady of floral designs, is pictured before her flower shop in West Newton Square.

Do you enjoy living things in your home—besides your mate, off-spring, mother-in-law and neighbors' children? Green things? When friends are invited to dinner, do you add a decorative touch to your table? Are your chic ensembles accented with a glamorous arrangement of flowers?

If the answers are yes, then you have probably already met the gal of the greens, the damsel of decor, the giver of glamour—Miss Martie O'Donnell, Newton's only lady Florist.

Tall, blond and blue-eyed, she is finishing a floral arrangement as we arrive at "Flowers by Martie" in West Newton Square. Miss Martie is standing before a long bench that holds the properties of her profession—wire, shears, parafilm, ribbons and corsage pins.

She places a gladiola here, a sprig of baby's breath there, and by the time we are comfortably seated, "voila"—Martie is holding an exquisite floral arrangement before a full-length mirror, which is her final test for all her creations.

She's seated at her desk now, looking very attractive with a camellia tucked into her long hair and wearing a pink satin smock (which she made herself) with "Flowers by Martie" crocheted on a round satin disk, like a campaign button, attached.

We think of the nursery rhyme, "Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow—" as Martie invites us

Files Bill To Wipe Out Tax Now On Savings Bank Deposits

Hearing Held On Liquor Applications

—o—

Hearings on 16 applications for a single all-liquor package goods license were held last night by the Newton Licensing Board at the City Hall, and a decision on the awarding of the license is expected by next Wednesday.

The license was made available this year after litigation over the award last year was involved in lengthy court action. The Newton Board's decision was appealed to the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission, which overruled the Newton award. This was in turn appealed to the courts, and it was 1952 before litigation was completed.

The ABC then ruled that a license applied for in 1951 cannot be issued in 1952, so the whole process must be gone through again.

The license was originally made available as a result of the 1950 census which showed a large increase in the city's population.

Rawson Calls It Deterrent To Thrift

Claims State Would Pay Less for Welfare and Old Age Assistance

—o—

A bill to wipe out a one-half per cent tax on savings bank deposits not invested in Massachusetts real estate or certain bonds has been filed by Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton with the clerk of the House of Representatives.

Rep. Rawson explained that the reason behind his filing the bill was his "determination to wipe out taxes on thrift." He pointed out that tax exemption is "a substantial means" to encourage saving and declared that the money the banks pay ini taxes could be better put to use in helping people save for "the inevitable rainy day."

The effect of the repeal, Rep. Rawson said, would be that the state would "pay less for welfare and old age assistance." He stated that there was "abundant evidence for this belief" in the last depression.

"I have filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives," Rep. Rawson said, "a bill to repeal the statute which requires savings banks to pay a one-half per cent excise tax on all deposits not invested in mortgages on Massachusetts real estate, bonds of the federal government, the commonwealth and its subdivisions, and foreclosed real estate held less than five years. This bill will come before the 1953 session of the General Court.

"I filed a similar bill, House 763, at this year's session. It was reported favorably by the Committee on Taxation. Ways and Means, however, combined it with some other tax reform bills and it was given a "quick shuffle" on the last day of the ses-

Pupils transferring from private and parochial schools to the tenth grade of the Newton High School will take placement tests to be given on Thursday, September 4, starting at 8:30 a.m. Registration for these tests should be made on Tuesday, September 2, or Wednesday, September 3, in the Guidance Office at the high school. A record of ninth-grade marks should be submitted at time of registration.

Other pupils transferring from schools outside of Newton may register on September 2, 3, 4, or 5 in the Guidance Office. Appointments for conferences about programs of study for the school year may be made by telephoning LAsell 7-6267.

'Jimmy Fund' Drive Opens Throughout City Monday

Early Copy for Next Week's Issue Is Requested

—o—

Because Labor Day will be observed Monday, The Graphic's printing plant will be closed all that day.

Consequently, advertisers and correspondents are requested to send their copy in early for publication in the September 4 issue of this paper. It will greatly facilitate matters if those who can, will send their copy in so as to reach this office tomorrow (Friday) or Saturday.

This will permit more attention being given to both advertising and news and will better insure insertion in the September 4 issue.

Newton Junior College to Open Its Seventh Year This Monday

Newton Junior College will begin its seventh year in September with an enrollment of around 100 students from Newton and surrounding communities. The Director of the college points out that this institution, operated under the auspices of the School Committee, is unique in all of New England. The public Junior College offers two years of education beyond high school graduation. It attempts to serve all high school graduates, whether they seek simply one or more additional years of education and specialized training, or whether they intend to transfer later to a four-year college .

Certain of the young men and women in the student body of 1952-1953 will do most of their work in various subjects of the Liberal Arts and Sciences; some of these will be preparing to be lawyers, nurses, laboratory technicians or engineering technicians. Many others will concentrate their work in Business Administration or in courses on Retail Merchandising and Management. Technical-Vocational work is also offered in several areas of advanced training, such as television and radio, architectural drawing, auto mechanics, and graphic arts.

Newton Junior College was founded initially to offer low-cost education to men and women at a time when all colleges were overcrowded because of the great influx of veterans of World War II. When the last of the veterans

Lt. Senior Is Wounded in Korean Action

Wounded in the left thigh by an enemy "burp gun," a 24-year-old Newtonville Army lieutenant is listed on the latest list of Korean casualties, released Monday.

Second Lt. Kenneth A. Senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Senior of 43 Churchill street, was in command of a combat patrol assaulting a hill on August 8 when he was struck by the machine-gun fire.

He lay wounded on the battlefield for four hours before he could be moved to his division hospital, according to a letter to look about her shop. For the ferns, palm trees and plants give us a feeling of being in a tropical garden. Pottery, vases and trailing ivy decorate the shelves. We breath in the beauty of azalea, narcissus and begonia plants.

A riot of color greets us as we peer into the huge refrigerator. Orchids are lines majestically above gladioli, daises, sweet peas, bachelor buttons and carnations, with talisman roses, tea roses, the delightful American beauty, and white, red and pink roses.

A designer of "originals," she shows us delicate floral wrist bands, floral clips for shoes, and yes, even a necklace of flowers (worn with strapless gowns). Every woman loves to adorn her hair; with impish glee, Martie models a floral headpiece that swoops down on one side. We are particularly pleased with a "hat" of flowers, which designs have endeared her to fair ladies of fashion.

Florist and lecturer, Martie first became interested in flowers through art. While studying at the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington, D. C., she found herself using flowers more and more as "models." One day she put down her brush and palette, gathered her daises, and set off for Ohio, where she learned the art of floral design at Chritchell's. She is now one of the few women florists in New England and is now in her fifth year as Florist in West Newton.

Though some of us meet few occasions for formal flower corsages, who in the Garden City can resist a floral flair for table arrangements at festive events at home? And plants are just as much a part of the modern home as refrigerators and built-in cabinets.

The decorative possibilities of plants in the home are just being realized. A display of plants in your windows are not only interesting to the passer-by, but if chosen for seasonal blossoming, the color scheme of your rooms will be greatly enhanced.

Martie's "plant bar" catches our eye and as she pokes about the hundred of flower pots (we now have a colorfully painted one for our African violet), we think of a myriad of questions about the care of plants.

Do you know that the Cineraria, Geranium, Heliotrope and Hydrangea need full sunlight? That the Cyclamen, Ardisia and Primrose do not need strong sun rays? That light, but no sunlight is needed for Boston Fern, English Ivy, Sedums and the Snake Plant?

Before taking our leave, we watch Martie as she designs a wedding bouquet. Deft hands fashion delicate flowers into a breath-taking bouquet. "Here comes the bride—" we sing as she tucks the ribbon in. With all due respect to male florist—"who says it's a man's world?"

sion—the fate which befell several other good bills.

"My reason for filing this bill again is my determination to wipe out taxes on thrift. Instead government should encourage our people to save the American way through savings banks, cooperative banks, savings and loan associations and life insurance.

"Tax exemption is a substantial means of such encouragement. What those institutions have to pay out in taxes would be put to better use by increased dividends to depositors, share holders and policy holders. The increased dividends would encourage people to save more against the inevitable rainy day, against the hazards of unemployment, old age and death.

"The end result would be that government would have to pay less for welfare and old age assistance. There is abundant evidence for this belief as a result of experiences in the last depression.

"As a life insurance man, I saw hosts of people live off the cash and loan values of their life insurance until they could get on their feet financially. Incidentally, most of those loans were repaid in full. I noted also that many good folks bridged the gap to employment by living on their savings and cooperative bank accounts instead of having to resort to welfare.

"Believing in this bill as I do, I intend to keep after it until it becomes law," Rep. Rawson concluded.

finished their education, the college found itself meeting the needs of an almost equal number of civilian students. It is interesting to note that the applicants for the coming academic year include three or four veterans from the Korean conflict who have returned to this country under the policy for the rotation of troops. These new veterans will be able to continue their education in substantially the same way as did those from World War II.

The freshman and sophomore students at the college engage in a full program of extracurricular activities. Specialized facilities exist for their own use, such as classrooms, social rooms, council room, and a large library.

The college Director states that over 700 students have been served by Newton Junior College since its establishment in 1946. He points out that the college operates under the regulations of the Massachusetts Collegiate Board of Authority and that it has full membership in the American Association of Junior College Council. Transfer of able students with full credit to the upper years of four-year colleges has been most successful. Follow-up studies of former students who have gone to such colleges as Colby, Tufts, Boston University, Michigan, and the University of Massachusetts indicate that the quality of instruction has been thorough and competitively strong.

Applications are considered until classes open on September 29th although registration in ccurses is to be held on September 22 and 23 for all those who have been accepted previously. Catalogs and application blanks may be obtained by writing to the Registrar, Elm road, Newtonville.

Atkinson Accents Youth in Race For Congress

Believing the best way to inspire young voters to future service in the Republican Party is to have them share the knowledge and excitement first-hand of a campaign, Former Representative Samuel G. Atkinson, Republican candidate for Congress, has enlisted the help of more than 500 voters in the 21-30 age group.

This group is spearheaded by such supporters as Jason Aisner, president of the Young People's Republican Club of Brookline and Donald Howard, former vice-president of the Newton Young GOP Club (now merged with the Newton Republican Club), by Miss Priscilla A. Shaw, president of the Roslindale Junior Women's Club, Carl Dreyfus, Jr., president of the Urban League of Greater Boston, and Bennet F. Driscoll, of Brighton recent Boston University graduate and Secretary of Atkinson's campaign. The group is augmented by many of Atkinson's students and former students from B.U. and young members of the New Boston Committee.

These young voters are learning how to set up a campaign organization district by district, how best to use campaign funds, and how to talk to the voters from door to door. There is no information on campaign procedure withheld.

Each one of Atkinson's endorsers and workers reflect his philosophy that a vote represents the considered opinion of an individual, not the pressure of any group. And each one knows that Atkinson's victory will be brought about by their enthusiastic efforts, individually and as a team.

In the Service

Vaughn Yacobian, son of Mrs. Mary K. Yacobian of 160 Mill street, Newton Centre, who recently received his commission as second lieutenant, has been assigned at Fort Dix, N. J., for duty with the 9th Infantry Division, commanded by Major General Homer W. Kiefer. Entering the Army in August, 1951, Lieutenant Yacobian completed basic training at Fort Dix and was graduated from Officers Candidate School, Fort Benning, Ga., in July of this year. A graduate of Newton High School, the lieutenant earned his bachelor of arts degree at Boston University, where he majored in sociology and psychology.

Hailer Stresses Qualifications for Seat in Congress

Boston City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., candidate for Congress in the 10th Congressional District, spoke before a gathering of over three hundred friends and supporters as he stepped up his campaign for the Democratic nomination in the September 16th Primary. The meeting was held at the "Hailer for Congress" headquarters Corcoran Hall, Forest Hills.

Councillor Hailer said that the 10th Congressional District is comprised mostly of Democrats and Independents. That President Truman and Governor Dever both carried the district with over a seven thousand plurality in the 1948 Presidential election.

Councillor Hailer stated that he has had the support of the people of the district in the past and with their continued support and the aid of his friends he felt that he could be the first Democrat to go to Congress from the district.

"It is only fair that a person who truly represents the people of the district should be their representative in Congress," he asserted.

Councillor Hailer's friends point out the fact that he has never been defeated for public office. He polled over 90,000 votes in the city wide election of the present new nine man council. He served two terms in the General Court and in his last term he was given the largest vote for Representative ever accorded a candidate from his district.

Hailers' education has been aimed in preparation for service in the federal government. He prepared himself by majoring in Government and International Relations at Brown University and at the Harvard Graduate School of Government.

A disabled veteran of World War II, Hailer served three years in the Army, participating in the Philippines and New Guinea campaigns.

As a member of Congress, Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., intends to work constantly for the return of industrial prosperity to Massachusetts, and to devote all possible effort to world peace and security.

Touring Country After Trip to New Mexico

Lewis B. Stiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Stiles of Newton Centre, was one of the 30 Explorer Scouts who left Boston, July 15, for New Mexico, where they spent three and one-half weeks of ranch life.

Instead of returning with the group of Scouts, Lewis went to Colton, Calif., where he visited Mr. and Mrs. George Andolins, formerly of Newtonville. After two weeks stay in California, he is traveling through Zion and Boyce National Parks, Utah; Salt Lake City, Denver and Chicago, on his way home.

Lewis is a member of Explorer Post 19 and is a senior at Newton high school.

First Court of Awards Held at Camp Quinapoxet

The final Norumbega Council Court of Awards of the summer was held at Camp Quinapoxet last Saturday evening, on the eve of the closing of the Camp for the summer. Highlighting the ceremony was the presentation to the Scouts of a record number of 354 Merit Badge Certificates, all of them earned during the second two weeks at Camp. An unusually large number of parents were present to watch the presentations, which were made by William Cruickshank Jr. and Philip Wilbur of the Counncil Advancement Committee, and by several members of the Camp Staff.

The Court of Awards was held to recognize Scouting progress made during the summer, and conferred Second Class and First Class Scout Awards and Merit Badge Certificates to 89 Newton Scouts. A Scout who has accumulated the required number of Merit Badges becomes a candidate for Star, Life or Eagle Scout, which will next be awarded at the Council Court of Honor this coming November.

Second Class Scout Awards went to: Fred Pacione, James Warner, Jonathan Fisher, John McClusky and Paul Wares of Troop 7; Paul Pearson of Troop 10; and Niel Jorgensen, Richard Becherer and Salvatore Simeone of Troop 30.

First Class Scout Awards were received by: George Mackie and Laddie Sanda of Troop 1; Edward Berger of Troop 4B; Stephen Dow of Troop 5; Peter Cobb of Troop 7; John Falvey of Troop 7C; Peter Kelly of Troop 9; Michael Smith and Harry Hintlian of Troop 19; and Martin Tormey of Troop 2?.

Enlarged, Modern Waban Market to Open Thursday With Added Facilities

With over a quarter of a century of courtious, efficient and satisfactory service in the distribution of high quality merchandise as a background, the Waban Market next Thursday will open its new, modern and greatly enlarged facilities with a super-market policy of food merchandising.

The Waban Market, which was established 28 years ago at 12 Windsor road, Waban, in its enlarged quarters will occupy three times as much floor space as formerly and its self-service departments will be found attractively and conveniently arranged for easy shopping.

Mr. Steve Pachus, president of Waban Market, Inc., a pleasant, affable gentleman known and respected by all the market's customers, is confident that the new and enlarged facilities of the market will be found exceedingly satisfactory to everyone.

The enlarged market, in addition to its many added facilities, has a large parking area in the rear for the convenience of its customers. The building itself is modern in design and fronted by large glass windows and is one story in height.

The interior of the store is painted in soft, pleasing shades of pastel tones, with rubberized flooring and the latest type of fluorescent lighting. The merchandise will be attractively arranged in refrigerated steel showcases, cabinets, shelves and display cases, and all of the aisles are systematically arranged.

The new, modern, self-service Waban Market will carry a complete line of groceries, meat, fish, vegetables and every other need of the household. And to make shopping an added pleasure, the entire store will be air conditioned.

The new Waban Market gives to this fast growing section of the city food facilities as complete as will be found in any other section of the community.

The store will be officially opened for business next Thursday morning but Mr. Pachus and his able staff, have planned to hold an open house next Wednesday evening from 6 to 10 o'clock, and all residents of Waban and other sections of Newton are cordially invited to attend the Open House estival at this time and inspect the new Waban Market facilities. Free souvenirs will will be given daily also and refreshments will be served.

As Mr. Pachus has informed his present customers: "We won't sell you anything at this Open House. We want you to come in and get acquainted with our new and modern facilities." Free gifts, including $700 worth of food and a 17-inch television set will be presented at the Open House Festivities.

The enlarged Waban Market offers every modern facility for convenient and easy shopping and the same high standard of quality food which has characterized the Waban Market in the past will be maintained in the future.

Lad 10, Saves Two Playmates from Suffocating

—o—

While digging into the side of a banking in the woods off Roland street, Newton Highlands, last week, the hole they were making collapsed on Eddie Havey, age 10, and Jimmie Wiggins, age 8, completely covering them.

Alan Tucker, age 10, the only playmate not in the hold dug furiously with his hands to uncover Jimmie's head so he could breath and continued digging and got him out. He then did the same for Eddie who was further in.

Finding Eddie unable to walk, Alan ran to the Havey home about a hundred yards away and got Mrs. Havey, who carried Eddie home. Eddie's injuries required medical attention.

Alan made no mention of the incident to his folks who would never have known of his heroic act if Mrs. Wiggins had not called to thank Allan. After considerable questioning, Alan gave his parents the whole story.

Auto Crashes Injure Nine Over Weekend

—o—

Vehicle Overturns After Cars Collide Early on Sunday Morning

—o—

A three-car collision was one of five auto accidents reported to Newton police over the weekend, with nine persons injured, including two children.

Early Sunday morning the three cars were involved in a collision at the intersection of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale. One car was overturned in the accident, and the driver and his wife were treated at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital for minor injuries.

The driver of the car, James Watson, 52, of Brighton, received an injury to his left leg, while his wife, Mrs. Annie M. Watson, 54, was treated for shock. Roy S. Hakenson, 40, of Worcester, driver of another auto, complained of injuries to his right arm.

According to the report made to Newton Police Headquarters, the Hakenson car was going east on Washington street when it collided with the Watson car. The second vehicle, in turn, was in collision with a car being operated on Commonwealth avenue by Samuel Schwartz, 49, of Brighton.

An injury to her chin was claimed by Mrs. Ida Kadish, 65, of Mattapan, following a collision at Commonwealth avenue and Garrison street, Newton Centre, about 8 a.m. Sunday. The cars involved in the accident were driven by her husband, Max R. Kadish, 64, and by Monton Pitt, 58, of Roxbury.

Injuries were reported by Mabell E. Burke, 50, of Allston and three passengers in her car after the auto collided with a car operated by Harriet O'Toole of Brooklyn on Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, Sunday morning at 8.

Robert Reynolds, 4, of Brighton, was treated for a cut on the chin at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Saturday afternoon following an accident in which he was struck on the chin by the running board of a car driven by Edward J. Rasmussen of Brighton. The accident happened near 86 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill.

When Jane Lidman, 4, of 130 Oakdale road, Newton Highlands, ran from between two parked cars near her home at 6:45 p.m. Saturday, according to the police report, she was struck by a car operated by Daniel F. Murphy of 353 Albemarle road, Newtonville.

New Hampshire Resort Business Is Discussed

—o—

David Heald, executive director of the New Hampshire Publicity Bureau, told members of the Rotary Club at its meeting Monday of the booming industry of vacations and what New Hampshire is doing about it.

He traced the cause to increased leisure time resulting from a shorter work week and pointed out that his State's park income has almost quadrupled in three years.

Recreation now ranks second to manufacturing and ahead of agriculture in important New Hampshire industries. To answer this demand, New Hampshire is rapidly increasing its facilities, and now operates thirty-three beaches as well as other parks.

SAILING AND POLITICS got mixed up at Hyannis when 20 sail boats, all gaily decorated with GOP slogans, confronted the astounded race committee. After several heated discussions, the fleet was allowed to sail in the regatta. Shown are Janice Toher and Adele Thierry of Newtonville, with "Cape Cod for Ike" entry at start of Blue Water Series races at Loop Beach in Cotuit. Cape Cod residents rubbed eyes in amazement as fleet sailed to Hyannis and back to Cotuit.

For Safety Sake Use Only Approved Gasoline Containers

History is again repeating itself. In the early days of the auto when service stations were few and far between it was common practice on the part of the automobilist to purchase gasoline in all kinds of containers, ranging from the ordinary five-gallon tin can to the one gallon glass bottle. This gasoline was stored in garages, out of doors and in the cellars of homes. Most drivers of automobiles also carried some quantity of gasoline in their cars so that if they ran out they could empty the container into the gas tank and usually get home or to a service station.

Few realized the hazard introduced by this practice. In older days gasoline for this private storage could be bought in five-gallon sealed containers.

The extra supply carried on the auto was in a special designed can. Today these cans are not available and any gasoline stored or carried must be in an improvised container, this is often done without having a suitable cap on the opening and many times it is carried in a glass bottle or jug. These make-shift methods of storage are particularly hazardous under most any condition. The fact that they are seldom tight or that they may be easily broken introduces the danger of an accumulation of vapors which can be readily ignited from most any type open flame or spark. The seriousness of this hazard can be recognized when it is realized that the storage of gasoline without express permission from the fire department is prohibited by many fire insurance companies. Even though metal containers may be used and they may be provided with tight fitting caps, the hazard of gasoline leakage is still high because few container are new.

One of the greatest hazards of this attempt to store gasoline in various type containers is the danger to life resulting when the gasoline is poured from the container into the tank on the auto. The tank inlets are designed to permit the ready delivery of gasoline through the nozzle attached to the hose. It is practically impossible to pour gasoline into these inlets from bottles, cans and other contaners unless a funnel is used and proper funnels are seldom available. Even with a funnel it is not at all uncommon for a considerable amount of the gasoline to be spilled over the car and in some cases on to the clothes of the person. In the days when this was common practice there were not infrequent cases of the delivery of gasoline producing a spark of static electricity which ignited the vapors. Many persons were seriously and sometimes fatally burned.

The advent of the outboard motor for boats has to a large degree brought back many of these old time hazards of improper gasoline storage in many locations. Only Underwriter Approved Safety containers should be used for the storage of gasoline or for emergency supply to be carried in the boat. Glass containers should never be used to carry gasoline on a boat, they may be cracked by objects hitting them and leak or become broken releasing the fluid which may be ignited and take someone's life as well as destroy the boat. It could be that because the extra gasoline supply became lost due to the poor container that the boat might drift out from shore and end in a drowning.

For your own safety and that of all others don't take any chances. Be safe. Use only Underwriter Approved containers and store it outside of your home.

Employm't in Newton Drops During July

—o—

Following a statewide decrease of 1.5 per cent in the number of production workers last month, Newton registered a 1.4 per cent decrease, according to the monthly report of the Division of Statistics of the State Department of Labor.

The statewide decrease in total wages paid during the month was 4.2 per cent, and again Newton closely followed the average with a 4 per cent drop.

Fifteen Newton manufacturing establishments reported a total of 6143 production workers employed during the week ending nearest July 15, with a total payroll of $318,641.

The Labor and Industries Department estimated that 562,713 production and related workers were employed in manufacturing in the state during the week covered by the report. "The July returns," the report stated, "reflect the somewhat confused industrial situation with vacation closings, strikes, steel shortages, etc; the only bright picture being the improvemen in the major textile industries.

"A comparison of the estimated number employed this July with a year ago shows some 34,106 fewer workers now employed and the total weekly payrolls showed a decline of $1,043,052 during the space of a year. The earnings of those employed this July averaged $1.74 more per week than a year ago.

"In July, 32 of the reporting establishments were idle (some closed for vacations) and one company went out of business, affecting approximately 69 workers. Eight companies had strike conditions, affecting 5336 workers. A total of 20 wage increases were reported, affecting a total of 5008 workers and averaging 3.6 per cent."

Remember The Dangers

There is little doubt that hundreds of readers are planning an automobile trip over the last weekend of the summer, which will include Labor Day. Between now and midnight, on Labor Day, the annual test of common sense among automobile drivers will be at its height. The question is: shall we kill and maim many of our fellow citizens because of our anxiety to get to and from vacation resorts; or shall we strive to remember the dangers that attend such trips on traffic-congested highways?

In stressing the need for extra care during the Labor Day holiday period, Edgar F. Copell, president of the Massachusetts Safety Council, says, "The country over, the holiday accident record is invariably a grim one. Many are killed in accidents of varying types, but highway fatalities take a high place in the count. Education effort in advance of a holiday period is based on the obvious need to remind people of highway hazards—dangers they know about, but about which they need reminding just the same. In spite of repeated warnings, American citizens have a habit of throwing caution to the winds during periods of relaxation. They may drive carefully for weeks, but when on the road, holiday-bent, they step on the gas and violate all rules of safety. Paradoxical as it seems, when hazards are increased, caution is lowered.

"Deaths through carelessness can never be eliminated over these holiday weekends. It would require the complete reversal of human nature to bring this about. But the number of these deaths and accidents can certainly be minimized if those who have planned to drive during the weekend will resolve to be guided by common sense and temper their holiday with a calm sincere realization that not only are their own lives at stake, but also so are those of innocent bystanders."

Controls Forever

It has long been obvious that some men in key government position want price and wage controls of a permanent nature, instead of the theoretically temporary type we are burdened with now. A bill to bring about that end is on paper, and it will probably be offered to Congress if and when the time seems ripe.

That time may never come—the last Congress showed less stomach for even materially relaxed price controls than did any of its recent predecessors. However, the fact that responsible government officials seek permanent controls is evidence of one of the most dangerous and contagious of the bureaucratic diseases. The official who would willingly give up power is so rare as to be a museum piece. Officialdom, by its very nature, always wants more and more power, more and more authority to order people about—and, of course, more and more of our money to pay the bills. Controls are sold to Congress and the public on the grounds that they are necessary to deal with a temporary emergency. Then, regardless of what happens to the alleged emergency every conceivable effort is given to continuing them forever on a "control for control's sake" basis.

No one need suffer any illusions as to what permanent, "tough" controls would do to the country—there is plenty of historical precedent here and elsewhere. You can tell a manufacturer that he can charge only so much for an article at wholesale. You can tell the retailer that he must sell it to his customers at such and such a price. But you can't force the manufacturer to make it or the retailer to stock it if the legal price is too low to allow some kind of a profit. That simple example shows why, in the long run, controls always create scarcity. And when that happens everyone suffers except the black market operators.

Most important of all, controls always lead to a political dictatorship of the economy, and when we reach that point we can quit talking about individual freedom and representative government—for they will no longer exist.

Our Country Is Strong

Some say we are short of this, or failing at that. But we know that the strength is there, because a country is not like a chain, only as strong as its weakest link. A country's strength is the total of all its past and people, and all their determination for the future. That is the strength we have, and can always count on.

CURRENT COMMENT

Sen. McCarthy Poses Real Problem for Ike.. Last Minute Votes Plague Legislators . . .

General Eisenhower is being criticized and rebuked by many of his supporters for giving left-handed support to Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, while repudiating McCarthy's attack upon General Marshall, and observers are waiting to see how much Ike will be harmed by his solution of the most difficult dilemma to confront him since his nomination as the Republican candidate for President.

This is a case where Eisenhower stood to lose, whatever he did about McCarthy. If he refused to support him, he would be turning his back on a member of his own party and possibly costing himself the electoral votes of Wisconsin, a key State.

The conflicting factors facing Ike were these:

McCarthy, a Republican Senator, is standing for renomination and reelection. If Eisenhower is elected President, he will need every G.O.P. Congressman and Senator whose election he can achieve. Traditionally, Republicans are supposed to put aside their differences at election time, close ranks and present a united front. Wisconsin is a key State. It went Democratic in 1948, and a split between Eisenhower and McCarthy probably would place it in the Democratic column again this year.

On the other hand, McCarthy's views are in direct conflict with those of Eisenhower. But most of all, the Wisconsin Senator had assailed Ike's old army chief, General George C. Marshall, as a "traitor" and charged that the Marshall plan was patterned on a communist blueprint.

The General tried to walk a political tight rope in explaining his position on McCarthy. He said he was not going to support anything "that smacks to me of un-Americanism and looks to me like unjust damaging of reputation" but that if a man is properly nominated by the Republicans in his State he is "going to state clearly that I want to see the Republican organization elected."

When a newsman mentioned Marshall's name, however, Ike jumped to his feet and with obvious feeling declared: General Marshall is one of the patriots of this country. I have no patience with anyone who can find in his record of service for this country anything to criticize."

A great many persons in both political parties believe McCarthy's attack upon General Marshall was so irresponsible that he does not deserve the endorsement of a man seeking to be President of the United States.

Whatever mistakes Marshall may have made, there certainly was no basis for the charge that he was a traitor to his country. Because of that a number of newspapers which are supporting General Eisenhower, among them The New York Times, have publicly expressed disappointment with his position.

From Ike's standpoint the ideal solution would be for Wisconsin Republicans to clean their own house and deny McCarthy renomination, but that isn't likely to happen.

* * * *

A good many legislators are becoming increasingly annoyed as they belatedly discover the significance of some of the bills they voted for in the confused rush for prorogation early last month.

It's difficult for them to explain how it was that they were unaware of the hidden appropriations to cover raises and the creation of new jobs now coming to light.

They have the unpleasant alternative of conceding either that they knowingly voted for the additional expenditures or that they weren't aware of the provisions in the measures on which they were recorded.

At campaign time that is not a happy predicament, but actually it is not quite as bad as it sounds.

It is impossible for the average legislator to keep himself fully informed on all the bills upon which he is called to vote, and this is particularly true of the vaguely worded appropriation measures.

A House or Senate member must necessarily depend on the reports and explanations of his party leaders and the committee members who conduct hearings on the bills. Often those reports are sketchy and superficial.

But a good deal of the fault also may be traced to the system which finds the Legislature in a wild rush for prorogation the last week or two of a session.

That was particularly true this year when members of both political parties were anxious to wind up their legislative deliberations before the national conventions.

It usually isn't too difficult to slip through a bill when the lawmakers are working at breakneck speed and thinking as much about concluding their work and going home for the year as about the measures coming before them.

If a few legislators are defeated because of unwise votes cast in the prorogation rush, the system may be hurriedly corrected. It should be!

OUR NEW ENGLAND

Florida Shows Way to Catch Summer Tourist Business; N. E. Bankers Too Cautious

By JOHN H. CRIDER

Our summer vacation business is doing pretty good here in New England, but what with the weather and the prosperity (so the Democrats say) of the customers, we should be.

But what burns me up is what's happening to Florida, that swampy, dank, humid, crocodile-ridden paradise. Yet what's happening to Florida is about the best illustration you can find of the power of advertising and promotion in these United States.

The State of Florida, in collaboration with the railroads, airlines, bus lines, and hotels which thrive on the southeasterly tourist business, have spent millions of dollars the past few years advertising Florida's "good" summer weather and bargain prices. Why the bargain prices if it's so good?

Anyhow, this Floridian plot against the American tourist has succeeded so well that The Wall Street Journal found it newsworthy enough to print on its front page a little item which reported the following amazing phenomena:

"Southern Florida's successful campaign to build up summertime tourist travel has kept railroads and airlines hustling to provide space for travelers.

"Eastern Air Lines has expanded its daily southbound summer service out of Chicago to a new high, using, in addition to smaller equipment, six four-engine planes. One flight is nonstop (from Chicago) to Miami for the first time in the line's summer operations.

"A summer 'first' for the National Trailways Bus System was the inauguration of daily, through schedules — without change of bus—from Chicago to Florida points.

"Illinois Central Railroad since the start of this season has added 33 extra cars to handle the biggest summer rush on Florida trains."

So, you can sell summer Florida to thousands of Americans who ought to be going—and perhaps once did go—to New England, and you can sell refrigerators to Eskimos! Advertising, oh advertising, how you sway the American dollar!

What To Do

It is painful to have to say this, but the only explanation of New England's relative coasting in the vacation business is that we're just too set in our ways, over-confident, and unenterprising. Just because Newport and Maine, and Nantucket, Cape Cod and our other resorts were supposedly sold to America by somebody's great grandfather, we just mustn't do it again. Bosh!

Any business man knows that if you once let the name of your product get out of the public's eye, it is a terrific job trying to win back the lost customer appeal. The product can be the best in the world, but unless it's sold, which means intensive and expensive merchandising, it will be pushed off the shelves and out of the market by the fellow who acts every day in his advertising and promotional activities as though nobody ever heard of his product before.

New England has got to work as a unit with large sums, well spent, to keep this area before the American people as the country's No. 1 resort area, both summer and winter. New England must be sold as a destination ahead of Maine or Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, or New Hampshire. Once we get the flow of tourists into this area, the business is bound to go to one or more of the six states.

That's they way they sold Florida—not so much by hammering away at Miami or Sarasota or Palm Beach as the desirable destination—but Florida. Same with "Southern California." "You come to Southern California," they shout all over the country, and (to themselves) "we'll fight over who gets the business when they get out here."

Let's Face It

One of the main troubles is, I think, that we refuse to face up to the fact as a region that we are, in point of time, old in this resort business, and the competition is new—full of youthful enthusiasm. Just because Newport was a summer fashion center in the '90's, or Bar Harbor and Poland Springs and the Berkshires are names which have been household words all over the country, isn't going to bring the business in. That takes a little up and doing.

Maybe it's because our bankers, upon whom many of the resort people rely for their financing, are too conservative. It is a fact, of course, that conserving the fortunes accumulated here over the years has long been one of the outstanding concerns of New England bankers. They were so good at conserving the indigenous fortunes that people began to send their money here from all over the country because Boston was "safe".

Some people are beginning to wonder it it isn't too safe. Take the Milford, Mass., manufacturer, who recently blasted New England bankers for their extreme conservatism in testimony before a legislative recess commission to investigate the exodus of industries from Massachusetts. The manufacturer, Joseph Mass, president of Stylon Corporation, fourth largest manufacturer of ceramic tile in the country, had this to say:

"Why should these Boston bankers and investment houses discourage those of us who are pioneering in New England? I wish they would forget they are Yankees and New Englanders and stop being so tight-fisted to new industries in this area."

Mr. Mass based this indictment upon his own experience. He said that when he was about to start his industry a few years ago, a Boston banker told him he'd never make a success of it because nobody else made ceramic tiles in this part of the country. Now Mr. Mass is expanding his Milford plant, building another in Alabama, and has a third projected for the West Coast.

Hospitality?

One of the experts who testified before the Massachusetts commission at a hearing in Lawrence said that it was as much attitude and atmosphere that attracted industry into an area as it was economic factors.

I am not concerned here so much with attracting new industries as with attracting the droves of tourists needed to keep our existing recreation industry paying off. And of course, hospitality is a factor in this, too. But familiar as I happen to be with both New England and the South, I do not think that individuals are any more hospitable there than they are here.

But Southern hospitality has also been better advertised than the kind we have. The problem is to let more people from other parts of the country know that the folks who run our hotels and other resort places are not dried up old Yankees who resent strangers. But they won't know it unless we tell them or they come here and find out for themselves.

Let's not go through another summer losing so much business to the buggy dankness of Florida. American tourists deserve something better for their vacation dollar.

Mr., Mrs. Pearson Recently Wed, to Live in Chicago

Wearing a gown of white frosted embroidered organdy and a coronet of white sweetheart roses which matched her bouquet, Miss Jean Carol Fogg was recently married to Mr. Elmer Raymond Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pearson of Chicago, Illinois, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Fogg, 147 Plymouth rd., Newton Highlands.

The Rev. John Hamel, 3rd, performed the double-ring ceremony and a reception followed at the scene of the wedding. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride received two scholarships to the Illinois Institute of Technology where she plans to complete her studies. She also studies at the Museum School of Fine Arts in Boston and the Institute of Design in Chicago.

Mr. Pearson is a graduate of the Illinois Institute of Technology and served with the U. S. Army in France, Germany and Austria, during World War II. He was recently returned from a two-months' designer's conference, sponsored by the Norwegian government in Oslo, where he taught and lectured.

Following their wedding trip to New York, the newlyweds will plane to Chicago, where the bridegroom is a member of the faculty of the Institute of Design.

Bermuda Honeymoon Follows Rites Of Miss Queenan-Mr. Borges, Jr.

A cascade of white roses and stephanotis, centered with a white orchid and ivy, was carried by Miss Mary-Louise Queenan, for her marriage to Mr. John Joseph Borges, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Borges of 123 Langdon street, Newton, at St. Philip Neri Church in Waban on August 25. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Francis Queenan, 99 Devonshire road, Waban.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gowned in embroidered Swiss organdy with a tiered skirt and wore a headdress of matching organdy and finger-tip French illusion.

Mr. Edward James Borges of Newton served as best man for his brother. Mr. James Francis Queenan, Jr., brother of the bride, Mr. Harvey H. Winchester of Newton Centre, Mr. Francis X. Tully of West Newton, and Mr. William Hawley Gleeson, Jr., of Belmont, ushered. Mr. Edward C. Luna was soloist with Mrs. George P. Flood at the organ.

In the receiving line at the reception, Mrs. Queenan was gowned in mauve lace with a matching feather hat and Mrs. Borges wore cocoa-brown with dark-bown accessories. Both outfits were accented with orchid corsages.

The bride was graduated from Regis College in Weston and her bridegroom was graduated from Harvard College and received his M.A. degree from the University of Michigan. Following their wedding the couple left for a honeymoon in Bermuda.

Miss Roberta Anne Grush Weds Mr. Robert Brandau Richardson

United at a recent afternoon ceremony at Follen Community Church in Lexington, were Miss Roberta Anne Grush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Caldwell Grush of Lexington and North Eastham, and Mr. Robert Brandau Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell Richardson of Newton Lower Falls.

The bride was given in marriage at the ceremony, performed by Dr. Charles L. Atkins. A reception followed at the Old Belfry Club in Lexington.

With her traditional white satin dress, fashioned with a fitted bodice and lace inserts, bouffant skirt and chapel length train, the bride wore a finger-tip illusion veil which was held in place with a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white eucharis lilies, stephanotis and ivy.

Maid of honor, Miss Doorthy Maxner of Lexington, was gowned silver green nylon net over mint green taffeta. Similarly gowned in silver green taffeta and nylon net, were the bridesmaids: Mrs. Lincoln H. Grush, Miss Linda Grush, Mrs. Helen Thompson and Mrs. Ralph Russ. All the attendants carried bouquets of rhubrum lilies and ivy and wore matching floral headpieces.

Mr. Colin N. Ramsay served as best man and the ushers included Mr. George Richardson and Mr. Howard Richardson, brothers of the bridegroom, Mr. Lincoln H. Grush, brother of the bride, and Mr. Arthur Tashjian.

The bride is a graduate of Lesley Teachers' College and her groom was recently discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps. The newlyweds will reside in Lexington.

Miss McAvoy, Mr. Becker United At Nuptial Mass

At a 10 o'clock nuptial mass in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, on Saturday morning, August 16, Miss Patricia Anne McAvoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. McAvoy of 1949 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, became the bride of Mr. William G. Becker of Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Becker of Pittsburgh, Pa. Bouquets of white gladioli adorned the altar for the single ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of candlelight satin and Chantilly lace with an illusion veil caught to a Juliet cap of seed pearls. She carried a prayer book with an orchid and streamers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Patricia C. Donahue of Wellesley, as matron of honor, was attired in a gown of green nylon lace and net and carried a bouquet of white daisies.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Mary McAvoy of Boston and Miss Mary Ann Butler of Pittsburgh, wore shrimp colored gowns of nylon lace and net and carried bouquets of white daisies.

Mrs. Becker, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in a gown of dusty rose with accessories of navy blue.

Serving as best man was Mr. John L. McAvoy, Jr., of Allston, while Mr. Albert Debor and Mr. Donald Debor of Tarentum, Pa., ushered.

A reception followed at the Maridor in Framingham, after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip through the Berkshires and the Adirondacks. Their future residence will be in Allston.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Butler of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rea of Tarentum, Mrs. Albert Paustenbach and Mrs. Herbert Weber of Tarentum, Col. and Mrs. M. S. Parrish of Baltimore, Md., and Mr. John McGann of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The bride was graduated from Mercy Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh. Mr. Becker is an alumnus of the University of the University of Pittsburgh.

MRS. LOWELL UNDERWOOD HAMMETT

Miss Jean Brown, Mr. Hammett Married At Evening Ceremony

In the Eliot Congregational Church of Newton, Tuesday evening, Miss Jean Helen Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Crockett Brown, became the bride of Mr. Lowell Underwood Hammett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Llewlyn Hammett of Vineyard Haven, Massachusetts. The candle-light ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Prescott Robertson of Braintree, and the reception following the ceremony was held in the Eliot Church Chapel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an heirloom veil of lace with her gown of ivory satin. She carried a bouquet of gladenia and feather carnations. Miss Cynthia L. Brown, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of coral net with matching head piece. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Bell and Miss Ruth Arnold of Newton, Miss Roberta Hopkins of Quincy, and Miss Priscilla Davis of Cambridge. They wore yellow and turquoise net gowns with matching headpieces and carried old fashioned bouquets.

Pvt. Gary Mosher of Vineyard Haven was best man and the ushers included Mr. Neil Welch, Mr. James Alley, Mr. George Silva, all of Vineyard Haven, and Mr. Allen Brown, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Brown chose a gown of aqua crepe and lace, while the bridegroom's mother was gowned in rose crepe.

After a wedding trip to New Hampshire and Canada the couple will reside in Newton.

Miss Weber, Herbert Wiesenfeld Wed In Garden Setting At Home

In a garden setting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weber, 21 Garden road, Newton, August 25, Miss Eleanor June Weber became the bride of Mr. Herbert J. Wiesenfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wiesenfeld of 12 Braemore road, Brighton. Rabbi Joseph Shubow of Temple B'Nae Moshe, performed the double-ring ceremony. A buffet dinner followed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina gown of imported swiss organdy eyelet with a headpiece of finger-tip nylon veil. She carried a bouquet of feathered carnations on a Bible.

Maid of honor, Miss Shirley Wiesenfeld, wore a champagne shantung gown and carried brown orchids in her bouquet.

Mr. Arnold J. Weber served as best man and Mr. Ira Mogul, Mr. Lewis Chester, Mr. Neil Miller, Mr. Charles Hershman, Mr. Jack Breuier and Mr. Edwin Weber served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Weber was gowned in ballerina-length rose and green silk organza. The mother of the groom chose a pale blue shauntung gown.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School, studied at Boston University and was graduated from the University of Vermont. She is presently associated with Leeds and Northrup Company. Her bridegroom received his Bachelor of Arts degree at Boston College and is studying at Boston University for his Ph.D. in clinical psychology.

Following their honeymoon, an airplane trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the newlyweds will reside at 19 South street, Brighton.

Modern Etiquette

by Roberta Lee

—o—

Q. When an invitation is received over the telephone, is it all right for one to say, "I shall let you know this evening, or tomorrow?"

A. Never This invitation must be accepted or declined without a moment's hesitation. A pause of even two or three seconds is bad form.

Q. Should a man remove his hat when in the elevator of a hotel or an office building, when a woman enters?

A. He should do so in a hotel elevator, but it is not necessary in an office building or shop.

Q. Should a young man, engaged to be married, resent it if the girl's father asks him questions pertaining to his financial affairs, business position and health?

A. No. The father has a perfect right to be concerned about everything that might affect the happiness of his daughter.

Q. Is it poor form to use the expression "gents"?

A. Yes. It is very poor form. It is no more correct than "lades" would be for "ladies".

Q. Is it all right for a man to give a woman an article of wearing apparel, as a gift?

A. Not unless the woman is his mother, sister, or a close relative.

Q. When a woman and her escort enter a theater, and an usher is at the entrance of the aisle, which one should be first to follow the usher?

A. The usher goes first, then the woman, and last her escort. If there is no usher, the man should go first.

Q. Please mention about six of the most common forms of rudeness for either a husband or a wife to be guilty of, when the other is entertaining friends in the home.

A. Refuse to talk, refuse to smile, appear bored, fall asleep, leave the room abruptly, sit and read.

Q. Should a hostess always rise when a guest is leaving, as well as arriving?

A. Yes, always, and whether the guest be a man or a woman. It is exceedingly discourteous if she does not.

Mr. Robert DeCourcey Blakeslee Takes Bride In Seminary Chapel

The marriage of Mrs. June Curley Sexton, daughter of Mrs. John L. Curley of New York city, and the late Mr. Curley, to Mr. Robert DeCourcey Blakeslee, son of Mrs. Asa D. Blakeslee of 14 Arapahoe road, West Newton, and the late Mr. Blakeslee, was solemnized at a recent noon ceremony in the chapel of Andover-Newton Seminary.

Dr. Everett C. Herrick officiated at the double ring service, for which the altar was decorated with white flowers, ferns and lighted candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Edwin F. Rothman of Trumbull, Ct., wore a princess gown of pale pink Chantilly lace with a flower-trimmed hat, and carried a cascade of rubrum lilies.

As maid of honor for her mother, Miss Nancy Elizabeth Sexton of New York chose a dress of rose organdy and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Curley was attired in a pale blue cotton lace dress with a pale blue straw hat and a delphinium corsage for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Blakeslee, the bridegroom's mother, chose a dress of dusty rose lace with a Dubonnet hat and a corsage of deep rose sweetheart roses.

Mr. Robert A. Moore of Newton Lower Falls served as best man for the bridegroom.

Following a reception at the Abner Wheeler House, Mr. and Mrs. Blakeslee left for a wedding trip to Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H. Their future residence will be in Newton.

Miss Goff Bride Of Mr. Bryan Of England At Afternoon Ceremony

White gladioli and asters decorated Grace Episcopal Church in Newton recently, for the marriage of Miss Janet Goff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luke L. Goff of 37 Converse avenue, Newton, to Mr. John Henry Donald Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bryan of Stockbridge, Yorkshire, England.

The afternoon ceremony was performed by the Rev. Walter Young, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

With her princess gown of white embroidered organdy, bouffant skirt, cap sleeves and high neckline, the bridewore a shoulder-length illusion veil, attached to a cap of matching embroidered organdy. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy with white lillies.

Miss Nancy Precourt Goff was maid of honor for her sister, wearing a ballerina gown of white embroidered swiss organdy with a white satin sash. Her halo headdress matched her old-fashioned bouquet of pink sweetheart roses with stephanotis and ivy.

The bridesmaids, Miss Edna Precourt of Weston and Miss Doris A. Dochler of Newton, wore ballerina-length white organdy gowns over blue taffeta, fashioned with peter pan collars and tied with matching blue sashes. Their halo headpieces were styled like the maid of honor's and they also carried matching old-fashioned bouquets.

Miss Barbara Stearns Goff and Miss Janet Emily Goff of Wellesley, served as flower girls for their aunt. Their white organdy gowns were tied with white sashes and their bouquets were similar to those of the attendants.

Best man was Mr. Howard Janerick of Belmont. Ushers were Charles Precourt of Weston, Mr. Byron Bruce Chandler of Valley Stream, L. I., and Mr. Richard Sanborn of Canton. Honorary usher in absentia was Lt. Jerome Charles Goff, now in Frankfurt, Germany.

Mrs. Goff chose for her daughter's wedding, an aqua chiffon and lace gown with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Dana Hall and Mount Holyoke College, class of 1949. The groom was graduated from Sheffield University and received his Ph.D. from Columbia University. He is an instructor in biology at M.I.T.

Orientation Program for New Teachers to Be Held

An increase of more than 800 over the number registering a year ago is anticipated with the opening of the public and parochial schools here September 8, a week from this Monday. At that time vacation will end for about 15,700 children, including an estimated 1200 pupils at Our Lady's, 582 at Sacred Heart, and 530 at St. Bernard's. The other school, St. John the Evangelist's, with about 200 youngsters, will open its school season September 3.

Assistant Supt. Charles O. Richter has announced that in order to accommodate the increased enrollment in the public schools, a total of 28 new teaching positions have been filled, and 42 new teachers hired as replacements.

The large increase in enrollment, Mr. Richter explained, is largely accounted for by approximately 1400 children who will enter kindergarten classes this fall in contrast with 650 entering last year. Increases are expected in other grades as well so that in the vicinity of 8,347 will be enrolled in the elementary schools, 2,709 in the junior high schools, and 2,129 in the high school.

An orientation program for new teachers is scheduled to be started Thursday, September 4, at the Pierce School. In a program made possible through the combined efforts of the Newton Teachers' Federation and the school administration, the new faculty members will be introduced to administrative personnel and become acquainted with the services which are available to Newton public school teachers and pupils.

Mr. Hazel Startton, vice-president of the Teachers' Federation and teacher of mathematics at the F. A. Day Junior High School is in charge of arrangements for the orientation program, which will continue September 5. That evening the administrative staff and officers of the Teachers' Federation will hold an open house.

At a general faculty meeting of all teachers, returning and new, scheduled for Saturday morning at the High School, Supt. Harold B. Gorse will discuss the school program for the coming year.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Bram (Joan Schneiderman) of Newtonville, announce the birth of a daughter, Robin Meredith Bram, born August 14 at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schneiderman of Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bram of Newtonville.

Anticipate 4000 Increase in School Enrollment in 7 Years

The number of pupils in Newton public schools will increase by one-third, or nearly 4000, in the next seven years, according to estimates listed in the annual report of the Newton School Department.

The report, released last week, estimates that a peak total of 16,201 students will be reached in 1959. This will probably be followed by a slight drop in 1960 to 16,109, the Department said. The school population for 1951 was 12,320. These figures do not include the Trade School or the Junior College.

"In 1950," the report stated, "the enrollment was 11,790 pupils. By 1958, more than 16,000 pupils are expected. Elementary school pupils numbered 7075 in 1950 but the enrollment is expected to reach 9663 by 1957.

"The high school enrollment will reach 2937 by 1959 and is expected to go over 4000 by 1963; about twice its present size.

"To illustrate the dynamics of the growth of school population, the graduating class of 1952 numbered 627 pupils whereas the kindergarten class entering in September of 1952 will be approximately 1400.

"The city's population increased 17 per cent in the last decade due to higher birth rates and in migration. In fact, Newton was the only Massachusetts city above 50,000 in population to have grown because more people moved in than moved out.

"While Newton ranks 11th in population among the cities of Massachusetts, the public school enrollment in September of 1952 will rank fourth, exceeded only by Boston, Worcester and Springfield."

For the third year, the annual report is printed in a form similar to the Reader's Digest. The report cover the period Jan. 1, 1951, through June of 1952. It is the 112th to be issued by the Department without a break.

Costume and Vehicle Parade Is Featured at Oak Hill Play Day

The largest costume and vehicle parade of the playground season highlighted the annual play day of the Memorial Playground at Oak Hill, Wednesday of last week, with more than 400 youngsters and parents in attendance.

The parade had about 125 participants, and costumes included hoboes, drum majorettes, cigarette girls, pirates, Hopalong Cassidy, clowns, angels, witches and cow-girls. Bicycles, tricycles and doll carriages participated in the vehicle parade, all gaily decorated.

The prize for the prettiest costume was won by Joyce Barber, with Pam French, Karen Chadbourne and Jean Ham as runners-up. Marcia and Barbara Hurst combined their talents to take the most original costume award. Second place was won by Willa Pinkney and third was shared by Ronnie and Susan Flaschner. The funniest costume prize was taken by Paul Delaney, who nosed out Pam Hurley, Sue Ellingwood and Ricky Farrell.

In the vehicle parade, Pam Simpkins was judged as having the prettiest vehicle. Susan Leary placed second and Peggy McLaughlin third. Betty Lou Chapman took the prize for most original, with Rita Farrell and Judy O'Brien in second and third place. The funniest vehicle was driven by Bruce Allen and Ginger Fisher. Second prize in this category was shared by David Rosen and Leslie, Linda and Sandra Townsend. Third place went to John Dixie

Following the costume parade, a series of athletic events were conducted for boys and girls. The program concluded with the awarding of prizes by Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson.

The 25-yard dash, restricted to boys from 5 to 8 years old, was won by Howard Willard. Dana Conway was second and Paul Delaney third. Danny Wood and Ray Hill finished in a dead heat for first place in the dash for boys 8 to 11 years old. Hal Willard and Ramon DeMaio took second and third.

Martha Gully outsped Esta Gordon and Patricia Barber to win the 25-yard dash for girls from 5 to 8, while Dianne Giracca beat Eileen Ryan and Judy Leonard for the prize in the dash for girls between 8 and 11.

First three places in the tonic race for girls were taken by Carol Hill, Gale Burke and Freda Hart, and in the boys' race by Ramon DeMaio, Timothy O'Leary and Raymond Hill.

Paul Delaney and Howard Willard combined their talents to win the three-legged race for boys, with second and third positions going to teams of Ramon DeMaio and Ray Hill and Dana Conway and Alan Conway. The first three places in the girls' three-legged race were taken by Linda Townsend and Freda Hart, Diane and Susan Bluestein and Dianne Giracca and Esta Gordon.

The final athletic event was the relay races for boys and girls. The girls' race was won by a team composed of Karen Chadbourne, Bonnie Bergstrum, Judy Delaney, Willa Pinkney and Rita Farrell. The second place team consisted of Marcia Hurst, Carol Hill, Eileen Ryan, Judy Leonard and Leslie Townsend, with the third place team was Freda Hart, Susan Haven, Marie Dabrowski, Dianne Giracca and Esta Gordon.

The winning team in the boys' relay race was composed of Ramon De Maio, Allen Conway, Danny Casiani, John Stoppelman and Danny Wood. Members of the team placing second were Ray Hill, Dana Conway, George Berry, Howard Willard and Hal Willard, while third place was won by a team consisting of Paul Delaney, Timothy O'Leary, Julian Stoppelman, David Wicksen and Kenneth Hurley.

First prize in boys' handwork was shared by Paul Delaney and William McClod. Kenneth Hurley and Richard Berry split second prize, while Michael Barber took third. In girls' handwork, Marie Dabrowski took first prize and Sherry Gouley won second. Third prize was split among Moria O'Connor, Sherry Webb and Judith O'Brien.

Instructors at the Memorial Playground are Dawn F. MacDougall and Sandra MacDougall.

M&B Considering Drastic Cuts Unless Riding Traffic Improves

The Middlesex and Boston Street Railway is considering the sale of some of its buses as a 30 per cent drop in the number of passengers carried has failed to improve since the end of the line's 46-day strike in April.

At the time the strike ended, company officials predicted at least a 25 per cent drop in passengers. Vice-president Leon B. Garfield reported last week that the loss appears to have leveled off at 30 per cent, comparing the number carried during 1951 with this year.

Immediately after the strike, Mr. Garfield reported, the number of passengers dropped an estimated 40 to 50 per cent. However, a 31 per cent loss was registered during May, the first full month after the end of the strike, while June and July showed a loss slightly under 30 per cent.

The loss was expected to be reduced by the issuance of half-rate summer fares, but this has failed to attract extra riders to any great extent.

Further and more drastic measures to offset the loss in revenue to the company will be postponed until after Labor Day, Mr. Garfield said. At that time, he declared, the normal summer slack will be over and the company can better judge the extent of the drop in passengers.

Both drivers and mechanics are now working a 40-hour week, Mr. Garfield pointed out, where before the strike the normal work week consisted of 48 hours. He stated that this reduction, coupled with summer vacations, has made it unnecessary to discharge or lay off any employees.

Any action along these lines, Mr. Garfield said, would depend upon the fall riding conditions.

2 More Polio Cases Reported

Two cases of polio, one involving slight paralysis, were reported to the Newton Health Department during the past week to bring the total for the year to five, Dr. Ernest M. Morris, director of Public Health, has revealed in his weekly summary of the prevalence of the disease.

In the more serious of the two new cases a five-year-old Auburndale girl showed slight paralysis of the lower limb. The other four cases reported this year were non-paralytic. The onset of the fourth case was on July 26 and the fifth case onset date was Aug. 5, it was reported. There were only three cases in the city throughout 1951.

Dr. Morris reports that the suspension of elective tonsillectomies has been recommended by the State Health Department in Boston and an area within 25 miles of the city; all of the Merrimac Valley and the southern Connecticut Valley. Commenting on the situation in the state and the country, Dr. Morris said:

"The upward trend of new cases was resumed this week. The total for the year exceeds that of 1951 for the first time. It should be remembered that only 299 cases occurred in the state during 1951, compared to 518 in 1950. Cases are beginning to appear in Southeastern Massachusetts.

The seasonal increase in the United States was steady, enough states showing increases to more than compensate for the decreases in others. The states with the highest incidence were: Michigan, 244; Illinois, 223; Texas, 214; Minnesota, 206; Ohio, 204; Iowa, 187; New York, 184, and Kentucky, 167.

In Massachusetts, there were 183 cases for the year through Aug. 22. For the week ending Aug. 22, there were 54 new cases, compared with 20 during the corresponding week in 1951.

Edward P. Collier Dies, 66 Yrs. With The Boston Globe

Edward P. Collier, 90, lifelong resident of Cambridge where he served for 30 years as a member of the city Library Board of which he was chairman for six years, died last Sunday after a brief illness at the home of his son, Gerard A. Collier, 22 Hillsdale road, Arlington, where he was visiting. Born in Cambridge October 4, 1861, he attended the Cambridge schools, and lived in Cambridge until the last few years when he made his home at 62 Hyde avenue, Newton.

A contemporary of the late A. J. Philpot, Boston Globe art critic, Mr. Collier worked for the Boston Globe for 66 years, for most of that time as accountant and paymaster in the composing room. He retired from active service in December 1942 at the age of 81. His first appointment to the Cambridge Library Board was in 1906. When he retired in 1936, he had completed the longest service in the Board's history.

He is survived by his wife Marie V. Collier whom he married January 8, 1890. The family resided for many years at 23 Greenough avenue, Cambridge. Prior to moving to Newton recently, Mr. and Mrs. Collier lived at the Hotel Commander, Cambridge. He is also survived by three sons and five grandchildren. The sons are Dr. Edward R. Collier of Boston University; Gerard A., Arlington; and John J., 62 Hyde avenue, Newton. Funeral arrangements will be announced.

Joan Benson to Teach Music Here

Miss Joan Benson of 58 Schofield drive, Newtonville, announces that she will accept pupils for the study of piano beginning September 1.

Miss Benson has taught music at Indiana University and in Atlanta, Ga. She has also given concerts throughout the midwest.

She received her B.A. degree from Pomona College, California, and two degrees, B.Mus. and M.Mus., from the University of Illinois. She later studied under a $1,000 fellowship award with Anis Fuleihan and with Muriel Kerr, in New York.

Brooks Shoe Store To Open New Shop In Waltham Soon

A Brooks Shoe Store, the 17th to be opened throughout New England, will open soon in Waltham at 246 Moody street, featuring famous name shoes for women and children.

John L. Maroni, with 20 years' fitting experience, will act as manager of the new store and Alfred Codello, with 12 years' experience, will serve as assistant manager.

Brooks will feature Air-Step shoes, famous for style, fit and support in women's footwear, and the well-known Striderite shoes for children.

When sewing with double thread, instead of tying both ends together in one knot, tie a separate knot in each end. This will keep the thread from twisting and becoming knotted.

Says Time Other Nations Give Aid In Korean War

—o—

Speaking before audiences throughout the State this week, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., declared that it was time other countries in the free World started "to bear some of the brunt of the Korean War" and that it was time the United States gained some effective allies, "rather than those we have now who just want to ride the gravy train."

Lodge told audiences in several Massachusetts cities and towns that the peoples of far eastern countries should contribute more manpower for the fighting in Korea "so that there wouldn't be so many American mothers separated from their sons while the orientals in the Far East sit out the war in comparative safety."

The Senator accused the present federal administration of not being farsighted enough to see what Communist Russia's "game" has been during the past five years. He maintained that even though we have spent more than 80 billion dollars on armaments during this time, we still only have a "second best air force."

Lodge pointed out that ever-increasing inflation has forced the taxpayers to shoulder a defense bill which is four or five times larger than it should be. He demanded that our allies in the Korean war share more of the responsibility for the arms program and that they contribute manpower in ratio to their populations, a move which, he said, has not heretofore been taken by the present administration.

Archers to Hold Tournament Mon.

Howard P. Denton, president of the Newton Archers, announced today that the club will hold its annual all-day championship tournament Labor Day, September 1, on the Newton Center Playground.

Starting at 9:30 a. m., Ray Buell, vice-president of the club and last year's champion and also second-place winner of the club at this year's state tournament, will defend his title. Vera Andrews, club secretary and last year's women's champion, will defend her title at 10 o'clock, starting time of the women archers. The juniors will also start at 10 o'clock. The afternon shoot will commence at 2 o'clock. The men will shoot the York and American Rounds, the women the National and Columbia Rounds, and the juniors the double junior American. The York Round is a grueling test of archery skill consisting of 72 arrows at 100 yards; 48 arrows at 80 yards; 24 arrows at 60 yards.

American Round: 30 arrows at 60 yards; 30 arrows at 50 yards; 30 arrows at 40 yards.

National Round: 48 arrows at 60 yards; 24 arrows at 50 yards.

Columbia Round: 24 arrows at 50 yards; 24 arrows at 40 yards; 24 arrows at 30 yards.

It is an open championship and this club's members are looking forward to welcoming archers from all over Massachusetts, competing for the visitor's trophies. Those witnessing the shoot can expect to see some very fine shooting as in past years the National, State and World champions have attended this annual affair of one of the oldest clubs in the country. All archery enthusiasts are invited to attend. The awarding of prizes will take place at four-thirty.

Our Laboratories

In our laboratories, which are approved by the State Department of Public Health, many tests are performed to aid you, the patient. The Pathologist of the hospital is in charge of the laboratory, which consists of the tissue and clinical lab.

In the clinical laboratory, tests are performed on specimens such as blood and urine for example. The many tests which are ordered by your doctor, must naturally enough be completed with utmost accuracy.

Although our technicians are quite capable of performing lab tests, we are checked by the State Department of Public Health, who send up many specimens yearly for us to process. Our results are then submitted to the State to make sure that our procedures yield correct results.

Through these many laboratory tests, performed by skilled personnel, we are able to help your doctor diagnose and treat many ailments.

An Extra Service

The attractive young lady who visits all obstetrical patients is from the Record Room. Her name is Betty Giannantonio.

It is part of her job in Medical Records to register all births. She makes out all the birth certificates on the mother's admission to the hospital, except for the name of the baby and the sex, of course.

time the obstetrical supervisor feels is opportune, Betty visits the patients, obtains the baby's name, then returns to the Record Room to complete the birth certificate and send it to City Hall. Of course she has also seen to it that the attending physician has signed it and has asked the mother to verify the information by signing the certificate.

This service is not rendered at all hospitals, but is another little "extra" we at the Malden Hospital offer our patients.

Each obstetrical patients also receives a souvenir baby book with a copy of the birth certificate signed by the director of the hospital. This, by the way, is not a legal copy of the birth certificate. A true copy would have to be obtained from the City Hall.

In cases where parents have not decided on a name for their offspring, the certificate goes to City Hall minus the child's surname and necessitates a trip to the City's Clerk's office by one

Trustees

The top management of Malden Hospital is not in the hands of the doctor, nor even the director as some may think.

The ultimate responsibility for every decision and policy regarding the hospital is vested in the Board of Trustees.

This group is composed of public spirited citizens who give their services without pay. Being a voluntary hospital, we are governed by representatives of the community who in turn delegate authority and responsibility to various groups.

Medical care is decided by your doctor of course, administration is handled by the director and his various department heads, but these people in turn are responsible to the trustees.

In one sense the trustees have a higher body to which they are responsible — to you and everyone else in the community in order to insure adequate hospital care.

"I've just heard a wonderful story...and it's about you!"
SAYS OLIVIA DE HAVILLAND

Do you know why your ears were burning a bit ago?

I was listening to a wonderful story about a Defense Bond owner. It's the story about a patriotic person, a wise and thrifty one; one I respect and admire. You.

By tying your prosperity and your country's safety firmly together through Bond saving, you're writing the most exciting success story the world has ever seen. Your story is sort of a personal thing with me. We're on the same team. And I'm proud of it, for you see, I'm a Defense Bond owner, too.

I wonder if you know all the good things that Defense Bonds mean to us. For example:

■ FIRST—Thanks to new Treasury regulations, every Series E Bond we buy begins earning interest after only 6 months. It earns 3% interest compounded semiannually when held to maturity. It reaches full maturity value earlier (9 years 8 months) and the interest it pays is now bigger at the start.

■ SECOND—Every Series E Bond we own can now go on earning interest for 10 more years after it reaches the original maturity date—without our lifting a finger!

■ THIRD—During the 10-year extension period, every unmatured bond earns at the new, higher interest rate (average 3% compounded semiannually). Our original $18.75 can now pay us back $33.67. $37.50 pays back $67.34. And so on.

■ FOURTH—When we make ourselves and our families economically secure through buying bonds, we're helping to build the great economic strength that backs up our national defense. And this is the best security our money can buy. For after two world wars we have found that *peace is for the strong!

U. S. Defense Bonds are one of the easiest, most convenient forms of saving ever invented. For through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, you can buy bonds on a time payment plan. Just specify the payments, as large or as small as you like, and they will be automatically set aside from your salary. This way you save the money before you spend it. And millions of people have found this is one sure way to save.

Peace is for the strong...for peace and prosperity save with U.S. Defense Bonds!

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department thanks, for their patriotic donation, The Advertising Council and

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knox (Shirley Somerby) of Newton Centre announce the birth of their second daughter, Karen Elizabeth Knox, August 14, at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. Rufus A. Somerby of Winchester, Mr. F E. Knox of Newton Centre and Mrs. Marjorie E. Knox of Newton Centre.

Miss Rogers Becomes Bride Of David Duval of Amherst

Miss Jean Sylvia Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bernard Rogers of West Newton, became the bride of Mr. David Paul Duval, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abbee Duval of Amherst, at a 9 o'clock ceremony on Saturday morning, August 16, in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton.

Rev. Daniel Quinn officiated at the service, which was followed by a reception at Hampton Court Hotel, Brookline.

A fingertip veil of French illusion cascaded from the seed pearl and nylon tulle circle headdress over the white Chantilly lace-and-taffeta gown worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. She carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy sprays, and her gown was trimmed with nylon pleating at the portrait neckline.

As maid of honor for the bride, Miss Rose Marie Capodanno of Newtonville wore a pale aqua tulle gown with a matching wreath trimmed with American Beauty velvet ribbon, and carried a small cascade of American Beauty roses.

Serving as best man was Mr. Eugene Flynn of Hartford, Ct., while those ushering included Mr. Leo Duval of Northampton, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. John Harrington of Arlington.

The bride was graduated in 1950 from Wheelock College. Her husband was graduated from Boston University in 1950 and received his M.A. degree from its school of education this year.

After a wedding trip to Canada, they will make their home in West Hartford, Ct., where both are teachers.

Much Building Material Of A Combustible Nature

Much useful building material is of a combustible nature which ignites at low temperatures. Many of the existing structures were built without proper regard to those features which would help limit the spread of fire once it had started in a building. The average home is a good example of this type of construction.

Modern mass production calls for buildings of great size. Goods manufactured and used are generally readily burnable, and the processes of production in this chemical and mechanical age have introduced many hazards of explosion and fire. Coupled with these were the speed-up of war work, with many concerns turning out processes with which they were not familiar, and the equipment not originally designed for the purpose.

These conditions have already resulted in fires of large magnitude which have destroyed unreplaceable goods of great value to our national welfare.

The three principal causes of large fires under these conditions are:

First—A failure to discover the fire in its early stages.

Second—Insufficient fire fighting equipment, through the use of which a fire can be extinguished before it has gained great headway or held in check until help arrives.

Third—Inadequate public fire service, through the operation of which fires of magnitude can be confined.

It must be recognized that none of these conditions can be corrected without a material cost. Fire safety is expensive, but it has been proven many times beyond any doubt that this expense is justified. Many people have the mistaken idea that carefulness can eliminate fires, and justify their belief on the grounds of freedom from serious fires for a period of 50 to 75 years. Freedom from fires is no criterion of fire safety. Nor is the fact that all fires which have occurred have been small in extent an indication that a serious fire cannot occur. With large values in buildings and contents much depends upon the human element, especially in connection with fire fighting.

The best method of quick discovery of any fire starting is through the use of thermostats. These appliances are usually electrically supervised and are located so that the heat rising from a fire will cause them to operate. They will transit a call, or can be made to operate fire extinguishing equipment. Many hazardous processes can be made relatively safe by the use of thermostatic controls or thermostatic alarms. The maintenance of such systems and devices is of utmost importance and should be placed in the hands of those experienced in their operation and supervision. There are small types of thermostatic fire alarms that are suitable for home use which are easy to install and cost very little to keep in operating condition.

Little excuse exists for failure to provide fire fighting equipment which can be used by the occupants of the building while the fire is still small. Today running water is available in all buildings and homes in Newton and water from a small hose can be effectively provided at most points of danger at a small cost. A large number of other appliances , of suitable types for fires in special materials are also available!

Fire fighting today should be given serious consideration both in the home and and places of business. If an "all out war" should start we would have to be our own "home fire department." There is no better time than right now to start and eliminate the unnecessary fire hazards in our homes and build up our fire fighting equipment.

Back up your local Civil Defense Program now. Clean up for defense, to burn up is to help the enemy.

Ask anyone: American summer is not summer without fresh golden corn. Hot buttered ears of corn — there's no substitute for butter on corn — are the simplest way to serve it. But folks want a great variety in their dishes while corn is fresh and plentiful.

This week's recipe for Corn Pudding was given to us by Mrs. Lillian Burchet, the only woman chef in the world who creates wonderful meals and menus at the Hotel Puritan in Boston. The recipe calls for cooked corn, but you can start with uncooked kernels, Mrs. Burchet says. Simply bring them to a boil in milk, for about 3 minutes. Six to eight medium ears, cooked, measure two cups of kernels cut from the cob.

A knowing shopper tries to spot good corn with her eye. Tightly wrapped green husks, with a soft silk tuft, colored golden to brown, tell her it's fresh corn. Occasionally she may have to finger the ear to see if the husks are well filled. As a last resort ,if she has to peek at the corn kernels, she opens the husk along the ear of corn. It's considerate to include the inspected corn in her purchase unless they are really poor ears.

Baked potatoes, green salad, an dswordfish go well with this pudding.

CORN PUDDING
from Mrs. Lillian Burchet, Chef, Hotel Puritan Kitchen in The Hotel Somerset

2 tablespoons melted butter
2 cups milk
2 cups cooked corn kernels
Salt and pepper

Beat eggs, add butter, milk and corn. Season with salt and pepper. Pour into greased baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 50-60 minutes or until set. Serve at once. Serves 6.

Newton Fire Prevention Bureau

Wiring Dangers

Experience has shown that defective wiring, overloading of the circuits and the misuse of electrical appliances may cause fires and can expose the users to shocks.

The following suggestions are presented to show what may constitute hazards and how these may be avoided.

Making the home, office or store a safe place does not necessarily mean rebuilding it. Neither does it mean purchasing costly devices and new equipment. Safety is inherent in simplicity. It may mean disposing of dangerous articles or remedying dangerous conditions more often than it means acquiring new and safer equipment. It means refraining from the thoughtless and careless actions. It means thinking safety before you act and practicing safety when you act. Remember — the normal electrical resistance of the skin is high — if the skin is dry. However, when the hands, body or feet are wet and contact is made between even a low voltage circuit and a water pipe, radiator, wet concrete or earth, a fatal electric shock can be received.

Place electrical appliances and devices so that they are out of reach when you are near the sink or stove, in the tub or shower, or in contact with grounded metal objects.

Avoid touching electrical fixtures or appliances when your hands are wet, or when you are standing on a wet floor.

Make it a rule never to drop an extension cord over a water or gas pipe in order to support it.

Use non-metallic electrical fixtures in the basement, bathroom and kitchen. See that there is an insulating link in the chain on all pull type sockets.

Use only rubber covered extention cords in bathrooms, laundries and basement.

Disconnect any household appliances before attempting to make any repairs or adjustments.

Plug all open, screw-type baseboard receptacles permanently, especially where these are accessible to children. Repair all frayed and worn electric cords or discard them if repairs cannot be made.

Place lamps so that long extension cords are unnecessary Keep cords out from under rugs, doors and movable furniture where they will be walked on or injured.

Teach children never to touch electric sockets or fixtures. When ever you are in doubt as to what the right thing to do regarding electric repairs, wiring or new circuits, consult your licensed electrician and be safe.

Guarding Against TB

(A series of health articles, sponsored in the interest of better health, by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association)

While the battle against TB in this country is gradually bringing down the death rate from this disease, tuberculosis today kills more people in the United States than all other infectious diseases combined. A chronic disease easily spread from person to person, tuberculosis is a grave public health problem. There are approximately 200 cases of tuberculosis under supervision in Newton at the present time. During 1951, 6 Newton people between the ages of 30 and 60 died of TB.

Yet tuberculosis is preventable and, while anyone can get it, no one need get it. Tuberculosis is a treacherous enemy and we have no fool-proof formula or set of rules which will guarantee an individual that he will never get the disease. But the TB germs, known as tubercle bacilli, find it harder to get a foothold and cause active disease in a person whose general health is good. A person can maintain

A person can maintain general health and keep body defenses high by making good health habits part of the routine of his daily life. This means eating regularly three well-balanced meals a day, dressing "for the weather," and avoiding unnecessary exposure to cold and wetting. When these wise practices become habitual, a person's body is less vulnerable to all disease-producing germs, including the tubercle bacilli.

Another way to guard against TB is, of course, to avoid close contact with those who have the disease. But this isn't easy because not everyone who has TB is in a hospital. Many people who have TB in an active form do not realize themselves that they are ill because TB has no obvious symptoms when it first strikes. So we can never be certain when we are, or have been, in contact with tuberculosis.

But there is a way we can find out and this means the formation of another sound health practice. Everyone should see his doctor at least once a year for a thorough physical checkup, including a chest X-ray. If he does this, a person can be certain he is in good health, or, if serious illness is found, that it will be detected early. The chest x-ray can detect tuberculosis in its early stages, even before apparent symptoms appear, and the earlier tuberculosis is found, the easier it is to cure.

11 Evening Registration Periods to Be Held Here

In addition to night sessions at Newton City Hall, 11 evening registration periods will be held throughout the city by the Board of Registrars in order to register between 3000 and 4000 new voters before the November elections.

Chairman Norman J. Mitchell of the Board of Registrars reported that registration will open Sept. 17 and will run through Oct. 3. Registration for the primary elections ended August 15.

During the final week, Sept. 29 through Oct. 3, the registrars will hold evening sessions from 7:30 to 9. On the closing day, persons may register up to 10 p.m.

A record total of 44,433 voters were listed on the rolls at the close of primary registration, including 3939 who signed up during that period. Officials expect a similar number of new voters to register during the coming period.

The registration schedule follows:

City Clerk's office, City Hall, Monday through Friday- from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sept. 17 through Oct. 3.

Evening sessions, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. at:

Newton Upper Falls, Emerson School, Pettee street, Monday, Sept. 22.

Newton Fire Station, Washington street, Centre avenue—Tuesday, Sept. 23.

Newton Underwood School, Vernon street—Tuesday, Sept. 23.

Newton Centre, Mason School, Centre street—Wednesday, Sept. 24.

Nonantum, Fire Station, Bridge street — Wednesday, Sept. 24.

Chestnut Hill, Fire Station, Manet road—Friday, Sept. 26.

West Newton, Davis School, Waltham street — Friday, Sept. 26.

Newtonville Library, Walnut street—Monday, Sept. 29.

Newton Highlands, Hyde School, Lincoln street—Monday, Sept. 29.

Waban, Angier School, Beacon street — Tuesday, Sept. 30.

Auburndale, Burr School, Ash street—Tuesday, Sept. 30.

City Hall, Newton Centre, 7:30 to 9 p.m., on Sept. 29 and 30, Oct. 1 and 2.

Final session, Friday, Oct. 3, at City Hall, 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.

All citizens of Newton may register at any of these meetings.

Citizens must appear in person to be registered.

Citizens by naturalization papers must present the papers for examination and certification. Norman J. Mitchell, chairman; Thomas F. Donnelly, Charles J. Doherty, Frank M. Grant, city clerk.

Police Warn Against Bad Check Passer

—o—

A warning against a bad check passer who has victimized several liquor stores in nearby communities with stolen checks was issued last week by Newton police.

Capt. Daniel E. Crowley, head of the inspector's division, said that the check passer is using a number of checks which were stolen from the Almont Manufacturing Company of 36 Whittier road, Roxbury. Stolen registration certificates are used as identification, Capt. Crowley reported.

The man who passed the checks, according to those victimized, is about 30 or 35 years old, weighs about 135 pounds and is 5 feet 6 inches tall. He is usually accompanied by a young woman.

Owners Urged Not to Forget Pets at Camps

—o—

An appeal to pet owners concluding their vacations at summer resorts not to abandon their pets was made by Carlton E. Buttrick, president of the Animal Rescue League of Boston. Mr. Buttrick pointed out that each year, following the closing of cottages and summer camps, humane societies are called upon to pick up animals which are left behind by careless owners.

He urged that every family who had a pet should be sure to make arrangements that the cat or dog would be available when the family departed for home so that the pet would not be among the missing when the actual moment of departure is at hand.

If left behind when the family closes the cottage, the dog or cat often becomes a stray or a neighborhood nuisance, Mr. Buttrick said. Often they prey upon wild life as their only means of subsistence. It is not only careless but cruel to leave pets behind to their own resources, particularly after they have enjoyed the friendship and companionship of a good home.

If, for any reason, the animal must be disposed of, it should be taken or sent to the nearest animal welfare organization where it may be placed in a new home or humanely put away.

Newton Mother Is Awarded Degree

—o—

Mrs. Miriam Meyers Ritvo of Newton received a Master of Science degree from the Boston University School of Public Relations and Communications at the graduation exercises held at Symphony Hall, Saturday, August 16.

Mrs. Ritvo is the wife of Dr. Meyer Ritvo, a Boston X-ray specialist. They have two sons, Roger, 8, and Jimmie, 5. Mrs. Ritvo was the only mother to receive a Master's degree from the School of Public Relations, founded five years ago.

Mrs. Ritvo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Meyers of Lawrence, Mass. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Smith College.

13 Play Areas To Remain Open Through Sept. 5

—o—

Although the summer playground season officially ended last Friday, 13 play areas will remain open through Sept. 5, Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson announced Monday.

The following playgrounds will be open with supervisors through Friday of next week: Hawthorn, Burr, Boyd Park and Stearns in Newton; Carr School, Cabot Park and Horace Mann in Newtonville; Cold Spring in Waban; Auburndale Playground, Franklin School, River Street and Wellington in West Newton; and the Newton Centre Playground.

Ask Bids for Beethoven Ave. Elementary School in Waban

With the issuing of a call for bids on the Beethoven avenue elementary school in Waban last week, Newton has brought to a total of eight the school buildings which have been completed or on which construction has started since 1950.

Of these eight, half have been completed and are being used by pupils. They are the Williams School in Auburndale, the Memorial School in Oak Hill, the new Pierce School in West Newton, and the new Bowen School in Newton Centre.

Nearing completion are the Murray Road School in West Newton, Countryside School in Oak Hill, and the new Claflin School in Newtonville.

The new Waban school building, which will be built at the intersection of Beacon street and Beethoven avenue, will include from 8 to 10 classrooms, a kindergarten, a playroom, showers, a kitchen, and an auditorium seating 275.

Work on the school is expected to start by the first of October, as soon as the contract is approved and money is appropriated. The Beethoven Avenue School should be ready for occupancy in September of 1953.

The school is planned to relieve overcrowding at the Angier School in Waban, Hyde School in Newton Highlands and Pierce School in West Newton.

As soon as the contract for the school is approved, Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell said, plans will be completed for a new Spaulding School in Oak Hill.

Registers for Counsel Course

Stuart C. Herrick, 58 Warwick road, a member of the International Union of Electrical Workers No. 272, has registered for the seventh CIO-Red Feather Union Counseling Course.

This program, which prepares local union members to act as referral agents for their coworkers in need of community services is held at the Mason Memorial Building, Boston, sponsored jointly by the Greater Boston CIO Industrial Union Council and the Labor Participation Committee of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston.

No Soggy Sandwich

When using a moist sandwich filling, butter both sides of bread lightly to prevent the filling from soaking through.

Viola K. Breiding, Roslindale dancing teacher, will give a course on tap dancing next Thursday at the 29th annual convention of the Dance Teachers' Club of Boston to be held at the Hotel Bradford next week. Miss Breiding is also a member of the convention committee.
